Senate Committee Adds New Items After Reducing Levy on Autos

Gifts and Candy Knocked Out of Revenue Measure as Passed by House

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Taxes on mah jongg and radio sets were voted into the revenue bill tonight by the Senate Finance Committee which at the same time approved the reduction in automobile taxes and repeal of the candy tax voted by the House.

The gift tax and increase in the estate tax rates voted by the House, however, were knocked out of the bill. The present estate tax rates were restored but provision was made for a change in the brackets to which they would apply so that the revenue increase of $12,000,000 which would have resulted from the House increases would be effected.

Announcement today by Chairman Smoot that some of the special appropriation bills pending before Congress would have to be considered in connection with tax reduction dealt a severe blow to chances of retention of some of the House cuts in the revenue bill.

Bills calling for aggregate appropriations of almost $600,000,000 on pending and some have been passed by either the House or Senate. Those appropriations would be in addition to the expenditures estimated by the Budget Bureau on which the surplus of $395,000,000 available for tax reduction in the next fiscal year was estimated by the Treasury.

SMOOT PREPARES LIST

Mr. Smoot is preparing a list of probable extra expenditures which he thinks will have to be taken care of by the revenue bill now under consideration. In this he would include, he said, the soldiers' bonus bill, which is estimated to cost a maximum of $120,000,000 the first year of operation. Mr. Smoot has said there were enough votes in the Senate to override a Presidential veto on the bonus bill.

Reduction in the tax bill already agreed to by the Finance Committee included $222,900,000 in income tax rates in accordance with the Mellon plan; $33,000,000 in theater admission taxes, and about $65,000,000 on earned incomes.

ALIEN TRASH PLOT SEEN

Fear European Convict Flood

Senator Reed Alleges Plan Afoot to Make America Dumping Ground

Says Immigration Must be Approached on Purely Selfish Basis

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Warning that some European countries were contemplating making America "the trash basket of the world" into which they would attempt to dump all their "graduate convicts and undesirable citizens" was voiced to the Senate today by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania during the course of debate on immigration restriction legislation.

"There is only one way to approach this immigration problem and that is to regard it as an American problem, to be decided on a selfish basis with regard for the interests of no country on the face of the globe except the United States," Senator Reed said.

Chairman Colt of the immigration committee challenged the Pennsylvania Senator's assertions relative to the dumping of convicts upon the United States, declaring that the committee had no authentic information on that point. Senator Reed retorted that he would answer that question later.

USES CHARTS IN SPEECH

Opening debate on the bill, providing for restriction of immigration to a quota of 2 per cent based on 1910 census statistics, Senator Reed transformed the Senate chamber into a classroom on elemental immigration instruction when, with pointer in hand, he followed the course of the immigration flow into the United States on charts suspended on the walls of the room.

The figures showed that immigration from Germany and the United Kingdom had decreased from approximately 75 per cent in 1861-70 to 10 per cent in 1920, while the influx from the sources of "newer immigration"—Southern and Eastern Europe, had increased to 50 per cent within the past ten years.

The 8 per cent of the foreign born from Southern and Eastern Europe in the United States in 1890 had increased to 39 per cent in 1910, Senator Reed demonstrated, and, according to 1920 census statistics, the "newer immigration" constituted 12 per cent of the entire population of the United States in 1920. The same statistics show, however, that the natives of Northern and Western Europe made up

REPARATIONS REPORT NEAR

Experts' Findings Expected to Be in Hands of Commission by Sunday or Monday

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, April 3.—Prospects that the Dawes-McKenna report would be handed to the Reparation Commission by Sunday or Monday brightened this evening when Louis Barthou, president of the commission, in receiving newspaper men confirmed reports that the work of the experts was virtually concluded and indicated that it would be ready for presentation at the time mentioned.

According to M. Barthou, the presentation of the report will be of the simplest nature, Mr. Dawes reading an explanatory letter, Mr. McKenna probably making a few extempore reports and M. Barthou thanking the experts for their work. Thereafter the real "reparations battle" will begin.

M. Barthou said after handing in the report, members of the Reparation Commission will demand at least forty-eight hours in which to digest its voluminous contents, after which they will meet informally and then notify the German government it may send a qualified representative to present Germany's observations with regard to the document.

After hearing the German representative, the commission will meet to draw up some sort of recommendation to the Allied governments. The latter will then be free to settle political aspects of the problem among themselves. M. Barthou strenuously asserted that he, like Premier Poincare, was entirely ignorant of the contents of the report and had purposely kept himself so during the investigation.

AIR ARMADA HOP-OFF DUE AT SUNRISE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 3.—Only last minute forbidding weather reports will prevent the four United States army air cruisers from starting for Prince Rupert, B. C. on the next leg of the journey around the world at sunrise tomorrow, according to Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commander of the aerial armada.

While weather reports received by Maj. Martin at five o'clock today showed that there was a snowstorm in progress north of Prince Rupert, and two low barometer areas were also in evidence in that district, good weather was forecast for tomorrow. Final reports will be received by Maj. Martin at six a.m. at Sand Point aviation field, northeast of here, where the machines will take off from the waters of Lake Washington.

According to present plans, the flag plane Seattle, piloted by Maj. Martin will hop off first. It will be followed by the Chicago, flown by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith the Boston, commanded by Lieut. Leigh Wade, and the New Orleans, run by Lieut. Erick Nelson.

Lieut. Leslie P. Arnold, alternate relief pilot, will replace Sergt. Arthur H. Turner, mechanician, in the Chicago, piloted by Lieut. Smith.

Notification of the change, the first in the personnel since the world flyers left Santa Monica, Cal., March 17, last, was sent to Washington, D. C. tonight, it was said.

LIGHT QUAKE IS RECORDED AT BAY CITY

Tremor Confined to Area Between San Francisco, Stockton and Monterey

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—A light earthquake, the first in many months, was felt late this afternoon by residents of a triangular portion of California bounded roughly by lines between San Francisco, Stockton and Monterey, but apparently no damage was done at any point.

Stockton is about 75 miles east of San Francisco and Monterey 100 miles south of this city, on the coast. These places and many intermediate points reported that the shock was felt. In Stockton and East Oakland, the quake was strong enough that many ran from buildings.

In San Jose, audiences left theaters.

In Monterey clocks were stopped and windows rattled. Modesto and Santa Cruz both felt the shock. Many buildings in San Francisco were shaken. According to the seismograph at the University of California, in Berkeley, the shock began at 3:53 o'clock this afternoon and continued for 12 seconds.

A. B. See Asserts Women Try to Sit on Men's Hips While Dancing

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Woman suffrage has brought in its wake a flock of evils to womankind, including abandonment of decorum and the corset, according to A. B. See, president of the elevator company of that name.

Mr. See, whose views on women gained widespread publicity in November, 1922, when he refused to aid the building fund of a woman's college, today launched another broadside on the subject in a letter to the Lucy Stone League, which advocates women's retention of their maiden names after marriage.

Since the advent of suffrage, he writes, women drink more rum and cocktails and smoke more cigarettes than ever before; they walk the streets swaggeringly with brazen faces; they have abandoned corsets and use more cosmetics than ever before.

PRESIDENT'S LIST GROWS

Connecticut and Maine in Line

Thirty-two More Delegates Added to Coolidge Roll, Making Total 377

Remainder of Majority in Convention Are Due to be Chosen Shortly

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Election of Coolidge delegations to the Republican national convention in Maine and Connecticut today brought the total of the President's delegates up to 377, William M. Butler, Coolidge campaign manager, announced today.

This is only 178 votes short of a majority of the convention. More than this number will be added to the Coolidge column in the next two or three weeks, according to Mr. Butler.

BREAKS PRECEDENT

National Committeeman Sewall telegraphed that Maine for the first time in history had instructed its delegates for a candidate, it having been a tradition that Maine sends none but uninstructed delegates to a national convention.

The action of Connecticut assures a solid New England delegation for the first New Englander in the White House since Franklin Pierce.

The total of 377 listed by Mr. Butler consists of those actually chosen up to date and those in uncontested States where the choice is yet to be made, but will be a Coolidge preference and only a formality.

With the President's nomination practically assured, the Coolidge campaign chiefs are turning their attention somewhat to convention and after-convention activities. Mr. Butler expects a series of conferences with the President and Frank W. Stearns, James R. Reynolds and others of the campaign staff in the next few days. Among the matters to be decided is selection of a man to put Mr. Coolidge's name before the Cleveland convention.

The nominating speech for a candidate usually is made by a member of the delegation from the candidate's home State. If this custom is followed, Senator Lodge, the Republican leader of the Senate, or Speaker Gillett probably will be chosen.

The convention committee on arrangements headed by David W. Mulvane, national committeeman from Kansas, and consisting of more than a dozen other national committeemen, will meet in Cleveland on the 30th inst., to go over arrangement matters and possibly to agree on a recommendation as to temporary chairman and other convention officers.

LOOK FOR KEYNOTER

In the Coolidge camp it is now generally agreed that a western man is to deliver the party keynote speech as temporary chairman of the convention. The possibilities under consideration are Senator Borah of Idaho, former Senator Beveridge of Indiana; Gov. Hyde of Missouri; Gov. Dixon of Montana; Gov. Groesbeck of Michigan, and former Gov. Lowden of Illinois. For permanent chairman Senators Pepper, Pennsylvania; Fess, Ohio, and Willis, Ohio, have been suggested.

National Chairman Adams will not be a candidate to succeed himself and is retiring also as committeeman for Iowa, to be succeeded by former Senator Rawson. The new chairman will be chosen by the President.

The doorkeepers at the national convention will be former service men, each national committeeman having been requested by Chairman Mulvane of the committee on arrangements to name two former soldiers for these positions.

Messages to Capital Commend Action for Distribution of Colorado River Benefits

Telegrams are being sent to Washington from all parts of the United States, particularly from the Pacific slope, commending the Federal Power Commission for its stand for the development of the Colorado River for the benefit of all the Southwestern States and communities.

The Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association yesterday in a telegram sent to President Coolidge commended the report of the commission. In addition to declaring that the Colorado River should be developed for the benefit of the entire Southwestern States and communities, the telegram asserted it should not be utilized for public ownership politicians as proposed in the Swing-Johnson bill impending before Congress.

Subpoena for War Secretary Follows Testimony by Ousted Attorney

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The Senate Daugherty committee turned its inquiry today upon the War Department, and concluded a three-hour session by summoning Secretary Weeks to appear before it tomorrow with specified documents relating to departmental handling of war fraud cases.

The committee had listened to the story of Thomas F. Lane, a legal adviser to the Army Air Service, who said he had been ordered a day or two ago "to stay away from the committee" and then had been dismissed from the service.

Lane said also that papers bearing upon his inquiry into war contracts, which he regarded as his own, were seized by Capt. W. F. Volandt, assistant chief of the Army Air Service, who, Lane said, issued the "stay away" order. Capt. Volandt, who was at once summoned before the committee, in the course of sharp interrogation by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, the committee prosecutor and other members, said he regarded Lane's papers as part of the official departmental files and that the law prohibited anyone from having private copies. He had turned them over to Secretary Weeks, he said, and the latter had sought an opinion as to their status from the judge-advocate-general.

WHEELER SUSPICIOUS

Senator Wheeler, in the examination of Capt. Volandt, charged that the dismissal of Lane and the sequestration of his papers was "intended to cover up" the War Department's handling of air fraud cases. This Volandt sharply denied.

The papers, Lane claimed, were for the most part copies of recommendations he made as to procedure the government should take against war contractors.

TRIED IN REBEL ARMS DEAL

Bailey, in Mexican Court, Charged With Handling Large Sale; Rich Briton Mentioned

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, April 3.—Sir George Thurston, one of the "big men" of Vickers, Ltd., of London, shipbuilders and munition manufacturers, was named in court in connection with the case of the Vickers representative here, Eugene T. Bailey, wealthy Britisher, whose trial opened today on a charge of manipulating a huge sale of arms and munitions to rebel leaders.

The courtroom was packed with Americans and Britishers, Bailey being a long resident here and well known.

The prosecution contends that Bailey represented Vickers in the intended sale of 50,000 rifles, a large number of machine guns and over 30,000 rounds of munitions. Bailey denies he approved the sale and asserts that Sir George Thurston would not consider the proposition.

CHARGE DENIED

The Mexican government maintains it has ample proof involving the firm as well as Bailey. Bailey has contradicted his statement since his arrest at Laredo last week although he denies he went to Philadelphia and there consulted with Rafael Campany Zubaran, former Minister of Industry and Commerce in the Obregon Cabinet and now De la Huerta's chief adviser. The prosecution contends the rebel payment was arranged as follows: Twenty-five per cent in cash and 75 per cent in a personal draft signed by De la Huerta, payable in three months.

Today's proceedings divulged that Bailey went from Mexico City to Philadelphia where the alleged sale was arranged with Zubaran and where the name of Alfonso De la Huerta, brother of Adolfo, was mentioned, also a British general. Bailey is alleged to have traveled under the name of R. H. Nelson.

Bailey is a member of most of the American and British clubs here and his case attracted wide attention in the British and American colonies.

MAINE LINES UP FOR PRESIDENT

Coolidge Delegates Chosen at Republican Rally

Senator Pepper Denounces Democratic Tactics

Asserts Party Has Forfeited Claims to Confidence

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Me.) April 3.—The Republican State Convention today voted to instruct its fifteen delegates to the national convention at Cleveland to "use every honorable effort to secure the nomination of Calvin Coolidge for President of the United States."

This action was taken after delegates and alternates known to be favorable to Mr. Coolidge had been selected. Instructions never had been given previously by Republican State conventions in Maine except in the case of two "favorite sons," and once in the Fourth District for former President Roosevelt.

In a keynote address before the convention, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania denounced Senate Democrats, who, he said, in endeavoring to inflict injury on the Republican party, had succeeded in casting discredit on both the great political parties.

"This discrediting process has reached the point," Senator Pepper asserted, "that an irresponsible and highly dangerous third party has actually suggested itself to the extremities as a practical policy."

The Democrats, he added, have aimed at us and hit America."

CLAIMS FORFEITED

"I am here today," the Senator stated, "to affirm my belief that the Democratic party has recently forfeited whatever claim to public confidence it may have possessed. I am here to register my conviction that upon us, who call ourselves the followers of Lincoln, rests the weighty responsibility of strengthening and safeguarding the republic.

"But at this point an effort is certain to be made by somebody to distract attention from the great problems which await solution and to confuse judgment by giving to the names of three officers in the great Republican army an importance not in the least justified by the facts.

"When sensible people are waiting to be told about the President's position on public questions and what the party is attempting to accomplish for good government, somebody is sure to shout: 'How about Forbes?' 'How about Fall?' and 'How about Daugherty?' Thereupon we find ourselves showered with threats and accusations in which a modicum of truth is obscured by a mass of fiction.

MISTAKE MADE

"The appointment of Forbes as head of the Veterans' Bureau and of Fall as Secretary of the Interior have proved to be terrible mistakes; while the selection of Mr. Daugherty as Attorney-General seems to me to have been a grave error in judgment.

"When I say this I am speaking of the mistakes, not of the living but of the dead; of the mistakes of a beloved leader whose virtues were many and whose lapses were few—of a leader who left behind him a long catalogue of notable achievements and who gave life for you and for me as truly as any soldier who ever died in battle.

"When any man for campaign purposes or to gain a partisan advantage undertakes to disturb the repose of that leader, I brand him as a political ghoul and declare him to be unfit for the society of decent people."

BLOCKED BY DEMOCRATS

Turning aside from what he denominated as "scandal," Senator Pepper charged that the Democrats, making the most of their strategic advantage in Congress for partisan political reasons have "created a situation in which constructive legislation is difficult, if not impossible."

As a result, he continued, the administration forces have been able to do little more than make a beginning of translating into law the program laid down by President Coolidge in his first annual message to Congress.

During the residue of this session," he said, "we shall do what we can to move forward in the right direction and rely upon the great popular indorsement which we expect to receive next November to give up the momentum necessary to complete our program."

Senator Pepper said history would link the name of Alexander Hamilton with that of Andrew W. Mellon as the greatest of financial geniuses of the country and that, in view of this, the proposal to "investigate" Mr. Mellon "made in the Senate the other day should receive on all sides the condemnation it deserves."

DAUGHERTY TO REPLY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Harry M. Daugherty declared in a brief statement tonight that he would prepare and make public tomorrow an answer to the address of Senator Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania, at Portland, Me., today, in which the Senator said "that the selection of Mr. Daugherty as Attorney-General seemed to me to have been a grave error of judgment."

"I do not propose," Mr. Daugherty said, "to be made an issue in the coming campaign except for the benefit of the Republican party as a beneficiary of my administration of the public business in the Department of Justice."

TRIED FOR DEAL IN REBEL ARMS

Charge d'Affaires, questioned on the charge that Vickers intended to sell munitions to rebels stated that such couldn't be possible, as no British munition firm would consider selling arms to rebels in view of the British government's stand that no shipment should be allowed to leave British territory consigned to any Mexican rebel element. This position was taken shortly after the revolution broke out.

Sir George Thurston visited Mexico City several months ago. It was then openly stated that his business here was in connection with certain accounts pending between the Mexican government and Vickers.

WEEKS CALLED IN SENATE QUIZ

away from the committee," Volandt continued, was issued because the air service wished to "rush" preparation of claims against the Standard Aircraft Corporation and the Willys-Overland Company, that these might be sent to the Department of Justice for further action.

Volandt insisted he was "not under orders" when he searched Lane's brief case. He said he had "suspended" Lane last Saturday when he "refused to come to the office" and that Lane was later "separated from the service" by action of Secretary Weeks.

The witness said that when Lane failed to appear at the office he had wanted him to work on the Standard and Willys-Knight cases, in order to send them to the Department of Justice for action. The Standard case went over about five days ago, he said, but denied that committee's proceedings had any effect on the procedure in this case.

PAPERS PUT AWAY

Lane's brief bag was emptied of papers at the air services office the next day, the witness said and they were put "in the safe."

The papers in possession of Lane, Volandt said, were needed in order to complete the records that they were sending to the Department of Justice for action.

Although not in possession of his records, Lane described his own investigations and recommendations touching the Standard Company, the Lincoln Motors Corporation and the American Bosch Magneto Company, which had war contracts.

From the Standard company, controlled by Mitsui and Company, a New York subsidiary of a Japanese banking firm, he said, the government had obtained repayment of about $2,200,000. From the American Bosch Magneto Company he had recommended repayment of $450,000, and from the Lincoln corporation, he fixed the sum of $9,590,000.

A compromise was made by the Department of Justice in the Lincoln Motors case, he said, over the formal protest of the War Department, for $1,500,000, after the corporation had gone into receivership. From the others, he added, nothing had been obtained, and against them no action had been instituted.

FOLLOW REINVESTIGATION

All the government claims arose from reinvestigations of war-contract settlements, Lane explained. His story of the Bosch-Magneto case went further than the detail of the war contracts.

The concern, German-owned, seized by the Alien Property Custodian and put into the hands of trustees, who took contracts to furnish the Air Service spark plugs. In 1919, the property was sold by the government for $4,150,000, Lane testified, although its assets were worth $12,000,000, and it was reorganized through the firm of Hornblower & Weeks of Boston as the American Bosch Magneto Company.

Secretary Weeks was neither in the government service nor a member of the firm when the transaction took place, Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, made clear during the examination.

Lane's story as to the Standard Company covered ground previously entered upon by the Daugherty inquiry. The roadbits he directed disclosed, he said, that Mitsui & Co. had invested $5,500,000 in the Standard Company, and got that all back and a "profit of $800,000 or $700,000."

A part of the money the Mitsui Company considered invested, he said, was $1,619,000, which it lost before the war in the financing of a manufacturing plant in Plainfield, N. J.," and this, too, the witness said, the government repaid.

Lane and Capt. Volandt alike were instructed to remain in attendance upon the committee. In the communication to Secretary Weeks, Senator Wheeler said, the committee specified its demand for all of Lane's formal recommendations in the three cases.

WITNESS DENOUNCED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLARKSBURG (W. Va.) April 3.—H. F. Seaife, former Department of Justice investigator and a recent witness before the Daugherty investigation committee at Washington, made "maliciously and premeditatedly false" statements when he charged that Harry M. Daugherty, Secretary of War Weeks and Col. Guy D. Goff "delayed prosecutions of the Wright-Martin aircraft cases 'by inaction'," Col. Goff, former Assistant Attorney-General, said in a statement here today.

passed by the house were $446,270,000.

RATE SCHEDULES UP

The committee again took up consideration of the other rate schedules in the House bill tonight after concluding this morning the hearing of Secretary Mellon who opposed the increase in estate tax voted by the House. This increase, it was estimated, would raise $12,000,000 additional revenue annually.

Among the bills requiring special appropriations in the next fiscal year and which either have passed the Senate or House or are being strongly advocated are: Pensions, $57,000,000; bonus, $125,000,000; McNary-Haugen farm relief $100,000,000 to $200,000,000; postal employees salary increases $135,000,000; German food relief $10,000,000, and good roads $35,000,000.

HUNT QUARTET FOR BUCKETING

Sleuths on Trail With Indictments

Champion Brokerage Loss is Again Revived

Thirty True Bills Returned in New York

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Detectives left for Chicago tonight with bench warrants in search of four men against whom a grand jury today returned thirty indictments for bucketing orders of the New York Stock Exchange firm of E. W. Wagner & Co., which closed its offices in forty-one cities in December, 1921, and failed for $10,000,000.

The bench warrants named Emil W. Wagner, directing head of the firm; Frank W. Donaldson, manager of its main office at Chicago; Charles A. Johnson, manager of its New York branches and Ernest Tietjens, the concern's chief financial adviser.

Members of the District Attorney's staff have gone to Albany to prepare extradition papers in expectation that the quartet will fight return to New York for trial.

E. W. Wagner & Co. was one of the most active brokerage firm in America. It had membership on the New York Stock Exchange, New York Cotton Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

WIRE SYSTEM NOTED

With a main office in Chicago and two branches in New York, it operated in thirty-nine other big cities. Its private wire system was noted. Two years before the house failed, it distributed among its employes $300,000 in Christmas bonuses.

The indictments charge that heads of the firm swindled its customers by trading against them through a system of twelve "house accounts."

Colossal sums were asserted to have passed through these accounts. Investigators for the district and Federal attorneys were reported to have told the grand jury that in two years of delving through as many of the firm's records as they could find, they were unable even to estimate the extent of its transactions. One house account alone was "short" $20,000,000 at one time, they testified.

Authorities declared before General Sessions Judge McIntyre, in whose court the grand jury presented the indictments, that records most valuable to the prosecution were missing.

LEDGER DESTROYED

Detectives who went to Chicago to investigate reports that some of the firm's ledgers had been destroyed returned, saying the records had been sold for junk and transformed into paper pulp.

There were thirty complainants against heads of the bankrupt brokerage firm, men and women in all walks of life.

The Armours of Chicago and Charles Chaplin were said to have been customers of the bankrupts, Morris Friedburg, Detroit jeweler, claimed to have been swindled of $400,000 in a deal for Willys-Overland stock.

William H. Bohlever charged he was defrauded of thousands of dollars in a Famous Players-Lasky Corporation stock transaction.

Sixteen months after the failure, John S. Sheppard, receiver for the bankrupts, submitted a plan for settling with creditors for 50 per cent of their claims in cash and 50 per cent in notes of a corporation to be organized to "realize on slow assets" the firm was believed to possess.

WASTE OR MYERS MAY GET WILBUR'S PLACE

GOV. RICHARDSON LIKELY TO APPOINT EITHER CHIEF JUSTICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—Gov. Richardson returned to the capital today after a week spent in Los Angeles, where he went to investigate the foot-and-mouth epidemic, as it affects the South, and to look over the field of applicants for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Curtis D. Wilbur, recently named Secretary of the Navy.

One of the first visitors to call upon the Governor was William H. Waste, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, who with Justice Louis W. Myers is a favored candidate for the Chief Justice appointment.

Gov. Richardson has indicated that he believes Southern California is entitled to the Chief Justice appointment and for that reason many figure Justice Myers will succeed. However, the Governor is a personal friend and admirer of Justice Waste and he may get the appointment.

JOHNNIE PERSHING IS BACK

The Gin'ral, Home from France, Stands Inspection by Ex-Captain, Ex-Sergeants and Ex-Private

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 3.—A squad of ship news reporters numbering among them one ex-captain, two ex-sergeants and one ex-private, first class, turned out this morning with pencils and copy paper to inspect their old boss, Gen. John J. Pershing, who was returning from a semi-official visit to France on the George Washington.

First call was 5:30 a.m., assembly was at 7 aboard the Coast Guard cutter Hudson, inspection of the commander-in-chief was at 8:30 in the Presidential suite aboard the George Washington, and mess was at 9:30. Civilian clothes were worn. There were no seconds on the eggs.

"Come in, boys, come in," urged the general, shaking hands all around.

What a change! The last time there was any inspecting done between the general and this member of the ship news squad, all was reversed except first call—which was the same, 5:30, and the lack of seconds on the eggs. A certain regiment hiked from its barracks that day with rifles and belts, "all spit and span," as Mickie Collins used to say, and waded through several miles of thick mud to the Bassens docks near Bordeaux, and formed itself and waited. At 3 p.m. about forty-seven automobiles rolled up and Gen. Pershing and his staff stepped out and everyone else broke his back straining to attention.

But today the boys took John by the hand and said, "Well, well, general, you're looking fine. How's everything? Where've you been? Just France, eh? Well, well, didja get up around Broct? Ha, ha—and Paris. Didja get to Paris?" and the first thing they knew there they were fighting the war all over again with the boss himself, and going back a bit farther and asking him what he did with all the wicker furniture he had in El Paso, and the general, with his chin shoved out and his eyes dancing, was holding the one-time first-class private at arm's length with both hands and assuring him that it was "boys like you who won the war."

Then followed an interesting interview, most of it confidential, so that which the boys will remember between themselves must read something like this:

"What do you think of ——?"

"——," said the general. "But don't quote me on that."

"Is there any possibility of ——?"

"Ridiculous," said the general, perturbed. "For heaven's sake don't even mention it."

Would you care to say anything about ——?"

"No, no. I shouldn't care to say anything about that, but—this is just between ourselves now—."

"Did you ——?"

"Yes, yes," mused the general. "I—you're not taking this down are you—well——."

IMMIGRATION PLOT ALLEGED

GREATER URGE THAN EVER

The prevalence of economic distress abroad, the high tax rates and the fear of military conscription, is creating an urge for emigration to the United States greater than ever before in history, Senator Reed told his colleagues.

The higher standards of living and wages in the United States has created an attraction to foreigners to the extent that in Italy alone, 600,000 applications are on file with Italian officials for permission to leave for the United States.

With the present quota of 42,000 admissions each year, it would take fifteen years for every Italian to come to the United States who has expressed a desire to do so, Senator Reed pointed out, declaring that his information was on Italian statistics.

"Italy has approached its emigration question from a far-sighted point of view; she regards the output of men as a national product, and is attempting to regulate the flow to the United States with some regard to quality," said Senator Reed. The speaker added that the financial returns from alien remittances constitutes an important item in the Italian budgetary estimates.

Other countries, however, he said, were not so mindful of the character of its emigration to the United States.

ACTION ON MUZZEY'S HISTORY IS POSTPONED

EDUCATION BOARD TO WAIT UNTIL AFTER SCHOOL PRINCIPALS MEET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—After an extended debate this afternoon the State Board of Education decided to postpone until June 25 action on whether to retain Muzzey's school history in the public schools of the State. Various organizations had protested continued use of the history, declaring it was prejudicial to American interests.

The postponement was taken in order to permit consideration of the book by the State High School Principals' Association at its convention in Santa Cruz later this month. The high school principals had requested the postponement.

G.O.P. RECORD GIVEN PRAISE

Longworth Declares Coolidge Has Shown His Greatness

Suggests Senate Should Quit Playing as Scavenger

Asserts Country is Tired of Vituperation and Slush

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Voicing praise for President Coolidge and the Republican party and condemnation of the Democrats, Representative Longworth, Republican leader in the House of Representatives, declared here tonight before the Republican women of Pennsylvania that he felt certain a "calm perusal of the record of the Republican party during this administration will prove its title to another lease of power."

Although "a good many Republicans are worrying about the chances of defeat in the next election," Mr. Longworth said, he was "not losing any sleep over it."

Paying tribute to President Coolidge, Mr. Longworth declared he already had proved himself a great President and "in his next term will prove himself a greater one."

CONFIDENCE GROWS

"It was characteristic of the stability of our government and a tribute to the wisdom of the late Republican convention," continued the speaker, "that the accession of its choice for Vice-President to the Presidency caused not a ripple on the waters. The people had confidence in Coolidge and that confidence has increased as the days have gone by, until the question of his practically unanimous nomination in the next Republican convention has ceased to be debatable."

In a discussion of accomplishments of the present and the Sixty-seventh Congresses, Mr. Longworth made this reference to the Senate:

"I do not want to be construed as criticising the United States Senate as a legislative body. It is a great legislative body when it condescends to legislate. I think the time has come when it should cease scavenging and get down to legislation. That could be done perfectly well and yet leave ample time to the various committees for such investigations as to alleged fraud and wrong-doing as may be wise and necessary.

COUNTRY TIRED

"I think the country is getting tired of the mass of vituperation and slush designed to blast the reputations of honest men, with reflections on the dead as well as upon the living which crowd the pages of the Congressional Record and prevent the transaction of business."

"You may search history in vain," he continued, "to find an instance where any party within the same period and under such peculiar difficulties has accomplished so much of progressive and constructive legislation, gone so far in the redemption of its platform pledges and done so much toward the preservation of the peace of the world as has the Republican party since the inauguration of the late President Harding . . .

"I do not know what place President Harding will eventually occupy in history, but he will merit the thanks of his countrymen for his successful efforts, advised and aided by one of the greatest Secretaries of the Treasury we have ever had, in eliminating extravagance and waste and reducing government expenditures to the bone."

FIVE CAPTURED MEN CONFESS ROBBERIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MERCED, April 3.—Five young men who are said by deputy sheriffs to have confessed participation in two hold-ups at Merced Falls recently were captured by the officers last night and are in jail here today. WILBUR FOR SEPARATE AIR FORCES

New Secretary Favors Fullest Co-operation of Army and Navy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary Wilbur is opposed to any project which contemplates a united Army and Navy Air Service, he announced today. The naval Secretary said, however, that he favored the fullest possible co-operation between the two services in both tactical and administration problems.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt told the House Naval Committee today that a united air defense "would be detrimental to both the Army and the Navy."

"I don't thing it a good thing to have the air defense of the coast assigned to either the Army or the Navy," he said. "A mobile defense of the coast must remain off-shore a naval function. It has got to be handled largely through co-ordination and liaison between both branches."

Mr. Roosevelt said the country has not a proper aviation defense and more funds are needed.

Capt. D. S. Seaton of the Army Air Service said the Army was not adequately equipped in the air, adding that there is no duplication between the Army and Navy forces.

No Word From Balloon Adrift Over Midwest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SCOTT FIELD, BELLEVILLE (Ill.) April 3.—No word has yet been received from Dr. LeRoy Meisinger, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., now of the central office of the United States Weather Bureau and Lieut. I. A. Lawson, who are drifting in a balloon somewhere over the Middle West today, studying storm currents at high altitudes. It was announced here this afternoon.

Both men cast off here Tuesday evening and had food supplies for three days. They took carrier pigeons with them and had radio instruments. When last seen they were drifting east at a height of 10,000 feet.

Poland Border Warfare Takes on New Aspect

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIGA, April 3.—The unofficial warfare which has been taking place in the border districts of Poland and Lithuania for the last four years has taken a new turn during the last two weeks. Polish and Lithuanian authorities now are busy rounding up each other's subjects for deportation.

When the Poles a month ago began expelling Lithuanian families from the Vilna district, the Lithuanians retaliated by expelling more than 200 Polish families who had settled in the vicinity of Suwalki in 1915.

Both Poland and Lithuania have within their borders large numbers of each other's subjects in efforts to make them return to their mother countries. The ultra-nationalist policy of both countries is developing a hatred which is resulting in frequent clashes between troops and citizens of the border district.

Returns Fail to Alter Wisconsin Race Standings

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MILWAUKEE, April 3.—Delegates pledged to Senator R. M. La Follette continued to pile up an advantage as belated returns from Tuesday's election were compiled. In the Democratic contest delegates pledged to Gov. Al Smith of New York were leasing those pledged to William G. McAdoo.

The first district returned two delegates for President Coolidge, and a strong contest was indicated in the sixth district.

M'ADOO VICTOR IN IOWA FIGHT

State Delegation Favorable to Candidate Named

Instructions Are Withheld by Convention, However

Triumph in Kansas Also is Seen by His Backers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAVENPORT (Iowa) April 3. An Iowa delegation to the Democratic national convention in New York declared to be favorable in the main to the Presidential candidacy of William G. McAdoo, but uninstructed, was selected by the Democratic State delegate convention here today.

The convention also named a delegation favorable to the candidacy of Clyde L. Herring of Des Moines, McAdoo manager for Iowa national committeeman, and adopted resolutions pledging agriculture a greater measure of relief, supporting adjusted compensation for World War veterans, welcoming labor into the councils of the party, and criticising severely leaders of the Republican administration for what was termed "a betrayal of the people in administration of the nation's affairs."

SHARP DIVISION

The convention was the most spectacular ever held by the party in Iowa, a sharp division over selection of delegates-at-large deadlocking proceedings and making it necessary for part leaders to postpone until tonight a scheduled meeting for the selection of a slate of candidates for minor State and Congressional offices. No proposal was brought before the convention for an instructed delegation to the national convention. McAdoo leaders explained the resolution was withheld, in deference to the wishes of a large number of McAdoo supporters who believed the hands of the delegates should not be tied.

The supporters of Mr. Herring were unanimous in declaring a majority of Iowa's delegates were favorable to McAdoo and succeeded in putting through a resolution instructing the delegates to vote as a unit.

INDORSEMENT HELD UP

Likewise, no mention was made of indorsing candidates for Vice-President, although a number of delegates desired to put through an honorary resolution on behalf of E. T. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture.

The victory of Mr. Herring over National Committeeman Wilbur W. Marsh of Waterloo, who has held that office for ten years, signalizes, the Herring leaders declared "the beginning of a new Democratic organization in Iowa."

The delegates-at-large chosen were regarded as a compromise between the Marsh and Herring factions, but will not materially change support to Herring of the entire delegation.

Herring claims seventeen of the twenty-two district delegates and five of the eight delegates-at-large were said to favor him for national committeeman.

McADOO CLAIMS KANSAS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 3.—Another "splendid victory" for the McAdoo forces was claimed today in the result of the Kansas Democratic convention.

"Out of a total of twenty delegates selected," said David Ladd Rockwell, national director of the McAdoo campaign, "eighteen are strong McAdoo supporters. A unit rule for voting in the national convention was imposed upon the delegation and this insures a solid Kansas vote for McAdoo.

"The convention formally indorsed Gov. Davis as a favorite son candidate and this indorsement was given with the full consent and support of the McAdoo men in the State convention.

"Victories in Kansas yesterday, in Iowa today and in Wisconsin on April 1 further indicate the strength of the McAdoo candidacy throughout the Central West."

NEW CHIEF OF RECLAMATION

Dr. Elwood Mead, Berkeley Engineer, Appointed

Bureau Commissioner to Take Post at Once

Predecessor to be Head of Finance Division

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Dr. Elwood Mead, irrigation engineer of Berkeley, Cal., was appointed by Secretary Work today to be Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation.

Dr. Mead succeeds D. W. Davis, former Governor of Idaho, who will become head of a new division of finance, operated to separate the handling of receipts and disbursements from the engineering and agricultural dividons of the Interior Department.

The new commissioner, Dr. Work said, in announcing his appointment, has been granted leave of absence from the University of California, where he is professor of rural institutions, to take up his new duties.

Since last December Dr. Mead has been engaged with the advisory committee on reclamation, which is working out a reorganization of the service and which is expected to report next week on a new policy to govern future reclamation projects.

NEW POLICIES

"Dr. Mead," said the Interior Secrtary, "will take up his duties at once and put in operation the new policies developed by this committee and the Secretary of the Interior, who will promulgate them as rapidly as practicable.

"A division of finance has been created in the bureau intended to separate the handling of receipts and disbursements from the engineering and agricultural divisions. Twent-five millions in accounts are now classed as deferred, doubtful and bad. An attempt will be made to develop a system that will recoup these losses if possible and obviate or minimize these leaks in the future."

The Secretary stated that the forthcoming report of the advisory committee when adopted will enlarge and complete the reorganization scheme the reclamation service initiated a year ago.

MANY DUTIES

"It will," he said, "involve a greater diversity of duties, making it advisable to continue a member of this advisory committee, which has made an intensive six months study of reclamation, to insure the application of the readjustment suggested by this report."

Mr. Davis has been commissioner of the bureau less than a year, having been appointed to the post June 13 last. On that date Secretary Work abolished the office of director of reclamation, then headed by Arthur P. Davis, who had been with the reclamation branch of the department since its inception and in its place created the position of Commissioner of Reclamation. D. W. Davis, before being made commissioner, had served as special assistant Secretary of the Interior for about three months.

The reorganization at the time provoked unfavorable comment from several quarters. The Secretary in a statement issued a month before the change said:

"We are going to put this branch of the Interior Department on a business basis."

UNIVERSITY MAN

BERKELEY (Cal.) April 3.—Dr. Elwood Mead, professor of rural institutions at the University of California, is known as a land settlement expert. As one of the leading members of the California State Land Settlement Board he was instrumental in colonizing the big State farm projects at Durham, Butte county and Delhi, Merced county.

Dr. Mead recently returned from abroad, where he was instrumental in putting land settlement plans into operation in Australia and Palestine.

He is the former territorial and State engineer of Wyoming. He came to the University of California in 1908.

Secret May Be Told to Girl by Cube Root King

MASON CITY (Iowa.) April 3. Urbane L. Barrett, local attorney and cube root "king," who has sworn never to reveal to a living soul his secret for obtaining the cube root of large numbers without involved computations, may weaken before the request of a Winsted, Ct., "flapper."

"I expect to teach school some time," the girl wrote Barrett. "I would appreciate it very much if you would tell me what formula you use." Her name was not revealed—nor has been the formula.

Barrett astonished noted engineers at Chicago recently by his instant calculation of the cube root of numbers running into the billions.

Much jubilation at Maier Park yesterday where the Vernon baseball team is training—reason—signing of Courtney to pitch for the Bengals. The cry of the Tigers now is—"on to Pennantville." In the interclub series yesterday afternoon Chadbourne's lads again walloped those of Hannah, this time 7 to 6. The series now stands Chadbourne 7, Hannah 4. Ken Penner heaved for Chadbourne and had his teammates eating out of his hand. The series will be continued this afternoon.

Marty Krug had his Angels on their pretties at Washington Park. The tea mwent through several hours of strenuous practice and is about ready for "Play ball." On the opening day next Tuesday when the Angels tackle Seattle at Washington Park, Agnes Ayres, the popular screen star will present each Angel with a bouquet before the game starts.

Red Killefer and his wide-awake band of Indians invided the Glendale grounds yesterday and went through an interclub contest. The boys are fast rounding into condition and will be fit and ready next Tuesday with Radiant Red at the helm.

The allotting of the umpires for the opening games is as follows: Reardon and Finney at Los Angeles—Casey and Carroll at San Francisco—Phyle and Schaller at Sacramento and Guthrie and Becker at Salt Lake.

Beans Reardon having seen Beau Brummel at Miller's Theater this week declared yesterday that the Beau will have nothing on him next Tuesday. Beans will swing a novelty in the umpire line by wearing a pair of cleated, patent-leather shoes and a Brummel cravat. Leave it to Beans.

Sloops Take Water After Improvements

Two Marconi-rigged racing sloops took the waters yesterday at the ways of the Wilmington Boat Works, apparently new additions to the California Yacht Club fleet, but in reality they were only the Peggy and Machree, both famous for the records they have hung up before Pacific breezes.

The Peggy, British six-meter champion of the Pacific, has been converted to an R-class boat with the addition of a cabin, while the Machree, whose gaff-and-topsail rig brought her to victory many times on San Francisco Bay, now steps a fifty-foot Marconi mast.

Both craft since the completion of the rerigging and overhaul jobs, look like new boats and yachtsmen of local waters are keenly interested in their performance under new conditions. A match race between them has been lined up for next Saturday off the local port, both craft to be skippered by their owners: Harry Fisher at the stick of the Peggy and the Machree handled by John Langdon.

The annual spring overhaul period is on with such a rush at the harbor that both anchorages of the California Yacht Club have taken on the appearance of the day before the championship regatta, spar scraping, rigging overhaul, hull painting and boats on the ways at the various yards keeping both the sailing and power boat crowds busy from dawn to dark.

Colorado River, if harnessed, could furnish power equal to half the electric energy in this country at the present time.

AMERICA WINS SYRIAN RIGHTS

Treaty With French Affords Equality Privilege

United States and Nationals Included in Pact

Ambassador Herrick to Sign Papers Today

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Full equality of rights for American interests and nationals in Syria and the Lebanon, mandated to France by approval of the League of Nations, is assured by a treaty with the French government concluded by Ambassador Herrick, which will be signed in Paris tomorrow.

A summary of the treaty, made public tonight by the State Department, shows it to be similar to the convention recently concluded by the Washington and Tokio governments with respect to islands under mandate in the North Pacific as well as other treaties with France and Belgium, already approved by the Senate, covering mandated territories in Africa.

"The treaty as to Syria," the department announcement says, "provides that the United States and its nationals shall enjoy in the mandated territory all the rights and privileges assured to states members of the League of Nations under the terms of the mandate. It also provides that, subject to the provisions of local law for the maintenance of public order and public morals, nationals of the United States will be permitted freely to establish and maintain educational, philanthropic and religious institutions."

French recognition of the right of Americans to participate in Syrian affairs on a basis of equality with its own nationals although the United States is not at war with Turkey, is regarded as of no little importance, including as it does acknowledgement that the United States contributed to the defeat of Turkey and other Allies of Germany. This recognition may enter as an element into discussions between the United States and Great Britain when the question of a treaty covering American right in Mesopotamia is formally taken up.

STIMSON AND NELSON CLASH IN MAIN BOUT

"Lightnin'" Tom Stimson of the University of California at Los Angeles will meet "Slugger" Nelson of Long Beach in the main event of a boxing card Wednesday night at the Hollywood Masonic temple. Several preliminary bouts have been lined up by Matchmaker Waldo Shutts. The bouts are held under the auspices of the Hollywood De Molay.

Jimmy Vaughn and Pearce Relander will meet in the semi-windup, at 120 pounds. Stimson and Nelson have met three times before, each winning one. The last bout resulted in a draw. The boys will enter the ring at catchweights, Stimson being the lighter by several pounds. Tommy declared that he would try and knock the tough Nelson for a goal long before the last bell.

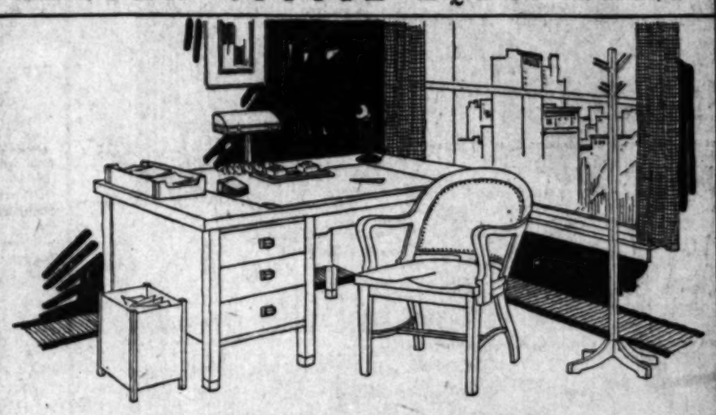
BETTER OFFICE EQUIPMENT



Some keep an old, battle-scarred piece of office equipment through sentiment. That black, unsightly burn on the desk was made by Whoosis' cigar the day I closed the big contract with him. Or that scratch was made by Whatsisname's diamond ring when he pounded the desk and persuaded me to go into that deal which built a home in Wilshire for me. Away with such thoughts! Your callers see only a disreputable old desk that destroys respect. Do you still wear the same suit you were married in? Match Play Opens Today in Event at Santa Barbara

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, April 3.—Willie Hunter and C. H. Palmer are the honors in the first day of play in the La Cumbre Country Club's fifth annual invitational tournament, each scoring a 74 in the qualifying round of the event here today. Hunter, a member of the Rancho Golf Club, is Southern California champion, and his consistent scoring in medal play is only surpassed by his brilliant golf in match play. It is unfortunate that he could not play through the tournament.

Close behind them with a 75 came Everett Seaver, winner of the Alhambra Country Club invitational meet here several weeks ago. George Von Elm, W. W. Campbell and John Arnelli all turned in cards below the 80 mark,

Tigers' Stock Goes Up With Startling Deal

In one of the most sensational deals of the year, Pitcher Harry Courtney was purchased outright from the Chicago White Sox yesterday by the Vernon baseball club for a sum not made public. Last season Courtney played for the San Francisco team, under option from the Chicago American League club, and made a dazzling record, finishing the season with a percentage of .760. Out of twenty-five games played Courtney won nineteen, and firmly established himself as the leading pitcher of the Coast League for the year.

In a successful career Courtney has played for both the Washington and Chicago teams of the American League, and his release after such a splendid season by the White Sox indicates that the monetary inducement for the deal must have been large.

With Courtney on the staff, Vernon will present one of the most formidable teams in the Coast loop this year. Always strong in fielding and hitting, for the past few years, the Tigers have been woefully weak in the pitching department. With Courtney to depend on in their more important games, the Tigers may well expect to finish near the top this season.

KYNASTON WINS FROM VOSHELL

Victor Faces Richards in Semifinals Today

Rice and Tilden Finalists at Augusta Tourney

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Percy L. Kynaston of Rockville Centre, N. Y., sprang an upset today in the national indoor tennis championship singles when he conquered S. Howard Voshell, champion of 1917 and 1918, after a brilliant three-set battle in the fifth round. Kynaston's margin of victory was by scores of 4-6, 6-0, 7-5 and gained after Voshell five times had been within a point of victory in the final set.

Kynaston tomorrow opposes Vincent Richards, defending champion, in one semifinal match, while Francis T. Hunter and Frank T. Anderson of New York, both former champions, meet in the other.

A brilliant triumph by two East Orange (N. J.) schoolboys, John Van Ryan and Kenneth Appel, over M. Fukuda and Kei Okuno, Japanese Davis Cup candidates, marked the doubles play, in which winners qualified for semifinals tomorrow. The youngsters won by 6-4, 6-3, and tomorrow will meet Anderson and Voshell, who eliminated W. D. Cunningham and Merritt Cutler of New York, 6-0, 6-3.

In the other semifinal, Richards and Hunter, title holder, who defeated A. S. Craigen and M. Goldman, 6-2, 6-3, will meet Dr. George King, New York, and G. C. Shafer, Philadelphia, who won from C. A. Anderson and W. M. Fischer, 6-1, 6-1.

AUGUSTA (Ga.) April 3.—Lawrence Rice of Boston, seventh ranking player in America and present Massachusetts champion, defeated A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., present New England champion, in the semifinals of the South Atlantic State tennis tournament on the country club courts here this afternoon, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

He will play William Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, in the finals tomorrow afternoon. The game was one of the hardest fought on the local courts. Chapin pushed him for every point, and it was only at the end that the result of the match was obtained.

In the semifinal men's doubles match this afternoon, Major and Behr defeated Tilden and Strachan, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

This morning Rice and Coffin won the play-off of the semifinal match with Chapin and Chapin, 6-3, 6-1.

BEES HAVE PITCHERS

BY BRAVEN DYER

Relying the distinction of finishing second to the San Francisco Seals in last season's race and with the 1923 team practically intact Charley Pick's hard-working Sacramento baseball outfit gives promise of being one of the strongest clubs in the Pacific Coast League circuit this year. The Bees have acquired one or two good players from other leagues and appear to be a very well-balanced aggregation.

Manager Pick thinks a lot of his pitching staff. From last year's corps of hurlers he has Bill Prough, Bill James, Bill Hughes, Jesse Yellowhorse, Specs Shea, Crandell and Thompson. In addition the securing of Charley Hall, former St. Paul American Association star, insures plenty of power in the hearing department. Crandell and Thompson threw from the port side and the former has turned in some mighty great performances this season. Prough, James and Hall are the veterans of the staff, and if the second string chucker is in good shape Manager Pick will have a strong trimvirate.

NICE OUTFIELD

There is nothing the matter with the Sacramento outfield. Merlin Kopp, speedy base stealer, and Earl McNeeley chased fly balls for Pick last year, Kopp as regular left fielder and the latter as Kopp's relief. McNeeley has so improved this spring that he has cinched a regular berth. The other pasture will be taken care of by Art Smith, purchased from Rochester, where he had a splendid record as a hitter.

Fred Mollwitz has signed several contracts with the Senator officials and will park his dogs around first base as per usual. Paddy Siglin, another old-timer, is slated for second base, with Claude Rowher at third. Either McGinnis or Hemingway will get the call at short, with the odds favoring the latter because of his superior ability with the willow.

Art Koehler, Bobbie Schang and Merwin Shea, all of whom were with the club last year, will adquately handle the receiving duties.

MILTON UNCORKS SPEED

Famous Driver Makes 146 Miles Per Hour in Trial Spin at Dry Lake; Big Test Today

BY FRANK HOWE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MUROC, April 3.—With Tommy Milton's pair of speed annihilators guarded under lock and key in the stable of this little desert town's general store, everything is in readiness for the dash against time to be made across the surface of Dry Lake tomorrow morning.

Final preparations were completed late this afternoon and Milton, fighting a terrific desert wind, succeeded in hanging up an average speed of 146.34 miles per hour with his 183-cubic-inch Miller special and 137.40 with the little 122-cubic-inch job. Milton was highly elated with the showing, Harry Miller being the only one present who was disappointed. With calm weather, Miller is certain the big car can do 160 or better and hopes for 150 with the tiny buggy.

COURSE IS LEVEL

The course across Dry Lake is as level as a dance floor and practically as smooth. With a two-mile run in which to acquire momentum, Milton hits the wire at the start of the mile course at full tilt and is able to keep up his speed until after he crosses the finish line, the wide expanse of the phenomenal lake giving him ample room in which to stop. Electric timing apparatus has been installed and yesterday's tests were timed with its aid.

Muroc is taking its place with the Shelbys and other mushroom towns of sport history. A contingent of movie news cameramen descended upon it early this morning, together with a number of newspaper correspondents and automobile men. The proprietress of the store hastily drafted Jimmy Murphy into service and sent him to Lancaster to get bread and other fresh supplies for the incoming mob. Jimmy got the bread but upon his return forgot to stop and leave it at the store, carrying it on across Dry Lake with him. Hence the correspondents dined on crackers and cheese.

MEETS EMERGENCIES

Muroc, however, shows itself to be able to adapt itself to emergencies. The stable in the rear of the general store has been arranged as a temporary garage for Milton's pair of flaming red speedsters. Crackers and cheese have been imported in wholesale quantities. The aforementioned general store proprietress toils early and late to make the visitors comfortable and succeeds admirably, ex-

CALIFORNIA NINE HERE FOR GAMES

Golden Bears Meet Trojans at Coliseum Field This Afternoon

Carl Zamlock and his performing California Bears have arrived in Los Angeles and this afternoon will tackle Sam Crawford's University of Southern California nine in the first game in the Coliseum. The game is scheduled to start at 1 o'clock.

Crawford's Trojans hold a verdict over Stanford and are out to trim the Bears and win the baseball title of the Big Three. The Trojans and Bears meet in the second game of their series Monday at the Coliseum, and unless one team wins two straight, tangle in the third game Tuesday afternoon.

The Bears boast of a strong nine and are coming here determined to knock off the hard-hitting Trojans. But the locals have other ideas than being knocked off and plan to do a little knocking off on their own account. Unless the Bear hurlers can stop the slugging of Neal Raney, John Hawkins, Gus Chabre, Hobbs Adams and Johnny Hunter, the California cause seems lost. None of the Stanford moundsmen could puzzle Crawford's wrecking crew and the Bruin tossers are also expected to have a tough time doing it.

Either Joe Scott or Fay Thomas will be on the mound for the Trojans, while Capt. Al Tellez will attend to the receiving. Noonan will probably pitch for the visitors.

DENVER POLOISTS BEATEN BY HAWAII

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, April 3.—The Hawaiian division polo team won the second game of the Pacific Coast novice championship tournament at the Coronado Country Club this afternoon, defeating Denver, 15 to 6.

The Hawaiian team easily outclassed Denver and made a great showing of accuracy in hitting. Denver was given a two-goal handicap but the winners took the lead after the second period and were never headed.

Maj. Milliken, who made seven goals, and Capt. White with five, were the stars for the winners. Capt. R. G. Ervin did the heavy work for Denver. The line-up:

Denver		Hawaiian Division
Capt. R.G. Ervin	1	Maj. Milliken
R. Brookes	2	Capt. White
C. Button	3	Capt. Stearns
I. B. Humphris,	4	Jack Holt

WEINSTEIN TO TAKE PART IN WOMEN'S DAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, April 3.—While Women's Field Day, the 12th inst., is an established annual event at the University of California, a time exclusively for the feminine athlete to disport herself, this year the intrusion of one man on the program has seemed inevitable. The explanation is that Helen Wills, a freshman student, the national woman tennis champion, is down for an exhibition. There is no girl on the campus who can give Miss Wills even a mild workout and so Irving Weinstein, a widely known tournament player and ranked No. 1 on this season's varsity team, will play opposite the champion.

FROSH TO SCAMPER ON TRACK

Occidental Oval Scene of First Conference Meet for Peagreeners

Meeting in the first annual Southern California intercollegiate all-conference freshman meet, track athletes representing four institutions of learning will gather at Patterson Field this afternoon in an effort to carry off top honors. Pomona and Occidental are conceded the best chance of winning the meet, although a dark horse in the shape of the local University of California team is liable to surprise all concerned. Caltech hardly figures in the money, although they have one or two good men. Redlands and Whittier will not enter teams.

It looks as if most of the track events will be productive of plenty of speed. Pomona has a demon miler and half-miler in Paul Rentchler. Inasmuch as there is no two-mile race today, Schmidt, the star Southern Branch runner, will undoubtedly race against Rentchler in the mile, and should afford the Sagehen athlete plenty of excitement.

Oxy has some good sprinters in Purser, Gregg, Broadhead and Shaver, while Pomona's short-distance men are Graf, Phelps and Knight. Gregg is favored to win the 100, while Graf should run off with the century.

Steve Turner, long-legged Pomona hurdler, will be up against a good man in Shaver in the hurdle races, but should emerge victorious. Turner will also compete in the broad jump, high jump and shot put.

Maxon of Pomona and Fontaine of Oxy will have a little fight of their own in the pole vault. Both are capable of close to 12 ft.

The two-mile, a regular varsity event, is not the only event eliminated. There will be no javelin throw or hammer toss. With the relay this leaves thirteen events to be run off, more than 58½ points being necessary, therefore, to win the meet.

SELECT BRUIN CREW FOR SEATTLE RACE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, April 3.—The University of California crew that will row against the University of Washington at Seattle the 12th inst. is announced as follows: Owen Hotle, coxswain; Alfred Rogers, stroke; William Donaldson, 7; Gordon Cramner, 6; Edwin Harbach, 5; Francis Holland, 4; Jack Stewart, 3; William Beard, 2; Capt. Charles Loskamp, bow.

This crew, together with several substitutes, leaves for the North tomorrow.

COLLEGIANS IN TRACK CLASSIC

All-Conference Clash Carded for Coliseum Track

Sagehens and Tigers Will Fight it Out

Caltech Stars Will Rob Oxy of Many Points

The last big local collegiate meet of the 1924 season will be staged at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon when the institutions of learning in the Southern California Intercollegiate Conference gather for their annual all-conference struggle. Two weeks from tomorrow the annual A.A.U. meet will attract the attention of local athletes, but tomorrow's event is the last in the schedule under collegiate supervision.

As was the case in the Pomona-Occidental struggle of some three weeks ago, the meet will undoubtedly be decided by the relay, and the Sagehens and Tigers are the only teams given even an outside chance of copping first honors. The proteges of Joe Pipal won the conference championship in their meet with the Claremonters, and would like nothing better than to close their season with a win tomorrow, but the task will not be as easy as was their victory over Coach Eugene Nixon's athletes.

CALTECH MEN IN IT

If it were not for three men on the California Tech team, the Eagle Rock artists would be heavy favorites to finish first. As it is, Charley Graham, Holly Moyse and Fred Groat are sure to cut heavily into the points which Oxy took from Pomona, while the Sagehens have less to fear from their outside rivals.

Graham is probably the most sensational pole vaulter in the south, and tomorrow he is up against Roy Goodenough, star Oxy athlete. Both have cleared 12 ft. 5⅝ in. this season, and are thus joint holders of the new conference record in this event. Graham has been improved by leaps and bounds, while Goodenough is said to be a bit out of shape as the result of a strained muscle sustained in the meet with Southern Branch last week.

Moyse is the best hammer thrower in the loop, having tossed the heavy object 135 ft. in competition twice this year. Ridderhoff, who won the event for Oxy against Pomona, is a consistent performer at about 125 ft., but it is doubtful if he can beat Moyse. Fred Groat will make a valiant effort to grab second to Moyse in the hammer. Moyse is also a pretty good bet to win the discus, another of Ridderhoff's pet events, while Groat stands a good chance of beating the Oxy weight man out for second.

Miss Kinsey, Miss Sherwood Send in Entries

Miss Edith Cummings May be Included in List

BY CHARLES WEST

About five dozen feminine golfers of assorted handicaps have signed up for the women's State championship tournament, which opens Monday on the links of the Brentwood Country Club, the names of Miss Rosamund Sherwood of Philadelphia; Miss Marna Kinsey of Cincinnati, and Miss Margaret Cameron of Annandale heading a list of accomplished players who will seek to dethrone Miss Doreen Kavanagh as California champion.

The entry of Miss Edith Cummings, national champion, has not yet been received, and while she has not stated definitely that she will compete, the tournament committee is hoping that she will appear. Miss Marion Hollins will definitely not compete.

Many players have been practicing at Brentwood this week getting in trim for the titular event. Miss Maude Bell yesterday negotiated the course in eighty-nine strokes, just three strokes over women's par. Mrs. George Weber scored a 90 and Mrs. H. D. Hammond a 91.

Mrs. Roos of San Francisco is now in Pasadena visiting friends, and while she has not yet sent in her entry she is expected to enter the tournament. Miss Alice Hanchett will also play through, while Mrs. W. C. Van Antwerp, another northern star, has not entered.

Drawings for pairings in the qualifying round will be made Sunday, and will appear in these columns Monday. All players will qualify in flights according to handicap.

FRY BEATS GRELLA IN CLUB BOUT

Multnomah A.C. Scrapper Victor; Fidel La Barba Defeats Gotto

Clayton Fry of the Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, took the decision over Johnny Grella of the L.A.A.C. after three fast rounds of fighting in the main event of the Los Angeles Athletic Club fights last night. Fry had a slight advantage all the way.

In the semi-wind-up Fidel LaBarba, classy Mercury flyweight, who has yet to taste defeat in a local ring, cleaned up on August Gotto, another well-known club battler. The bout was a slambang affair and had the fans on their feet most of the way. Jack Fields took the decision over Tony Rosetti in the special event.

In the fifth bout of the evening Joe Woods stopped Eduardo Sanchez in the first round after having him on the floor three times before the knockout. The other bouts resulted in Joe Salas getting the decision over Clark Williams, Ed Gleason defeating Marceline Lomelli, Billy Zuckie beating Kenny Moffatt, Charley Eder trimming Frank Pizzitola and Frankie Frown stopping Ed Shannon in the third.

Polly Wale Wins Feature at the Border

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 3.—Polly Wale took the feature event of today's card in a five and one-half furlong sprint, with Jones riding. Jack Bauer opened up a long lead, but had to be content with the place, while Coeur de Lion came third. Polly Wale was second until a few yards out, where she caught the leader to win going away.

WEBER AND ADAMS IN FAST DRAW AT HARBOR

To Sexton is largely due credit for the organization of baseball outside of the two big leagues on a satisfactory working basis. He has been president of the association for fifteen years.

Sexton will arrive in Los Angeles the 11th inst., and will remain until the 17th inst. as a guest of Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League. He will visit the home city of each of the clubs in the league.

Carpentier to Have Shot at Tunney First

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—The claims of rival promoters for the services of Georges Carpentier, who plans a comeback in the United States this summer, virtually were settled today when an agreement was reached to have the winner of the proposed match between the Frenchman and Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, meet Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight.

This agreement, which is expected to be closed definitely tomorrow, was reached at a conference between Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney, who holds Carpentier's contract to a bout in New York or New Jersey in June, and Floyd Fitzsimmons, Boston Harbor, (Mich.) promoter, who sought to match Carpentier and Gibbons on July 4 at Detroit, Chicago or Michigan City, Ind.

SAILOR RITTER AND ROCKSON TO TANGLE

Sailor Ritter, the game middleweight, will take on Mickey Rockson in the main event of the Compton program tonight. Ritter has been going great lately and Matchmaker Braathen is offering the Compton fans a treat in booking the two. Ritter held George Manley to a draw at Los Angeles Harbor recently. Rockson beat Kid Mexico and Red Williams and held Jack Braden to a draw at Venice. He is one of the huskiest battlers around this locality and is always in trim.

Young Stanley Ketchel, the "Ontario Windmill," has been matched with Mike Irwin in the semi-wind-up. Irwin is an eastern boy with a good record. Herb Ryan and Young Hollis tangle in the special event.

The following three other fast bouts wind up the bill: Gus Williams vs. Tony Lopez, 126 pounds; Pee Wee Nolan vs. Young Nino, 118 pounds; Johnny Showmaker vs. Soldier Dean, 135 pounds.

LONG AND WELLS IN HOT BOUT

English Welter in Main Event at Hollywood Legion Tonight

Billy "Bermondsey" Wells, king of the welterweights hailing from the British Isles, headlines the "Coffroth Night" card at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight. Ray Long, capable local welterweight, is carded for the other end of the argument. Tonight's appearance marks the first start of the Britisher in a Southern California ring, and advance ticket sales reported yesterday afternoon by Stadium Manager Si-Masters point to a packed house, with the late comers likely to find lucats as scarce as hens' teeth at the arena box offices.

Wells is an exceptionally fast boxer, and fans who have watched him in his daily workouts here say they now well understand why Jack Dempsey selected him as one of his Great Falls sparring partners prior to his Shelby mill with Tommy Gibbons. He will enter the ring tonight a favorite over Long, but the local boxer has a world of class, and it would be no great upset of the dope if Long should take the verdict.

"Sunny Jim" Coffroth, president of the Ti aJuana Jockey Club, arrived in Los Angeles last evening from the track in a high-powered motor car, and will be here for a couple of days. He is here to attend the Hollywood program tonight, where he is to be the guest of honor. The famous promoter has a host of friends among the local sportsmen, and most of them will undoubtedly be on hand tonight to pay their respects when he is introduced by Announcer Dan Tobey.

Frankie Grandetta, formerly of Portland, but now very much of Hollywood, tackles a tough one in the semi-wind-up, when he meets Georgie Rivers. Georgie has won his last three starts at Hollywood and promises to seriously endanger Frankie's somewhat faltering following.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

If a man who had never played golf at all should ask you how to go about learning the game, what would you tell him?

Answered by BOB CRUICKSHANK

Runner-up in national open championship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchison, Sarasen and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Runner-up in Pittsburg tournament for professional golfers, 1923, being defeated only by Sarasen.

I would suggest that he first of all learn or read the rules of the game, get familiar with the clubs, and then begin taking lessons. After he had learned what the various clubs in his bag were for, his first lesson would begin.

If I were to teach him I would start him on the putting green. There he would learn what "touch" in golf means and at the same time the value of body control. Afterwards, I would instruct him in the various shots up to the green and finally the tee shots where a fuller swing is required.

Hawaiian Polo Team Wallops Denver Four

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 3.—In a ragged game of polo on the Coronado field today, the Hawaiian division six-goal team defeated the Denver team, 16 to 6. The Denver team was given two goals to start and was only able to better this by four more, while the Hawaiians scored practically at will and were far out in front at all stages of the game.

All members of the Denver team played to handicaps of one each, while the Hawaiian team rated two goals each with the exception of Jack Holt, who has a handicap of 0. Holt played the best polo he has exhibited so far in the tournament today, being responsible for two of the winning goals.

Capt. Gilervin carried practically the entire hard playing for the Denver team and made three of the four goals which were made.

Maj. Millican, for the Hawaiian division, exhibited some of the best polo seen on the local field, making seven goals, while Capt. White was in fine form and made five goals with Capt. Sharpe and Jack Holt registering two each.

The line-up follows:

Denver		Hawaiian Division
Gil. Ervin	3	Maj. Millican
Ralph Brooks	2	Capt. White
Frank Hutton	1	Capt. Sharpe
T. B. Humphrey	0	Jack Holt

Referee—Capt. Joe Rogers.

CORTELYOU HERE FOR MEETING

California Graduate Manager Talks a Bit About College Baseball

How, when and where a college baseball player may engage in his sports specialty during the vacation period is to be decided at a meeting of representatives of the athletic departments of various institutions of higher learning on the Pacific Coast, which will take place at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, Monday, according to R. W. Cortelyou, graduate athletic manager for the University of California.

Mr. Cortelyou, who is at the Alexandria, arrived here from Berkeley yesterday to attend this gathering. He said that up to this time some uncertainty has existed as to the extent to which a member of a college team may play the game during vacation without being held a professional and thus losing his amateur standing.

"As the rules read a man can't represent any institution but his own college during the collegiate year," said Mr. Cortelyou. "If he desires to play ball with some other organization during the summer he must first obtain permission from the faculty representative in athletics.

"There has been a disposition to overlook the rules in this matter. Players have joined baseball organizations of different kinds during the vacation period without the formality of a permit from their own institution. As an excuse it has been held that any player would benefit by practice during his vacation and so not much attention has been paid to the rules.

"It is the aim of the colleges, however, to maintain their baseball teams as strictly amateur organizations, and the question has been raised as to whether this aim can be adhered to when many players engage in professional baseball during the summer season. At this meeting the matter will be threshed out and a set of rules will be adopted which all the institutions will agree to observe in the future."

HOLLYWOOD TO MEET LINCOLN

Pioneers' Oval Scene of Track Meet Today

Manual and L. A. High Squads Clash at Coliseum

Polytechnic Faces Franklin in Third Struggle

Hollywood and Lincoln will settle a little track argument this afternoon on the Los Angeles High field when they clash in the feature prep meet of the day. It used to be that Lincoln cornered all the track laurels in the City League, but last season Hollywood ousted the Railsplitters, so there is quite a bit of rivalry between the two schools.

Two other meets are scheduled for today, Manual Arts facing L. A. High at the Coliseum and Franklin tackling Polytechnic. Bill Page's Hollywooders are favored to walk off with the majority of points in their meet with Lincoln, but a number of fast races are on tap as both schools boast of a number of speedy performers in the same event. It is expected that Izzy Yudlevitz will be able to give Vic Klein of the Foothillers serious competition in the sprints, especially in the furlong, which Yudlevitz has been running dangerously close to 22s flat.

The quarter is also expected to result in an interesting race with Smith and Campbell of Hollywood tangling with Gaudet of Lincoln. Lincoln has a number of distance runners and should give the Hollywood long-winded performers, Clum and Chase, a rapid afternoon.

Manual Arts is a heavy favorite to defeat L. A. High, unless the Pioneers do a lot better than they have in past meets this year. The Toiler spikesters are doped to win ten out of thirteen firsts, with a good chance of winning another event. The hurdles, in which Cain of L. A. High meets Requa of Maunai, are expected to furnish most of the excitement.

Polytechnic is favored to down Franklin, although the Kiteflyers have a good chance to win as Eddie Leahy has announced that he will not run several of his best men for fear of getting them stale for the city meet, which takes place a week from tomorrow. The distances, in which McKinnon, Waite and Derx of Poly will clash with McCrea and Newell of Franklin, should furnish the biggest thrills of the meet.

Midwick Plays Hawaiian Four for Coast Cup

Playing for the Pacific Coast circuit cup, the Midwick and Hawaiian polo squads will clash at Coronado Sunday afternoon. This will be the closing match of the tourney, which started almost a month ago. Early this year it was thought that Midwick would battle Riverside for the circuit cup, but after their defeat by the local team in the open play, the Mission City squad pulled out for other parts.

Midwick will have to spot the Honolulu team nine goals to begin with Sunday, and local fans know what a job the Purples have ahead of them to overcome this handicap.

PITCHERS ADD POWER TO BEES

the league and disputes it loudly. The signing of Ralph Stroud, who was a great heaver some years back, certainly adds a lot of strength to the Mormon hurling crew. Stroud has been playing outlaw ball for some time and is said to be even better than ever. Elmer Ponder, obtained from the Angels in exchange for Elmer Myers, may have a good year and if he does the result won't be pleasant for the Angel owners. Other heavers are McCabe, Singleton, Lefty O'Doul, Coumbe and Hulvey, the latter two having been obtained from Connie Mack as part of the price for Paul Strand.

With Oscar Vitt, capable third baseman, finally in the fold the Salt Lake owners are breathing easier. Vitt wanted a lot of money and apparently got it. He is field captain of the Mormons and a bulwark in the Salt Lake infield. Now that Vitt has come to terms, Manager Duffy Lewis has been busy shaping up his inner defense after the manner he desires it to open the season. Lanky Leslie is scheduled to handle the first base, with Pittinger, former Boston American League player, at second. Lewis will use either Howard Lindimore, former Angel infielder, or Lazzari at short, probably the latter.

LEWIS AT OLD STAND

Lewis, Wilbott and Fredericks seem to have the outfield berths at this writing. The latter is regarded as one of the most promising outfielders in the league. Peters, Joe Jenkins and Cook, the latter formerly with Sacramento, constitute the Mormon catching staff.

Salt Lake stacks up as one of the hardest hitting clubs in the league. The Bees always make a lot of runs on their home field, due to the altitude, but this year Lewis thinks his athletes will also bang the apple away from home. Some kindly newspaper man in Fresno, where the Mormons have been training, gives out the information that the Salt Lake infielders will hit for an average of something like .340, while the outfielders are supposed to average five points higher. All of the catchers hit over .300, so opposing pitchers are warned to beware of the heavy Mormon artillery.

If all these events go as indicated, Oxy will be short some 18 or 20 points which they scored against Pomona.

CLARK VS. GILES

The Sagehens stand to lose about two first places and a second or third or so. Giles of the local University of California has been doing better than 41 ft. with the shot, and should make Roland Clark of Pomona extend himself to the utmost to cop this event. The Grizzly weight men are a cinch for second and third places at least, for Rogers and Richardson both out-tossed Fulton and Argue, who took four points against Pomona in the recent Grizzly-Tiger meet.

Box Maxwell, stellar Pomona hurdler, probably will not compete in the 220-yard dash tomorrow, and that means the loss of the first place which he won from Argue in the dual meet. Maxwell wants to crack the Coast record of 23 4-5s. in the low hurdles, which he holds jointly with Strehle and House. For that reason Nixon may not run him in the furlong, as the events come close to each other.

The relay counts five, three and one tomorrow, and if all the dope runs true, the Sagehens may take the meet, provided they win second place in the relay.

Whittier Nine Wins Tilt From Quaker Preps

Coach Rube Ellis's Whittier College baseball team scored a 7-to-3 victory over the Whittier High School team at Whittier yesterday. The game, which was a practice affair, went only seven innings, but this was plenty long enough for the collegians to bat out a win.

Ray Johns, shortstop for the Quakers, enjoyed the unique distinction of drawing three walks and scoring as many runs. Hanna and McCaslin banged out home runs. Bonnett got two hits out of four trips to the platter.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Whittier College	7	7	2
Whittier High	3	1	1

More Records Fall in Swim Championships

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 3.—More records, world and national A.A.U., toppled tonight at the third session of the national A.A.U., indoor swimming meet.

The Illinois Athletic Club set a new national A.A.U., record in winning the 200-yard relay in 1:38 4-5. The old record also held by the I.A.C., was 1:39 1-5. The Olympic Club of San Francisco was second.

Miss Sybil Bauer of the I.A.C., in an exhibition event, broke the world's record for women for the fifty-yard backstroke, in 33 2-5s. compared with her old record of 33 3-5s.

Bobbie Skelton of the I.A.C., in an exhibition broke the world's record for the 200-yard breast stroke swim when he made the distance in 2:35 3-5. The old record of 2:39 2-5 was held by Toldie an Austrian, and had stood since 1911.

Johnny Weissmuller of the I.A.C., won the fifty-yard free style event in 24s.—two-fifths of a second slower than his national A.A.U. record.

Tijuana Will End Meeting on April 20

The long season of racing at the Tijuana track will be closed the 20th inst., according to announcement made here last night by President James W. Coffroth of the Tijuana Jockey Club. He arrived from the south yesterday, coming to Los Angeles to be the guest of honor at Coffroth Night at the American Legion Stadium, Hollywood, tonight. He will be introduced from the ring.

Before the close of the Tijuana season, the 20th inst., Coffroth said there would be a number of brilliant turf events. The first of these will be the Coffroth consolation, a handicap of one and a quarter miles, to be run Sunday. Several of the thoroughbreds that ran in the Coffroth handicap will go postward.

The next big event and the last stake of the meeting will be the Tijuana cup. This will be run Sunday, the 13th inst. It has $10,000 added money and will be a two-mile race.

This will be followed the next week-end by "The Blaze of Glory," this extending over the three days of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 18th, 19th and 20th inst., the track closing on the last day.

JOHNSON'S END SEEN BY PRESS

Dakota's Result Held Finish to Political Career

Coolidge Forecast to Win on First Ballot

La Follette Believed Likely Third Party Choice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 3. — The Presidential primaries in the Dakotas make two facts stand out irrefutably in the minds of a majority of the American editors, according to comment being printed in eastern papers. One is that Hiram Johnson's chances at the Cleveland convention will be virtually nil and that from indications as they stood last week President Coolidge will be the unanimous choice of the delegates. The other is that third party strength is a factor to be reckoned with entirely apart from what may happen at the Republican National Convention.

La Follette's eleventh-hour victory over Johnson in North Dakota, in the opinion of most editors, put the final stamp of persona non grata on the Californian.

"If the North Dakota primary," observes the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "knocked the bottom out of the Johnson campaign the result in South Dakota should bring about its complete collapse."

RADICAL CHOICE

The Lynchburg (Va.) News believes the result of the North Dakota primary shows Johnson to have been completely "unhorsed—that he might as well recognize and admit that his chances for the Republican nomination have gone a-glimmering;" while the Lincoln (Neb.) State Journal declares "plainly it is La Follette, not Johnson, the radicals want."

"The decisive defeat of Senator Johnson in such a radical State as North Dakota apparently puts him out of the race," in the opinion of the Kansas City Journal, which adds: "It is small consolation that he virtually was beaten by an even more radical competitor—Senator La Follette. The radical vote was simply divided." The Lincoln Star sees, in the North Dakota result "the death knell of Hiram Johnson's hopes of becoming the standard bearer of the progressive forces of this country," while the Butte (Mont.) Post believes that "Hiram will presently begin to realise that he isn't in it at all—recent returns from several States ought to bring him to a realisation of that fact."

It will no doubt exasperate him, the Post continues, "after all his antics as a 'progressive' that the final count shows that in the opinion of North Dakota La Follette is 'progressive' that he is."

PART IS PLAYED

That La Follette should beat Johnson when La Follette's name was not on the ballot, says the Des Moines Tribune, will hint to the Senator from California that his part in American politics is played. It only remains now for California to write "finis." The Duluth Herald sees more significance in the North Dakota vote than merely the elimination of Johnson and remarks "When it comes to speculation, it is clear that La Follette, running on a third ticket, will have to be reckoned with in North Dakota." The certainty with which President Coolidge has taken the Republican lead throughout the country is expressed by many editors in view of the Dakota results. "The North Dakota returns, viewed from any angle," declares the New York Evening Post, "shows Coolidge has unexpected strength in the resentful farm strongholds. They neither hurt nor help the La Follette third party prospects. They do, however, go a long way toward smashing and silencing the clamorous Hiram Johnson campaign."

"President Coolidge's large vote in the North Dakota primary seems to refute," observes the Chattanooga Times, "recent statements that the Middle Northwestern States are in complete revolt against the national administration," and adds that "the President's success in a State where radicalism is rampant is a strong attest to his strength and strengthens the general opinion that his nomination is a foregone conclusion."

The Ft. Wayne Journal sees in the Dakota results evidence that "Mr. Coolidge has the interested elements of his party thoroughly in hand and will be the nominee with little dispute."

ON FIRST BALLOT

While the Memphis News-Scimitar views the Dakota primaries as practically concluding the contest for the Republican nomination and remarks finally "it means the nomination of Coolidge on the first ballot." The Buffalo News declares "no other State could have offered a better testing ground for the President's popularity" than North Dakota. To this Senator Capper's Topeka Capital adds, "North Dakota confirms all other signs of the strength of President Coolidge."

The Pittsburg Gazette-Times hails the primary as "the definite turning of the tide in North Dakota away from political and economic vagaries," and sees in La Follette's voluntary vote "what is left of the socialistic sentiment there, the Nonpartisan craze that so nearly wrecked the State financially a few years ago."

The Columbus (O.) State Journal, on the other hand, rather views with alarm the signs of the La Follette and third-party strength. It wants to see "President Coolidge deservedly gain so steadily in popular confidence that he cannot be beaten and to see the Democrats nominate so fit a ticket that it would not make much difference if he were beaten." It concludes, "We should hate to see the election go to the House of Representatives whose record in the handling of its regular business does not inspire much hope that it would display marked wisdom in the selection of a President."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 3.—Judge Cayley has decreed that Lars Peter Petersen, who is charged with embezzling 190,000 kronen from the Danish government, and who fled to British Columbia, shall be deported to his native land.

Peterson was found by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in a small cabin on the banks of a gold-bearing stream in the Cariboo.

He had washed gold daily from daylight to dawn and when he had about one-tenth of the amount he stole saved up he sent it back to the Danish government and intended to send them the balance.

Instead of letting Petersen work out his own salvation the Danish althorities notified the Mounted Police and ordered his arrest. The prisoner is to be placed in the charge of the first ship that is going directly from here to Denmark.

Crowd Watches Suicide Thinking It Screen Stunt

ATLANTIC CITY, April 3.—While a score or more of Boardwalk promenaders looked on in the belief they were seeing a motion-picture act, a well-dressed man committed suicide by walking into the ocean at the Inlet.

The man, believed to be Nathan Haymen, 65 years of age, Buffalo, walked out Pacific avenue under the boardwalk and into the ocean before anyone realized his intention.

He was caught by the strong undertow, quickly swirled about and submerged ten feet from the Boardwalk. His body was recovered three blocks away by coast guards.

Ten million German marks and a small sum of money were found in his pockets with a Buffalo fraternal organization card giving his address as 649 Bidwell Parkway, Buffalo.

ELECTRIC AUTO TAX IS UPHELD

Levy on Gasoline Also Ruled Constitutional by Superior Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—The constitutionality of the gasoline-tax law and the statute providing for a specified fee for the registration of all motor and electrically operated vehicles was upheld in the Superior Court here today in a decision by Judge Peter J. Shields.

Judge Shields's decision was on the suit of the Old Homestead Bakery, Inc., of San Francisco, against Will H. March, chief of the division of motor vehicles, in which the bakery company sought to force March to issue a license for one of its electric trucks upon the payment of the $3 registration fee and the $30 weight tax, but without the payment of the $50 additional tax imposed by the State on all electrically operated trucks. Judge Shields denied the bakery company the writt of mandate asked.

Attorney H. E. Monroe of the law firm of Hardin & Monroe of San Francisco appeared in behalf of the bakery concern, while Atty.-Gen. Webb and Dep. Atty.-Gen. McKisick appeared in behalf of March and the State.

The constitutionality of the section of the statute imposing the $50 license fee on electric trucks was attacked by Monroe on the ground that it was an "unconstitutional, illegal and disproportionate tax arbitrarily imposed and placed on electric motor vehicles."

CLAUSE IN SHIP LAW ATTACKED

Pacific Coast Conference in Tacoma Session

Section 28 Declared to be Discriminatory

House Committee Conducts Hearing in Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TACOMA (Wash.) April 3.—That the application of Section 28 of the merchant marine law scheduled to go into effect May 20 will not only fail to build up the American merchant marine, but will destroy foreign trade and greatly discriminate against Pacific ports and prevent their development was the burden of the speeches at the opening session of the conference of Pacific ports here today and resolutions demanding its repeal by Congress were foreshadowed before the conference adjourns its sessions tomorrow.

Chairman Seth Mann, traffic manager for the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, laid down the basis of the objection by Pacific ports.

"There are a great many export and import rates applying to ports on the Pacific, but very few on the Atlantic," said Mr. Mann. "The rate to Pacific ports is $1 a hundred on domestic freight from Chicago, but for export freight the same goods come for 40 cents. I hope we will have no oratory on the American flag. We are all patriotic, all want an American merchant marine, but the question is how to achieve it."

"We do not believe Section 28 will develop a permanent merchant marine," said Frank Waterhouse of Seattle. "We do believe it will cause diversion of cargo from Pacific ports and we do believe it will cause discrimination against certain ports. We believe it will be detrimental to Pacific ports and will cause congestion at Atlantic ports already overcrowded, and we believe it will divert traffic to Canadian ports."

F. H. Shull of Portland, and B. F. Stone of Astoria, joined in condemning the section.

HEARINGS IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Enforcement of section 28 of the Merchant Marine Act, providing for preferential railroad freight rates on products carried in American vessels, was both opposed and advocated before the House Merchant Marine Committee today.

Representatives of shipping interests endorsed a resolution introduced in the House today by Representative Newton, Republican, Minnesota, to defer enforcement of the section to July 1, 1925, instead of May 20, 1924, as ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Commissioner Thompson of the shipping board, opposed the resolution and also the bill, previously introduced by Mr. Newton, which would make enforcement by the commission of the section optional instead of mandatory.

George H. Ingalls, vice-president of the New York Central Railroad, testifying as an individual, declared operation of the section's provisions would tend to divert much freight over Canadian railroads even if adequate American tonnage were available.

BRUTAL PIRACIES REVEALED

BY RODERICK MATHESON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, April 3.—At a preliminary trial, judges in the Tokio local court indicted thirty-six persons, asserting grewsome piratical activities rivaling dime novel thrillers. The court's official statement on the story is as follows:

Rikiohiro Ezure and two others heard tales that gold had been discovered at Okhotsk, Siberia, in 1922. They induced two Tokio capitalists to advance 50,000 yen ($25,000,) chartering the 2000-ton steamer Takimaru of Osaka.

The leaders engaged a crew of sixty and secretly loaded thirty-two rifles, sixty Japanese swords, eighteen spears and 2000 rounds of ammunition. Ezure appointed himself chief. He announced that he was going to explore for gold, left on September 17, 1922, and went up the Amur River to Nikolaievsk where 800 Japanese had been massacred eight months previously.

Ezure suddenly was taken with the idea of avenging his countrymen. He abandoned his gold hunt and descended the river. On October 19 he seized the Russian cargo launch Anna and made four persons prisoners. On October 21 he boarded the Russian schooner Waker with a crew of twenty. He murdered three Russians and took the others prisoner. He then seized the cargo, valued at 70,000 yen ($35,000) and sank the ship. Four days later he brought out the prisoners whom he had held in iron chains and shot and sabered eleven Russians.

On November 6 he reached a Japanese port where he disposed of his spoils, distributing 60,000 yen ($30,000) among the crew. The brutality of the crime preyed on the minds of the two sailors who confessed at Tokio last December.

Santa Barbara Man Dies on Golf Links; Work for Charity Blamed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, April 3.—Eugene L. Patterson, prominent Santa Barbara club man and philanthropist, dropped dead this afternoon while playing golf at the Monte Cito Country Club. Mr. Patterson was playing on the tenth green when, it is believed, the end came suddenly with a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Patterson came to Santa Barbara several years ago from Minneapolis. He was at the head of the Community Chest campaign which ended a week ago and in which Santa Barbara raised $120,000 for charity.

It is believed that his work in this campaign led to conditions that resulted in his death.

Jury in Arizona Student Killing Trial Convicts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) April 3.—William B. Ward was found guilty by a jury in the Pinal County Superior Court here tonight on a charge of first-degree murder for the killing of Ted Grosh, 19-year-old university student. The jury deliberated sixteen minutes.

Death by hanging was fixed as the penalty by the jury. Counsel for the defendent immediately filed a motion for a new trial and Superior Judge Abbey set April 15 as the day for hearing the motion and passing of sentence.

OCCIDENTAL LADS TO PLAY FRANKLIN

The Occidental College varsity baseball lads believe they will repeat the victory of last week, tomorrow, when they meet the Franklin nine at Arroyo Seco Playground. Coach Wilkie Clark has developed a good team out of material that looked almost impossible at the first of the season. In the game last week with Loyola College, Occidental proved that they know baseball and can play it. The infield has taken on the appearance of perfection and few errors are expected to be committed by the Tigers tomorrow. The best asset of the Oxy team is their ability to smack the ball. Coach Clark has shown the men how to handle the willow so effectively that it will take a good twirler to take one of them for the count.

OCCIDENTAL FROSH DEFEAT GLENDALE

The Occidental Frosh-Glendale baseball game yesterday at Patterson Field proved to be a mere workout for the Tiger babes as they walloped the preps 14 to 3. The visitors sent four pitchers to the mound during the fray, but to no avail. The yearlings were swatting the ball so consistently that the game was called off after the seventh inning. Teachout for the yearlings pitched easy ball for the first five innings. Hitch took his place and continued to hold the Glendale nine to few hits. The frosh played errorless ball, only one being chalked up against them during the seven innings. Capt. Haserot did his usual daily performance by smashing out a homer, scoring two men ahead of him.

TROUBLE BREWS ON PENSION LAW

Argentina to be Menaced by General Strikes

Employees Plan to Refuse Short Wages

Passage of Measure is Laid to Politics

BY JOHN WHITE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUENOS AIRES, April 3.—Strikes, agitation and generally troublous times are expected throughout this month as the result of opposition of employees and laborers to having 5 per cent of their wages deducted under the 5 per cent old age pension law which was passed last January and which became effective Tuesday.

The first outbreak probably will be a general strike of port workers and inland waterway crews. Their union has decided to refuse to pay the quota demanded by the law.

Printers and workers in allied trades also have voted to refuse to accept wages when they are paid on the 5th inst., if the 5 per cent deduction is made.

The pension law is purely a political measure, it is charged, which provides that employers and employees each pay 5 per cent of all salaries for three years, at the end of which time another law will be passed providing how much may be paid in pensions on retirement and at what age employees may retire. In its present form the law makes no provision for retirements or pensions, merely decreeing the payment of quotas.

Both the President and the Finance Minister are understood to be opposed to the principle of the law, but they feel compelled to enforce it since it was passed by Congress.

The law was passed by the radical party in Congress which hoped to get votes. The counting of the ballots in the Buenos Aires election of March 22 last, has not yet been finished, but it indicates an overwhelming victory for the Socialists over the Radicals.

The Socialists are urging the laboring classes to use violent measures if necessary to oppose the pension law.

Business circles generally expect strikes and other troubles to be so numerous before the end of April that the President will be compelled to suspend the operation of the law and refer it to the new Congress which will convene on May 1.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE FOR OVERDUE VESSEL

BRITISH SHIP ARRIVES AT HONOLULU AFTER LONG STORMY TRIP

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, April 3.—Of the several overdue lumber schooners that have come into Honolulu harbor during the last several weeks none had caused more uneasiness than the British vessel Vancouver that is here after a tempestuous voyage of fifty days from Vancouver. It brought 1,200,000 feet of lumber, consigned to Sears & Smith of Seattle and Honolulu.

Ordinarily the time required for a sailing vessel to make the trip to Honolulu from Vancouver is thirty days. Due to terrific gales in the early part of the voyage and variable winds later on, much time was lost, according to Capt. H. C. Hansen, master and owner. On one stretch of the way it took twenty-nine days to make 300 miles. Sears & Smith had almost given up hope for the ship and her cargo. In response to an appeal made to United States naval authorities at Pearl Harbor, the latter sent a boat out to search for the Vancouver, but this hunt had only started when the Vancouver put in an appearance off Koko Head. A large amount of lumber was seen floating in the sea about 250 miles southwest of Honolulu by a trans-Pacific liner, and this fact added to the fear that the Vancouver had been swept out of her course and gone down. No explanation of the floating lumber has been made.

The schooner Commodore, owned by Lewers & Cooke of Honolulu, arrived here loaded with 1,200,000 feet of lumber, consigned to that firm. It made the run in forty days encountering severe weather much of the way.

RIVER PLAYS PRANK WITH FARM LANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAFFORD (Ariz.) April 3.—Estimate has been made by State Senator Kimball that fully 2000 acres of arable land have been lost to this locality within the last two months by the continuing ravages of the Gila River, and that 18,000 acres in all have disappeared downstream since about 1882. The stream bed, once only a stone's throw wide, now in one place is three miles wide, an expanse of boulders and sand where once was farming land. It is believed that the entire valley expanse is in danger unless flood control works be established.

CUSSING PARROT STARTS TROUBLE

READING (Pa.) April 3.—Police officials have served notice on Mrs. Harry Jefferies, owner of a Mexican parrot, that the bird must stop swearing at passers-by. The owner of the parrot denies it uses swear words and a controversy has resulted. The woman hangs the parrot in the front yard of her home next to the Young Women's Christian Association, and, according to complainants, its conversation knows no limits.

Consumption Now Can Be Cured

Dear Friends:

I wish to inform you that I have discovered a cure for consumption. The sickness which to this day has been believed incurable,—year after year taking away our loved ones—nothing in the world could save them.

All efforts and attempts to cure this disease have failed, but now it is not considered dangerous with the help of this new discovery which has been tested and proved to be successful. I have received a patent trade mark for twenty years.

In two weeks this medicine will get you out of bed and gain strength rapidly and pain will disappear. Your breathing will be normal and the cough will cease.

Mr. Joe Lee, Cuper Street, West Berkeley, California, will tell you what I have done for him. All the doctors gave him up and now he is a real healthy man.

Those wishing to see me personally will find me at 1835 Berkeley Way, Berkeley, California. Send letter by Post. I send without payment.

BLIND GIRL TAX NOW SET ASIDE

China Proposal to Get Cash Brings Indignation

Dr. Sun Yat Sen is Pressed Hard for Finances

Counterfeiting Plot Found Among His Troops

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VICTORIA (B. C.) April 3.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen has decided not to levy a tax on blind singing girls in Canton. His decision is in response to public indignation aroused at the recent announcement of that proposal by his Minister of Finance according to passengers arriving from the Orient on the Tokiwa Maru.

So hard pressed for money is the leader of the southern cause that every last resource of his ministers' ingenuity has been called upon to devise methods for raising cash with which to finance his campaigns and run his government. His plans have ranged from a threat to capture the Maritime Customhouse, which would have plunged China into conflict, it is said, with the western powers who control it in concert, and to prevent which a fleet of twenty-two foreign warships trained its guns on Sun Yat Sen's capital, to the proposal to levy on the pitiful wealth of blind singing girls.

Sun Yat Sen's most fertile source of money is his control of the sale and smoking of opium, exercised by his minions behind the smoke-screen of the so-called Anti-Opium Bureau. He now proposes to take over from his armies the monopoly of gambling in its manifold forms and to divert the huge income from this source directly to the government treasury. With this end in view he has announced the appointment of Gen. Fan Shek-sang of the Yunnanese troops as director of the fund-raising bureau which masks the activities of the gambling monopolists.

TURN TO COUNTERFEITING

Wholesale counterfeiting of silver coins is said to be another method used by Dr. Sun's troops to enrich themselves. For more than a year now the Canton government mint has been closed, and yet the southern metropolis has been flooded with shining new coins. Cantonese bankers and merchants for months have cajoled their brains and brow-beaten their detectives to discover the source of the quasi-silver flood. A courier's weakness for wine and gambling was finally the direct cause of the jealously-guarded secret.

He tarried long enough in a gambling saloon in Winghon Road to become embroiled in a brawl. When the authorities arrived to quell the riot they found his senseless body lying in a gutter outside. In his tunic was found an order from the ammunition factory of the Fourth Army of Hunnanese troops for the delivery of a new minting machine at a cost of $20,000.

Investigation revealed that the military arsenals had been counterfeiting silver coins for months instead of confining their activities to the manufacture of ammunition for the troops.

COUPLE'S TROUBLES ENDED IN WEDDING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OREGON CITY (Or.) April 3.—Dan Olauge, 18-year-old prisoner in the County Jail here under a charge of "child stealing," and Bessie Wilson, 16, the child he is alleged to have stolen, both of Visalia, Cal., had their troubles ended suddenly this morning through the efforts of Sheriff Wilson J. Wilson and some other folk.

The pair, arrested here on a telegraphic warrant from Visalia, declared to the Sheriff that they had run away from California to be married and were only waiting until they earned enough money to go to housekeeping to complete their plans. Sheriff Wilson telegraphed the girl's father and received consent to the wedding from him.

The Sheriff then spread the news in the jail and the prisoners made up a purse to buy a marriage license.

Rev. H. G. Edgar, former Presbyterian pastor here, performed the marriage ceremony. W. W. Woodbeck, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, acted as best man, and Courthouse stenographers acted as bridesmaids. The Courthouse girls also made up a purse to buy flowers and a few necessities for the bride.

Charges against the boy were dropped, he returned to his work in the mills and the bride, with the Sheriff's wife, went house hunting.

NEGRO LAW STUDENT IS GIVEN HINT

Hooded Demonstration on Columbia Campus is Thought to be Joke

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 3.—A dozen white-hooded men, bearing a wooden cross, alighted from an automobile on the Columbia University campus early this morning, planted the cross within view of Furnald Hall, in which Frederick W. Wells, a negro law student has recently taken up residence, saturated the cross with kerosene, ignited it, and fled.

Wells did not know of the demonstration, presumably against him, until students informed him. He declared that he meant to continue in the room, from which a few of his fellow dormitory residents sought last Tuesday to eject him through petition to the house committee of the dormitory.

The cross, which burned five minutes, was put out and demolished by a group of students who had been shoveling snow. It caused mild excitement in the dormitory. The university authorities will investigate the incident, which is generally regarded as the work of practical jokers.

MOTHER ON STAND IN SON'S SUIT FOR FUND

MRS. DRAPER TESTIFIES SHE TOOK OVER BOYS' ESTATE TO BENEFIT THEM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRANKFORT (Ky.) April 3.—Mrs. Lily Duncan Draper of Santa Barbara, Cal., took the stand in her defense in the civil suit in United States Court here today in the case brought by her son, George Otis Draper, Jr., 28 years of age, Lexington, Ky., alleging that his mother had appropriated a trust fund of approximately $200,000 given him by his father, George Otis Draper, Hopedale, Mass., on the date of his separation from young Draper's mother.

Mrs. Draper said under cross-examination that her son had not read the deeds of gift, signed by him on his twenty-first birthday, giving his mother the control of his estate.

She said when she and her husband separated there was provision made by the father for a trust of $125 a month for each of the two sons and $290 monthly for herself; that the total per month after many increases by the father came to $865 a month for the whole family.

The reason she wished the two boys to sign the estate over to her was that she "knew they would go through with it," and she said she "did as any mother would do, save it for them for their best interests."

She went to the trust company after the estate had been assigned to her and signed papers giving George Otis Draper, Jr., $200 a month from the trust fund and $50 from her personal fund, which arrangement, she said, is still in force. She took the sound advice of "many men" who told her to hold the money in trust and let her boys go to work.

"I did it to make men out of the boys," she said.

The other son is Henry Ducan Draper, now in Nice, France.

MISSING HOP GROWER COMES BACK ROBBED

FOUR MEN ARRESTED AFTER RANCHER'S STORY OF $1700 LOSS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—W. J. Ferry, Sacramento, a hop grower, with extensive ranches in Yolo county, for whom the police had been searching since last Tuesday, when Mrs. Ferry reported him as missing, turned up today at the police station here with a story of a three days' "party," with the climax occurring early today when he was transported to a lonely spot on the West Sacramento Road, Yolo county, and robbed of $1700.

Within an hour of Ferry's appearance at the police station the police had taken into custody Nick Martonish and George Corona, both of whom, the police say, admitted having participated with Ferry in a "party" at a roadhouse. Later, Jimmy Murphy and R. B. Montgomery were arrested in connection with the reported robbery.

FIGHTING BLOOD

H. C. WITWER

Well, I am talking to Mr. Brock one day a little while after Judy has apparently broke off diplomatic relations with me and, during the course of the conversation, I tell him I think I will leave Drew City flat on its back, as these small burgs cramps my style. Another thing, now that the sweetest girl in all the world has give me the air, why, I don't think they's enough opportunities in a trap like Drew City for a fellow of my speed. The way I checked up then I felt it wasn't going to be no great length of time before I retired from the ring and tried my luck in some game which is less wearing on the features. I had $5475 in the First National Bank, a $1800 chumpy roadster, and I was getting around five thousand fish every time I crawled through the ropes. So I figure I belonged in a hick burg like Drew City the same way a submarine belongs to a bath tub.

But to my great surprise Mr. Brock is against me leaving Drew City to take my chances in New York. He tells me the rumor that opportunity knocks once on every man's door is a true one, and a ambitious boy don't have to rush off to the city to make his fortune. He himself got his start in a small town, Irontown, Pa., where he's then president of the big locomotive works, after he'd starved trying to knock New York for a goal.

"The fallacy that success is to be found only in the big cities has sent many a promising young man home from them to his native village, beaten and discouraged," he says, chewing on a cigar which costs some heavy money but which, for some reason, he never lights.

"Some of them have then gone ahead to fame and fortune, proving, of course, that success is never matter of environment, but of the man! Knut Hamsun, who a couple of years ago won the $50,000 Nobel prize in literature, could rise no higher than a street-car conductor in Chicago. Lipton drove a horse car in New Orleans, Clemenceau started as a teacher in New York, Masefield was a bartender there. Yet all those men, giving up the struggle in the big cities, returned to their home towns and made their names known to the far corners of the earth! You can do the same, Galen. Never mind New York—the cities have broken far more men than they've ever made! Look about you here, where you have friends and an open, clean record of progress under the most adverse conditions. There's less competition in Drew City and when you discover your 'trick,' as you call it, you will find an interested and sympathetic audience. I, for one, am always ready to give you my attention and help!"

Well, after that I just changed New York right out of my mind, and I bet you would of, too. With a man like that in my corner I'd be a dumbell indeed to leave Drew City without making a two-handed attempt to put myself over in it, now, wouldn't I?

Well, the day I am to swap wallops with Wild Bill Killoran finally rolls around, as days will, and we break camp at noon, so's to be ready to leave Drew City on $5, the 4:06 p.m. local. As usual, Mr. Brock has a ringside box, and he takes Spence and a party of friends from Wall street with him, so I'm anxious to win this battle in big time, as whenever I do Mr. Brock beams around at his friends and acts like he had win the fight himself.

I'm all packed and ready to leave my room when they comes a familiar knock on the door—a knock which makes me drop my suit case and gets me tingling all over. I flang the door wide open and there's Judy, smiling at me like she did the first time I ever seen her nearly three years before, standing in the same spot. It's a funny thing, but although I see Judy nearly every day of my life I just can't get used to her pulse-quickening beauty and take her as a matter of course. Every time she comes near me I get a thrill, I do for a fact! So I just stand there and gape at her like a boob, and I guess my face must of been a show window for my feelings, because she gets a very becoming shade of red.

"I—I just wanted to wish you luck, Gale," she says. "You will be careful of your jaw, won't you? I—I'd rather have you lose than get hurt!"

"Thanks, Judy," I says. "I'm sure fine of you to give me a—eh—to care what happens to me, and you coming up to say good-by was all I needed to put me in perfect condition for this scuffle. I ain't going to lose, and I ain't going get hurt, either. I'll just go in there thinking of you and I'll put this Killoran out for so long that when he comes to his shoes won't fit him!"

Judy laughs, and then she gives me a look which starts my heart trying the difficult feat of leaping right out through my ribs. It looks like anything might happen, when this big stiff, Nate Shapiro, bawls up the stairs for me to snap into it or I'll miss the train. What do I care about missing a train when they's a chance of me getting in right with Judy again? Say—I'd miss a whole railroad for one smile from this pantie!

Well, like it says in the old pome, "'Twas a balmy summer's evening and a goodly crowd was there" when I crawl through the ropes at the Eureka A.C. with the intentions of knocking Mr. Wild Bill Killoran for a row of shanties. Kayo Kelly and "Two-Punch" Jackson is looking after me and I get a pretty fair hand from the mob as I sit down on my stool. I see Spence and his father in their box and we exchange hand waves, and a little farther back I picks out Rags Dempster with some of his cronies. In this case stony stares is exchanged. Wild Bill Killoran is already in the ring, and from where I sit he looks like a tough egg, he does for a fact! The weight is announced as 162½ for me and 174 for my charming adversus. This draws some moans from the crowd, but a twelve-pound handicap means nothing in my young life. I figure I'll soon cut Wild Bill down to my size and, after that, a little lower.

Wild Bill starts right out after my goat when we get called to the middle of the ring for instructions. "Do I walk to my corner and wait for the count every time I knock this guy down?" he says to the referee.

"Be yourself, you big boloney!" I snarled. "The only thing you ever knocked down in your life is nickels when you was a street-car conductor. You'll get out of here tonight on a shutter!"

"Shut up!" says the referee to both of us. "Fight with your hands!"

Then the fun began.

Wild Bill shows where he got his name by charging out of his corner like a wounded lion at the bell. He was short with a terrific right swing, and when I duck under his left it whizzed by the panic-stricken referee's ear only missing him by a scant inch and dumb luck! The crowd howls with joy. I leaped in with a hard left to the head and shot a stiffer right to the heart before Wild Bill knew what it was all about. He looked surprised and began backing to the ropes, with me following, cautiously. "C'mon, fight!" I grin at him, and he answered with a murderous right hook to the body which shook me from head to toe and satisfied me that he was one sweet socker and not no bonbon eater by no means! I dove into a clinch, and, when the referee broke us, Nate yells for me to box and not slug. I nod my head and begin to left-hand Wild Bill all over the ring. Killoran couldn't cope with me at this, and in a minute he's tincanning from pillar to post, with me following him up and cutting him to ribbons. Following Nate's instructions, I clinched every time Wil Bill tried to mix matters up, and the bell found us in mid ring, with me pecking away at Wild Bill's crimson profile and Wild Bill punching holes in the air. I runs to my corner with a broad smile on my face, a smile I had worn since the opening bell.

But the hard-boiled mob which had give up their jack to see assault and battery give me the royal raspberry for boxing Killoran instead of standing toe to toe and slugging with him. During the rest, some of 'em howled for me to take a chance, and I remarked to Nate that I'm going out in the second frame and see who can hit the hardest, me or Wild Bill.

"You'll do nothin' of the kind!" snaps Nate, sponging me off. "You do what I tell you, never mind the crowd—we're fightin' this baby, not them cheap squawkers out there! Keep makin' him miss and he'll soon tire. Box him. And lookit, take 'at grin off your pan! It don't mean nothin', and it'll get you a razzin' when this guy shakes you up and you forget to smile. They'll holler: "Where's 'at smile now, Smith?' and it'll rattle you. You do the fightin' and let me do the laughin', get me?"

Killoran comes out fast for the second round, but I kept beating him to the punch, stabbing him in the face with my left time after time and then crossing my right to wherever I see a opening. About a minute after the bell, I socked Killoran flush on the jaw with a short inside right and his knees buckled under him. The customers shriek for me to knock him for a row of silos, but he's hanging on to me with both arms like he's drowning. It took the referee quite a spell to tear Wild Bill away from me, and when he did let go his head come up and bumped mine, opening up a old cut ever my right eye.

The referee warns him and the crowd hisses, but none of that stops the blood from that cut from blinding me on that side of my face. This butting business gets me red-headed and I tied into Killoran with everything I had in stock! I shot my left to his bobbing head five times without a return and then took a glancing right to the jaw to bury my own right in his stomach. Wild Bill stumbled away and crashed to the mat, face down. When they drop from a body punch they're hurt, and that's a fact! Remember that the next box fight you see. He managed to beat the count and was braced against the ropes, set for a trip to dreamland, when the bell rang.

Daily Massacre of the Persians

Mr. K. A. Bistany takes pleasure in presenting the following little story to the many well-to-do residents of Los Angeles, Pasadena and vicinity—

By E. G. Fitzhamon

Without shedding a drop of blood, two Syrians of noble lineage and one genial American are unmercifully massacring hordes of Persians, Kashans and Kirmanshahs every afternoon and evening!

Right here, too! In this sunny and peaceful "City of Angels."

No, sirree! This being Los Angeles, these Persians are being held up and knocked down!

First, these Persians are held up for people with real money to bid on. Then they are knocked down by the auctioneer, who is none other than that famous left-handed golfer, H. Taylor Curtis.

Ah! You have guessed it! These Persians are rare, imported rugs.

A wonderful collection of rugs imported by K. A. Bistany, otherwise known in the trade as "the Rug King."

Here's how they are massacred.

"This magnificent Royal Kashan rug was priced to retail at $7500," announced H. Taylor Curtis yesterday afternoon. "What am I offered?"

Two minutes later he knocked down this beautiful creation to a mighty lucky lady—a Mrs. Seymour—for only $1930. A wonderful buy!

That was the best buy since they bought Runstar in the mutuals just before the big horse-race at Tia Juana.

The same lady also got a lovely little $85 rug. "Sold to Mrs. Seymour for seventeen dollars," quoth Taylor Curtis.

Leonard Woodruff—one of those lucky oil men, he is—happened to step into the Taylor Curtis Galleries at 1007 West Seventh Street just at the right time to pick up two Persian rugs, priced to retail at $400 and $300, for such trifling sums at $90 and $85.

Then a movie actress, who would not like her name mentioned, because of the publicity, grabbed off for $57 a charming $350 Shiraz rug.

Morgan Lloyd—one of those clever "realtors," as they call themselves nowadays—strolled in just when an $850 beauty was held up. And Taylor Curtis knocked it down to Morgan Lloyd's bid of only $325.

Another lucky guy bid $71 and got an amazing $350 Kirmanshah piano-rug that is guaranteed to have four hundred knots in it!

Some knotty rug, I'll say.

And that's the way these Persians are being massacred. And it's a knotty problem what to buy—so plentiful are the bargains.

At last night's sale a bargain-hound carried off a pretty little twelve-dollar rug for three "iron men." As she was leaving with it tucked under an arm, Mr. K. A. Bistany offered to buy the little rug for twice what she had paid for it. "Not on your life," she chortled.—[Advertisement.

PASADENA STILL AT WAR ON KLAN

Fifth Member is Suspended from Police Force

Feeling Reaches High Pitch With New Discharge

Officer "Proud to Suffer Religious Persecution"

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, April 3.—A fifth police officer of the Pasadena department was today suspended by Charles H. Kelley, Chief of Police, for alleged insubordination and for belonging to the Ku Klux Klan. George W. Hamilton, veteran officer on the local force and well known throughout the city, is the fifth victim of Pasadena's war on the hooded organization.

Following his discharge today Hamilton wrote a statement for the press in which he charged Chief Kelley with impertinence and interfering with his personal rights as an American citizen.

FEELING RUNS HIGH

Feeling in the Ku Klux Klan fight rose to the highest pitch today with the discharge of Officer Hamilton. Other officers recently discharged for the same reasons are J. B. Edwards, J. W. Cheshire, I. V. Thorpe and C. C. McClanahan. Officer Jonathan Royce was also discharged from the force today, but according to the chief, it was not for affiliation with the Klan.

City Manager Koiner issued an order prohibiting any member of the Pasadena police force to join the Klan soon after the Inglewood riot. The officers discharged, it is asserted, joined the Klan knowing they were violating the City Manager's orders. Mr. Koiner is sustaining Chief Kelley in every move he makes in the investigation.

OFFICER'S STATEMENT

In a statement to the City Manager and City Directors Hamilton says in part:

"The Chief of Police, Charles H. Kelley, is demanding to know the identity of the members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan now holding office on the police force of Pasadena, and is demanding this information from me.

"I consider this demand as irrelevant and having no bearing whatever on the loyal and accurate discharge of my duties as a member of the Pasadena police force. The inquiry constitutes an impertinence to my personal rights as a law-abiding American citizen.

"If I am to be discharged for belonging to this white Christian organization I am proud to suffer persecution for my religious faith."

Garage Also Burned in Pasadena Fire With Loss Estimated $35,000

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, April 3.—A garage and an airplane factory at 44-46 West Green street were completely destroyed by flames just before dawn this morning. Damage was estimated at $35,000 to the buildings.

"Tal," the famous sail plane built by students of the California Institute of Technology, and which was being tested by the government, was completely burned.

The fire originated in the Barnhart Aircraft, Inc., which occupied the upper floors of the garage owned by G. W. Rutan. A recently completed biplane, two gliders, three airplane motors and a large number of valuable drawings were completely destroyed. Six automobiles stored in the garage were saved.

Police and firemen of this city now investigating the loss are unable to determine the cause of the blaze, which threatened a whole business block of garages and factories.

A number of firemen barely escaped injury when the burning floor of the airplane factory caved in upon them. The building is owned by Wopschall Brothers, 360 South Raymond avenue.

CROSSING IS DENIED

Seen as Reason for Plan to End Canyon's Car Line

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, April 3.—According to advices received at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters here, the Railroad Commission has refused a grade crossing to the Pacific Electric Company at Santa Monica Canyon. This was said to be the reason behind the company's desire to quit passenger service on this line.

It was learned this morning that it would be necessary to expend more than $200,000 for the construction of an overhead crossing at this point, and that the railway company does not regard that much investment as justified at this time.

The Railroad Commission is now considering an application of the Pacific Electric Company for permission to quit passenger service on this section of its airline.

CHURCHMEN CLASH OVER FILMS' USE

Moving Pictures as Aid to Services Scored by Minister

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, April 3.—Pastors who resort to the motion picture to lure a backward congregation to church were upbraided by Rev. Chester R. Montague, pastor of the Fullerton Baptist Church, who launched the discussions today before the annual conference of the Orange County Council of Religious Education meeting at that city.

When C. W. Cook, teacher of a class at the South Main-street Methodist Church of Los Angeles, sought to uphold motion pictures in the church the discussion waxed warm.

LONG BEACH, April 3.—"I dare you to shoot."

That was the response Julian Strauss, a tailor at 437 American avenue, received from James McCoy when he covered the latter with a revolver and ordered a clerk in the store to call the police.

But McCoy didn't remain long enough to see if Strauss would take the dare for he turned on his heels and fled from the store. Patrolman F. L. Brown, who had been summoned, took up the chase, which led through the entire downtown section. McCoy was captured and taken to police headquarters, where it was learned he had endeavored to pass an alleged worthless check on Strauss for $42.

After proffering the check to Strauss the latter became suspicious and called up the bank on which the check was drawn, with the result, he told police, that he learned the check was worthless. It was then that he covered McCoy with a revolver and told his clerk to call the police.

McCoy is 30 years of age and lives at 757 Loma Vista avenue. Police are now looking up his activities here with a view to learning whether or not he has victimized other merchants.

LAW ATTACKED BY TRUCK MEN

Appeal Taken from Court Ruling on Writ

Private Contract Haulers Subject at Issue

Commission Said to Have Power in Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, April 3.—War among truck operators of Redlands district will end before the California Supreme Court.

After frequent outbursts, war reached the Superior Court here today in the form of application for a writ of habeas corpus by G. E. Davenport, arrested three weeks ago on charges of operating a truck in private contract hauling without first obtaining certificate issued by the State Railroad Commission. Permitting case to reach the State courts, Superior Judge Warmer denied writ and an appeal, financed by dependent truck owners, was taken.

TO ATTACK VALIDITY

In the appeal the truck men will attack the constitutionality of the State motor vehicle carriers act. Briefly, the law requires that operators obtain a certificate from the commission before operating over State highways.

In the appeal, the owners contend that there is no power in the transportation act to compel a private contract hauling is a "public convenience and necessity" for his hauling before operating and that, further, a certificate, is issued, it does not give the operator as a common carrier with set routes and named rates. It is also contended that the commission has no constitutional right to interfere with the performance of a private contract.

WAR FOR WEEKS

Davenport was arrested while hauling citrus fruits by one truck from Redlands to Wilmington for the Elephant Orchards, Inc.

For weeks, the war between private hauling contractors and the operators on established routes under supervision of the Railroad Commission has been the cause. Scores of hearings before the commission have been held.

SAN FERNANDO FRUIT MEN WILL ORGANIZE

The purpose of the proposed society will be for mutual benefit and may result in co-operative methods for marketing much after the manner of the walnut growers.

NO SILVER FOR THREE CLOUDS

Trio of Major Industries in Unfavorable Positions

Unwise Expansion Hurts Farm Implement Business

Hide and Leather; Chemical-Fertilizer Affected

BY GLEN GRISWOLD
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, April 3.—Three major industries in this country are in an unfavorable position which borders on distress. They are the hide and leather, chemical and fertilizer and farm implement businesses. It is worthy of note that all three are in intimate relation with agriculture. Just now the implement business occupies the center of the stage.

This week three important items of news in connection with the implement business have been made public. The bankruptcy of the Avery company revealed the complete collapse of what was once a great implement corporation. It is gone beyond recall and no attempt will be made to resurrect it. Although its common stock was quoted at 1-2 to 3 and its preferred at 9 to 12 they have no asset value whatever. It will be good fortune indeed if the current liabilities and bank notes of the company can be liquidated.

The Advance Rumely Company presented a report which showed a loss of $250,000 after a small net income had been achieved in 1922.

The third item of news is a matter of contrast and seems to demonstrate the fundamental ill of the industry. International Harvester officials have said that the annual report of the company will show the full dividend earned for the first time in several years. It is worth noting that but a small part of the real net of this income arises out of implement operations. Other and rather incidental functions, such as business in binder twine and sisal, enable the company to present a favorable report.

OVEREXTENSION

Not only is the implement industry too largely overextended, but a majority of the companies in the business have come to more or less grief by unwise expansion. Companies which for generations have had national reputations and enjoyed reasonable prosperity by virtue of excellence in the production of a single group of farm tools have expanded and continually added to their lines, each trying to develop into a miniature International Harvester Company. Today a dozen leading implement makers are selling a volume of tools that could be manufactured without trouble in the plants of three of them.

This expansion of the implement business, particularly in the West, began during the war when there was developed a tremendous enthusiasm for the tractor business. Tractor factories sprang up everywhere and companies that had specialized in plows or wagons or binders turned to tractors. Of course, the result was that eventually uncounted acres all over the country were covered with rusting tractors that were never sold and the industry awoke to discover that Mr. Ford and the International Harvester Company had most of the tractor business.

Then came the three-year period ended midway in 1920 when farmers had great prosperity forced upon them as a result of the war and implement makers were induced to expand beyond anything they had dreamed heretofore. In this expansion they undertook to add as much as possible to the competition they must meet by multiplying the lines they manufactured. Since that time the industry has been hanging on, hoping each year that the next would see a revival of farm prosperity and farm buying. That hope is waning rapidly, however. By a minimum overhead and the most intensive sort of corporate management the International Harvester Company is able to make a living. Some other companies which stuck to the few lines in which they had long been specialists are able to make a similar showing. The industry as a whole, however, suffered much in 1923.

Every sought bankruptcy because its officials and its bankers could not hope for any better business in 1924 than that of the year just ended. Cyrus H. McCormick, chairman of the board of the International Harvester Company, said yesterday that the company hopes and expects to do as well in 1924 as in 1923 but that he is not optimistic and expects no improvement this year over last.

PLAYING IT SAFE

The Moline Plow Company, once a great company whose name was known to every farmer in the country, suffered at least as much as the average of the industry, but long-ago foresaw what is now happening. That company proceeded to sell a considerable part of its plant capacity to restrict its lines materially, concentrate on the business in which its reputation was made and prepare for the future. It is in much better shape today than other small companies which suffered equally with it in 1921 and 1922. The John Deere Company made some money last year and is in a better situation than the average of the industry because it went back to the plow business that made the name of Deere famous, trimmed its sails and prepared for a storm.

The prospect is that in 1924 the implement business will be very well liquidated and the weak companies terminated. Those that survive should be in stronger position than at any time in ten years and will benefit abundantly by the affluence that must eventually come to agriculture.

In fairness to the bankers and investors who have financed the industry and who will lose most by its reorganization it must be admitted that they had every right to expect a greater measure of agricultural recovery than was experienced in 1923 and a better prospect for 1924. Some of these companies have had working capital restored several times, in the hope of a farm revival. That hope has been dissipated so far as the next year is concerned and the probability is that any company which cannot survive on its present capital structure will be reorganized.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Doubling Stock Yard Capacity; Imperial Progress; First "Cants" Here; Business News

Doubling of the present cattle capacity of the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards was announced yesterday by J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager, after the conclusion of an inspection trip through the yards and surrounding territory by J. A. Spoor, chairman of the board, and an officer of the Chicago Stock Yards Company; Eugene V. R. Thayer, a director of the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago; Halsey E. Poronto, president of the Central Manufacturing District and vice-president of the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards, and Arthur G. Leonard, president of the stock-yards company.

The expansion plans call for the same modern construction as used in the original yards. Features of the new work, which will begin immediately, include heavy concrete pavement and troughs throughout; patent latches and locks; special arrangement for gates, and every modern facility for prompt and safe handling of live stock, with plugs for fire protection and for use in general cleaning work. The concrete work in the alleyways will be corrugated to prevent animals from slipping.

The Los Angeles Union Stock Yards is fully equipped with modern pens, buildings and other facilities for feeding, weighing, sorting and otherwise caring for cattle, sheep, horses and mules, while awaiting sale, or stopping in transit for feed and rest. Facilities are also provided for branding, dipping, dehorning and immunising.

PRIDE OF IMPERIAL

Succinct facts on Imperial county are contained in a statement prepared by James T. Coyle, secretary of the El Centro Chamber of Commerce, in which Imperial is described as "third fastest growing county in the United States and the richest producing area in the world." The total assessed property value in 1923 is shown at $44,753,084, compared to $12,145,180 in 1910. In addition to the 1923 figures, school property has an assessed value of $2,600,000.

Mr. Coyle's tabulation indicates that the population of the county was nil in 1900, but in 1910, the population numbered 13,591; in 1920 43,383, and for 1923, it is estimated at 55,000. The progress of the county is traceable directly to irrigation, and the statement shows that the total number of irrigated acres in 1912 was 242,110, which compares with 531,674 in 1923. The annual irrigation-district tax is $2.50 per $100 valuation.

Tremendous increases in acreage from 1910 are reflected in the tabulation of crop areas. Alfalfa takes the greatest acreage, amounting to 106,158 in 1923 and 82,703 in 1910. Barley acreage in 1923 was 65,806; cotton, 54,653; cantaloupes, 23,989; milo 23,769; lettuce, 14,132; grapefruit, 1950; asparagus, 1093; tomatoes, 1195, and wheat, watermelons, grapes peas, strawberries and spinach account for the remainder of the irrigated acres.

Cantaloupe shipments were the largest of any of the Imperial county crops in 1923, the total reaching 13,026 cars. Lettuce was next with 7730 cars and watermelons third with 2356 cars.

The county has 34,571 head of range cattle and 35,250 dairy cows, 28,380 hogs, 54,417 sheep, 11,671 dozens of poultry and 9566 stands of bees. It produces 6,500,000 pounds of butter and 400,000 pounds of honey, estimated. Bearing fruit trees include 31,500 grapefruit; 6540 dates; 4675 pears, 3200 olives; 2196 apricots and others.

WHAT THE WORLD WANTS

Commodities of a diverse character are sought in the United States this week by foreign purchasers. Reports reaching the Department of Commerce from American trade envoys in the principal commercial centers of the world disclose markets for American products in thirty-three countries.

The Netherlands is in the markets for skates and wants to purchase 1000 pairs. Rice is needed in France and that country wants to purchase in ten to twenty consignments. Egypt inquires for the purchase of a complete logging cableway. Portugal includes a request for an irrigation plant.

Agricultural products, raw materials, and manufactured goods are included in the list of trade openings ranging from radio sets to cheese and including coal, hydrogen peroxide, napkins, plumbing supplies, ball bearings, tools, skins and leather, candles, automobiles, pianos, steel rails lumber and stationery.

CO-OPERATIVE LEAGUE

Investors in the Co-operative League of America have been informed by Commissioner of Corporations Edwin M. Daugherty that he had been advised that this company is in the hands of a receiver and any claims they might have against same should be filed with Rily C. Adams of Portland, Ind., trustee in bankruptcy.

Mr. Daugherty further advises that this company, operating a 2 per cent frontline plan, never had a permit from his department, but it has come to his notice that through the mails they have sold some of their contracts.

FIRST CANTALOUPES

The first car of cantaloupes received in the Los Angeles market and the second in the United States arrived yesterday from Los Mochis, Sinaloa, Mex., and were sold by Kingsbaker Brothers Company, the first crate going to the Biltmore Hotel. The cantaloupes were grown by Japanese, formerly of the Imperial Valley, who migrated to Mexico and are entering upon the planting of a large acreage to meet the demand for early cantaloupes. The first car from Mexico was diverted to New York City.

DIVIDEND NOTICE

According to official notice received by Blyth, Witter & Co., the Nevada-California Electric Corporation has declared the regularly quarterly dividend of $1.75 per share on its preferred stock for the quarter ending March 31, 1924. Dividend will be paid May 1, 1924, to stockholders of record at the close of business March 31, 1924.

CALLED BONDS

The Bank of Italy announces that the Hershey Chocolate Company intends to redeem on May 1, 1924, $1,442,000 of its first mortgage sinking fund 8 per cent bonds due 1942. The redemption price is 104.

CERTIFIED ROYALTIES

The annual meeting of Certified Royalties of California was held in the offices of the company, 1007 South Grand avenue. Satisfaction was expressed by the stockholders with the dividends received for the year. The following shareholders were re-elected to serve on the board of directors: Paul B. Low, H. W. Grassle, Mrs. Clinton C. Buck and J. B. Low, M. D.

AS OTHERS SEE IT

SEVERE DEPRESSION

Conditions, on the other hand, cannot be interpreted as indicating the imminence of flush times. Business is too wary to be stampeded in either direction. Favorable developments will help business activity probably only in an orderly manner. In the same measure, if the political situation continues to disrupt sentiment, business will undoubtedly slide off further—but there is no indication at the present time that a period of severe depression is before us.—[The Investor, Morgan, Livermore & Co.

IRRIGATION—PROSPERITY

Whatever else may be said, the prosperity of the Pacific region depends largely on the water supply. The lack of moisture in some localities during the passing winter emphasizes the need of definite attention to irrigation projects and unwavering devotion to well-directed efforts toward bringing about more abundant water supply, where it can be used most advantageously. It matters not whether we live outside or inside the immediate zones to be benefited. Indirectly irrigation throughout the Pacific States will help all of us. Let's keep pounding away on this subject until State and national governments are completely won over to every legitimate need for additional water development.—[Pacific Business.

BONDS ARE STRONGER

Trading in the bond market showed signs of betterment. Opinions were openly expressed in financial circles that the next few weeks would show a decided improvement in bond market activity. The low money rates prove that there is a great amount of surplus money lying around idle which will most probably go into bonds. New offerings during the week totaled $29,119,500, of which $17,950,000 were in public utility issues. — [Investment Bulletin, Henry L. Doherty & Co.

MORE BARK THAN BITE

So far as outward signs go, the uneasiness developed in business circles by the muckraking in Washington has not been entirely abated, but close observers believe that the worst of the reaction to the attack on the probity of the dominant leaders inherited by President Coolidge has been reached and that the market already has completed its discounting of the hesitancy in business. It was more a fear of what might happen to business than any genuine development of a disturbing nature. Nothing that has been brought out has tended to involve the President, nor does any part of the disjointed story spun by the various witnesses who have garrulously mixed assertions of alleged fact with fanciful interpretations and fantastic innuendoes tended to suggest that anything of a similar nature exists now. To borrow the slang of the younger generation, "It's all old stuff."—[Springs & Co., New York.

COTTON ADVANCES ON NEW BUYING IMPETUS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Cotton futures moved into new high ground for the current upswing in dealings on the local exchange today, continued aggressive trade and spot buying and short covering purchases contributing to the advance. The May option at today's high was within a few points of the 30-cent level, as compared with its low of 26.45 last Thursday. Opening 15 to 25 points higher when better foreign news and more cheerful reports from good centers encouraged heavy buying, the list advanced 1-4 to 1-2 cents a pound. Around 29 1-2 for May, however, offerings increased, checking the advance. A continued strong undertone was present throughout the session and prices again worked higher despite professional selling on every bulge. Absorption of this sort of selling was free and caused comment among speculators. The finish was 57 to 54 points higher for May and July and 27 and 20 higher for October and December.

WOOL MARKET

[Furnished by the United State Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in co-operating with the California Department of Agriculture, Division of Markets.]

BOSTON, April 3.—While business on the wool market is quiet in general a fair amount of trading has been in progress during the past week. Prices on the whole have remained unchanged although a slight easing tendency developed toward the close of the week. Sales were consummated at little lower figures on some fine grades of Ohio and Delaines which have been held very firm at 57 in the grease were moved at 56. Transactions in other grades of similar count showed little tendency. A sizeable lot of fleece wool was taken by a manufacturer late in the week. Several fair sized lots of territory wools were also moved. Pulled wools are more quiet. All lines of noils continue to be in demand. Although contractions in the west in wools were quiet the growers are very firm in their asking prices. The continued strength shown in foreign markets is the cause of much comment from all branches of the industry. The export of foreign wools held in bond at this port is showing some increase although the total amount on hand March 1 was a total of 532,000 pounds in round numbers all conditions was cleared for export through the local customs for the week ending March 29.

Domestic Wools—Fleece: The stocks of fleece wools are quite low in some of the larger houses. Small lots were consummated during the week of half blood stock similar to Ohio and Pennsylvania at 56 in the grease average quarter blood at 53 cents. Deliveries of the same group were offered at a figure around 1.20 per scoured pound. Territory: While the market for territory wools in general has been quiet through the week, some business has been transacted regularly. Prices are slightly easier, lots of good staple wools having been offered at around $1.40 per scoured pound. The sales of staple wools, however, have been in small amount.

Foreign Wools: Foreign lines showed some activity locally during the week. A sale of 644 New Zealand was consummated on the basis of 59 to 62 cents clean. BA 56 also moved but the amount was small. Foreign markets continue very strong. Europe is a buyer of wool and notably in about every country of the world. While the amounts purchased in the United States are not large some volumes has continued to go out of American markets for export each week since January 1. Australia reports that estimates place the new clip at about 10 per cent less as last year that buyers expect that the new clip will lack the quality of last year's wool. Brisbane sales showed advances around 5 per cent. Sydney, Japan and the continent being the principal buyers. Sydney; except for the few good wools remaining at this point the supplies suitable for the United States are said to be well sold up. The most recent sale at Sydney showed prices well maintained but the selection desirable due to the approach of the season.

Prices Unchanged

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, April 3.—Fine domestic wools have developed little more inquiry, and sales have increased slightly. Prices are unchanged. However, some lots have been offered at 1 cent figure. Three-eighths blood clothing wools in the grease, similar to Ohio and Pennsylvania, moved at a little below 60 cents per pound.

TRAVELOGUE OF AN ECONOMIST

Los Angeles Researcher One Day from Home

Politics, Einstein and Auto Tax Have the Floor

Proposed Home Loan Bill Up for Discussion

BY D. M. MAYNARD
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) April 1.—One day out on my research "swing around the circle" and not a word in either smoking-room or library car has mentioned the oil scandal.

One man ventured the opinion that the new Crosser bill, to establish a national home loan system (something on the order of the farm loan system) would be a "law product" of the present session of Congress. However, he was obliged to retire before a volley of questions relating to the price level of building materials, and the utility of building lots at their present quotations. He admitted as he retired that perhaps he should have said the proposed measure would be much discussed.

An interesting fellow-traveler gave me something to think about when I attempted to draw him out about Washington news. When I said him I had only superficially read of Einstein's theory, he suggested that some things had four dimensions (like a man—height, breadth, thickness and age,) and that some had three (like a motion picture on a screen—height, width and duration of appearance,) but, he added, there will be but one dimension covering the Congressional announcements of the next forty or fifty days, viz.: either "gestures," or "downright assertions." The thought has possibilities. In the main it means that the bulk of the announcements will be gestures and we must be clear enough to see through them. We must avoid being disturbed, for it looks as though some new inquiries with a dash in them are about to start.

However, it is encouraging to remember that at least 95 per cent of our government facilities are operating without distortion or neglect.

Another thought: I just ran onto some statistics and facts about one type of transportation in California that each person in our State should know about to protect his own interests. From February 1, 1923, to January 31, 1924, there was a total of 43,527 motor trucks registered in our State; 15,065 of them were recorded as in Los Angeles county, 6300 in San Francisco county, 3043 in Fresno county, etc. All very interesting and inspiriting, but, and this is vital, only about 1 per cent of these registered motor trucks pay the 4 per cent tax imposed by the Duval bill. Possibly you will say that means nothing to you, but let me tell you it does. It means that your highways and mine, used as a money-saving media by all of those trucks, cannot be kept in the repair they should have unless all of the trucks pay the law-levied 4 per cent tax.

It is to the interest of every person, whether an auto owner, business man or what not, to help the machinery of that law function by patronizing only the motor-truck man who pay the tax. It merely means that by a little effort on the individual's part, 4 per cent of the motor-truck freight charges he pays can go to the repair of the highways. Furthermore, if the individual takes that trouble, the law is made operative without overload cost, and therefore more goes into highway repair.

SHINGLE MARKET PICKS UP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 3.—The shingle industry of British Columbia, seriously depressed a few months ago, has taken a new lease of life, and a large volume of business has commenced to come into the mills. Cheap cedar logs have been put into reasonable priced shingles, and the Central States and Atlantic seaboard markets have placed orders for sufficient product to keep the mills operating for six weeks.

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Lead

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Speculative interest in today's irregularly high curb market again centered in the oil shares with the strength and activity of the South American issues featuring that group.

Creole Syndicate, which overshadowed all other oils in the point of activity, touched a new high record at 9¾ on rumors that the Gulf Oil Corporation was negotiating for concessions on some of the Venezuelan properties. Gains in most of other active shares were limited to fractions while Standard Oil of Ohio, South Pennsylvania and Magnolia Petroleum advanced 2 to 3½ points on odd lot transactions.

The outstanding development in the industrial group was the trading in the new Studebaker stock on a "when issued" basis, about 3000 shares changing hands between 37½ and 38¾, the stock closing near the top. Dubilier Radio and Lehigh Valley Coal rights each dropped more than a point on profit-taking.

Principal activity in the mining list centered in the newly listed Ray Copper, which, closed slightly higher on 113 on total transactions of more than 25,000 shares.

Fellowing are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 634 South Spring street.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Higher Prices

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 3.—Under the leadership of speculative railroad issues and standard public utility liens, bond prices today worked into higher grounds. While changes generally held within narrow limits, the market responded readily to lower rates for money which was in plentiful supply and buying was well distributed throughout the list.

Obligations of the carriers were the favorites in the trading, with substantial gains recorded by Southern Pacific collateral 4s, Missouri Pacific 6s, Louisville and Nashville 5s, Atlantic Coast Line 4s and International and Great Northern Adjustment 6s. Brisk activity again developed in the St. Paul issues, which moved into new high ground although the advances were small.

Recovery of Wickwire Spencer 7s, which moved about 4 points above yesterday's close, was attributed to the support of interests close to the company which absorbed the few bonds which were offered. Copper bonds displayed an improved tone and International Mercantile Marine 6s moved up more than a point on the strength of shipping stocks.

Reports were current that financial assistance to Belgium would take the form of a long-term loan instead of a temporary credit. While J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Guaranty Trust Company were named as likely bankers in the case, another syndicate was said to be preparing to bid for the business. Local bankers have been awarded $3,000,000 South Carolina ten months notes on a 3.50 per cent basis.

The Pan-American Petroleum Company's Stone No. 1 well at Catalina street and Vine avenue in the signal Hill field reached the 5396-foot level yesterday and now stands as the widest deep hole in the Long Beach field. The hole has a diameter of nine and three-quarters inches at the bottom.

The usual diameter of deep wells in the local field is around seven inches. The Stone is a prospect well put down by the Doheny interests in the Catalina-Vine-street territory and, although not officially confirmed by company officials, it is reported that the well has shown oil strata at higher levels. The company plans to drill deeper for a thorough test of the district.

Six Signal Hill wells were being prepared for production yesterday. Running-in of oil string has begun at the Graham No. 1 on Walnut avenue. The well will be brought in from the 3662-foot level following failure to remove a "fish" from below that depth.

United Oil Company is running tubing in Pan-Hellenic No. 1, preparatory to making a production test at the 4450-foot level. The same company is bailing for production in Bixby No. 1, the Los Cerritos test hole.

The Pan-American interests yesterday started bailing for production in the Anderson No. 3 from the 5085-foot level.

Two Petroleum Midway wells have completed drilling and are preparing for production. These are the Davidson No. 4, at 4300 feet and the Field No. 1 at 4837 feet.

Interstate Oil Company's Olsen No. 2, which, two days ago, picked up an excellent showing at the 4400-foot level, is drilling ahead at 4474 feet with a continuation of the showings, yesterday's reports revealed.

A depth of 3440 feet has been reached by the Regina Judd No. 2 on the nine-acre Judd community lease. The Judd No. 1 is doing about 250 barrels a day.

Crude Output Gains

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States increased 5550 barrels for the week ended March 29, totaling 1,912,400 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,355,400 barrels, a decrease of 2950. California production was 654,000 barrels, an increase of 8500.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended March 29 were 204,143 barrels, compared with 297,000 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports were 119,000 barrels, compared with 143,143 for the previous week.

Gulf Coast crude grade "A" was advanced 20 cents a barrel to $2; grade "B" 20 cents a barrel to $1.70. There were no other changes reported for the major districts — Mid-continent being quoted from $1.25 to $2.25 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil; Pennsylvania crude, Bradford district $4.50, and all other grades $4 and; California crude ranges from $1 to $1.40 a barrel, depending upon the gravity of the oil.

Well Comes in

The Standard Oil Company yesterday brought in its Interstate No. 1 in the southeast section of the Torrance field. The well is down 3852 feet, and is flowing 700 barrels per day, it is said.

El Segundo Promising

The Fortuna Oil Company's wildcat well in the El Segundo district has been fenced in, and a guard placed to keep the curious out of the rig. Simultaneously, and possibly consequently, rumors of the discovery of an oil sand are being circulated. The crew is drilling ahead, and coring all the way, according to field reports.

Officials of the company are indefinite in their reports on the progress of the well, but as near as can be ascertained the hole is down around 4000 feet. In El Segundo it is reported that a favorable sand was passed through yesterday, and it is expected that the well will pick up the Pan-American's sand at about 4200 feet. According to Tuck Edens, the showings during the past three days have been the best since the well was attempted.

No casing has been run in the hole since February 13, last, when 530 feet of fifteen-inch surface string was set.

The Pan-American Petroleum Company has finished its fishing job in the Pacific-Southwest No. 1 in the outskirts of El Segundo, having successfully extracted all the tubing which was frozen in the hole on the last cement job. A water test is to be made immediately, according to field reports.

The Pacific-Southwest was reported to have struck an oil sand at 2676 feet several weeks ago, but two attempts to get a water shutoff were unsuccessful. There is twenty feet of cement in the hole below the shoe, it is said.

Bell Sand Trial

Decline of production in the Santa Fe Springs field may be arrested to some extent by abandoning the Meyer sand, reported to be badly damaged by water inroads, and returning to the Bell sand for production, in the opinion of operators interested in that field. The experiment has been tried by several companies, and results have been good, it is said.

The Globe Petroleum Corporation is pulling tubing in its Bronson No. 2 in that field, preparatory to plugging back to 3800 feet, to resume production in the Bell sand, according to officials of the company. The Bronson has been one of the most profitable wells in the field, it is asserted, having produced more than 500,000 barrels of oil. Lately the production dropped to thirty barrels per day, according to reports.

Second Well Drilling

The Angeles Snowolene Refining Company is down 2000 feet in its second well on the Pacalitos dome, five miles from Coalinga, it is reported by officials of the company.

The first well on this structure was drilled to 3640 feet, but ran into mechanical trouble at that point, and was forced to stop late last December. At that time the drill was in a hard shale which the company's geologists believed was the caprock over the oil sand. Collapsed casing which could not be extracted during five weeks of fishing, forced suspension of operations. The present well is being drilled only a few feet from the first project.

Snowolene's Culver City refinery is being operated at the present time by the Caraba interests under a lease arrangement, due to lack of crude, which forced the Snowolene to relinquish this operation. Officials assert that the refinery will be taken over by the old management as soon as the crude-oil situation improves.

Incorporate Company

The Sandoma Gasoline Company, which has been operated by the George F. Getty interests as a trust for more than a year, has been incorporated with a capitalization of $200,000. The company operates a gasoline absorption plant in the Santa Fe Springs field.

CAN YOUR TAXES BE CUT?

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

THE TOLL OF WHEAT

Low prices of farm products relatively, high taxes, high interest and high freight rates are responsible for bad agricultural conditions, in the opinion of 79 per cent of the farmers, according to the 1923 report of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Low prices for wheat have sent whole States into bankruptcy. The Department of Agriculture has issued a full report on the wheat situation to the President. It is a most tragic and appalling report. The detailed figures are given. They are almost unbelievable. Let us examine a very few.

In the fifteen wheat-growing States of the United States the Department of Agriculture figures show that 10.08 per cent of the farmers lost their farms and 16.28 per cent more "retained possession of their farms or property through leniency of creditors. That is to say, one wheat farmer in every four lost out. This is the average record for fifteen States.

Some States are much worse than the average. Take Colorado. Four farmers in every ten lost out. In South Dakota the same. In North Dakota, five out of every ten. In Montana, six out of every ten.

Now let us reverse the picture. In September, 1915, in the city of Washington the Department of Agriculture made an investigation to just where the money went which was paid to the grocer for bread. The wheat producers—the man who toiled and sweated and risked all to bring forth the harvest—received 21.41 cents out of every dollar's worth of bread sold. The miller got 7.76 cents for his services in grinding it into flour; the railroad got 3.08 cents. The baker for working on the flour for twenty-four hours got 37.25 cents. The grocer for keeping it on his shelf for less than a day, without any capital outlay involved, got 20.55 cents, and the farmer, for working up the ground, seeding, cutting, threshing and hauling to town (four to five months of hard work) got 21.41 cents. Thas was bad enough. It just couldn't be much worse.

BIG DROP IN TEN YEARS

But it is. Turn over ten years from 1913. In 1923 the farmer got 16.37 cents; the miller 6.31 cents, the railroad, 3.21 cents, the baker 35.93 cents and the grocer 22.22 cents. The rest miscellaneous. Based on a dollar's worth of bread sold in the city of Washington in September, 1923, the farmer received not 21.41 cents, as he did in 1913, but just 16.37 cents. The grocer received not 20.55 cents as in 1913, but 22.22 cents.

If we translate these figures into everyday facts, we should not be surprised at whole States going bankrupt; at banks closing, not by dozens, but by the hundreds in the States affected; at 1,000,000 farmers leaving the farms for the city; at the large increase in suicides. These facts are only the outward evidences of an appalling situation which demands immediate, heroic and vigorous action on the part of the government.

Such facts the Department of Agriculture found. Now what does all this cost the Federal government?

First there is the Weather Bureau with the weather man in charge. This is nation-wide, important and cost $1,466,000 for the fiscal year 1923. This bureau is asking for an increase of approximately $70,000 for 1924.

The Department of Agriculture Economics is another potentially important bureau. This is really the big marketing investigation bureau of the department. It sometimes investigates cost of production and marketing, farm organizations and allied subjects. It sometimes publishes valuable data. With the farmer getting less and less, and the men between the farmer and the consumer more and more, this bureau should concern itself very much more effectively with the problem of how to decrease this great spread between producer and consumer. Like many other nice bureaus in Washington, it is piling up and piling away, very carefully, much useful information for the student of the future. This bureau spent $2,448,000 in 1923 and this is further increased by approximately $430,000 for 1924. (It seems as though the principal activities of this bureau are much more closely related to trade and commerce than to agriculture.)

EXTENSION SERVICE CUT

The Bureau of Plant Industry deals with the whole problem of plant life. It handles the problems of diseases, pests and weeds. It tests new plants in new climates. This is a useful and important work. The bureau spent $3,113,000 in 1923 and expects to cut this by approximately $230,000 for 1924.

The Extension Service contributes to the support of the 3000 county agents in the United States. For the fiscal year 1923 it spent $8,796,000, but this is cut down to $7,150,000 for 1924. This is a questionable service which might be cut.

The Bureau of Animal Industry deals with all work relating to the live stock industry. It deals with the investigation, control and eradication of diseases of animals, the inspection and quarantine of live stock, the inspection of meats and meat products, and dairying. It is an intense, thorough and indispensible bureau. Although the bureau spent $5,741,000 in the fiscal year 1923, it is asking for approximately $200,000 more for 1924.

The Forest Service has control of the national forests. It studies forest conditions and investigates various forests and their products. A total of $8,933,000 was spent on this bureau in 1923. About the same is asked for in 1924. However, this bureau took in $7,706,400 in receipts for 1923, and estimates the total receipts for 1924 at $8,148,000. Of course, timber depletion must be considered against these receipts.

THE FIRST BIG EXPENSE

We now come to the big spending bureau. That of Public Roads. For 1923 a total of $76,180,000 was spent. The estimate for 1924 is $94,268,000, an increase of about $18,000,000 over 1923.

(Here for the first time in these articles we come to large expenditure in our Federal government. This work should be given very careful scrutiny. If the people of the United States want taxes cut, here is one place where a cut could be made. This fund is creeping up towards $100,000,000 a year. This bureau has more information about roads and road-making than can be gotten anywhere else in the country.

To sum up, then. Here is a great Department of Agriculture, employing 20,261 people, of whom 4923 are in Washington. The department spent $126,567,000 in 1923 of which $79,240,000 was for good roads. Without the expense of good roads the department spends approximately $47,300,000 for the year. This is relatively small.

For every dollar spent by the Federal government for the fiscal year, 1923, the Department of Agriculture spent for its work about 1 1-2 cents. It is less than the Veterans' Bureau spends every forty-five days. It is less than the Navy Department spends every sixty days. It is less than the Army spend every sixty days. The Department of Agriculture in carrying out our work is not one of our large spending departments. The big cuts must be found elsewhere.

WANT TARIFF REMOVED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 3.—In an endeavor to increase industrial expansion in British Columbia, a movement is under way to have mining and sawmill machinery brought into the country free of duty. All the leading mining and sawmill machinery is manufactured in the United States, and the duty is almost prohibitive. With 35 per cent duty the interest on the investment in the duty alone is a serious handicap.

Grain Traders Turn Bearish in Late Trading

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 3.—Grain markets developed a reactionary tendency after higher prices had been made early. Corn continues to be the center of attraction, and sufficient outside buying developed to more than offset selling by local traders, who thought that the advance had been sufficient for the time being and it closed ¼@⅜c higher, with July leading. Wheat was off ⅛@⅜c, with oats ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, and rye ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower.

Houses with country connections were fair buyers and took the surplus off the market. May at one time was within ⅛c of the July, but broke toward the last and finished ⅜c under, free buying of July by several strong commission houses being responsible for the strength shown in the latter delivery. May closed at 79⅛@ bid, July at 79⅛c and September at 79⅛@79⅝c, or 5c over the low of last week. Outside interest was broadened, with the country taking hold on the breaks, which explains the rapidity with which offerings from the pit element here been absorbed. Cash corn was in fair demand in the sample market, with the basis firm as compared with May, but the eastern call is very slow, with sales of 20,000 bushels. Local arrivals were thirty-one cars.

Removal of hedges against sales of 130,000 bushels cash wheat here is outside mills, and also against sales of around 2,000,000 bushels Manitobas to mills from Buffalo were a factor in making a stronger wheat market early. Premiums on cash wheat here were 1 to 2 cents higher as compared with the May. The finish was about the bottom, however, with May at 1.02⅝, July at 1.03⅝ and September at 1.04⅜.

The revival in the milling demand for wheat was unexpected, and there were claims made of larger amounts of grain under contract to move out from Kansas City than the trade generally believes. Cash houses were moderate sellers of May outs, but that delivery failed to show any material weakness, and closed practically unchanged at 46⅝@46⅝. Deferred deliveries were unsettled. Local arrivals were forty-seven cars. There was talk of more cash grain being bought in the country.

There was dull and easier in sympathy with wheat. No export business of consequence developed at the seaboard.

HAWAIIAN BONDS ARE SNAPPED UP

Banking Group Secures Attractive Offering of Territorial Issue

A banking group composed of Blair & Co., Inc., Halsarten & Co. and Chase Securities Corporation were the successful bidders yesterday for $2,325,000 Territory of Hawaii 4½ per cent twenty to thirty-year public improvement gold coupon bonds, which these for offering at 101 1-4 and interest to yield better than 4.40 per cent to the optional maturity. The bidding for this issue was exceptionally close, as the successful group headed by Blair & Co., Inc., entered the bid of the group, composed of White, Weld & Co., Halsden, Stone & Co. by about a quarter of a point. The syndicate headed by the Bankers' Trust Company was third highest bidder, at only 26-100 under the highest bid. Lee, Higginson & Co. were the lowest bidders, with a bid of slightly less than one point under the bid of the Blair group.

The bankers offering this issue of Hawaiian bonds are the same that were successful in securing the issue of $1,875,000 offered in September.

Territory of Hawaii bonds are issued pursuant to acts of Congress of the United States and the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, with the approval of the President of the United States. These bonds are exempt from taxation under the Federal income tax law and by decision of the United States Supreme Court are exempt from taxation by any State in the United States or by any municipal or political subdivision of such State. The bonds, therefore, have as complete exemption from taxation as United States government Liberty 3½s and are acceptable by the Treasury Department at their market value, but not exceeding par, as security for United States government deposits and are eligible to secure deposits of postal savings funds. They are designated as legal for savings banks in California and many other States.

OUTSIDE INSURANCE FIRMS HIT BY RULE

COURT UPHOLDS REFUSAL OF SCHOOL TO EXPENSE OF PREMIUM

Insurance companies organized under the laws of other States are affected by a ruling of the State Supreme Court announced yesterday, upholding the action of Grace C. Stanley, Superintendent of Schools of San Bernardino county, in refusing to sign a warrant for payment of a premium on a policy written by the Northwestern Mutual Fire Association.

The court's decision affirmed the Superior Court's denial of a writ of mandate to the insurance company seeking to force payment of the premium. The decision is based on the State Political Code, which holds that a school board has the authority to insure school property with a concern organized under the laws of another State.

BAN PLACED ON PICO BUILDING PERMITS

In order to permit the widening to 100 feet of Pico Boulevard from Crenshaw Boulevard to the western city limits, the City Council yesterday directed the building department to issue no permits for buildings in that district unless the owners agreed to set them back from the property line so as to permit the future widening of the street.

FEDERAL

the Case of the LAWYER

When it comes to making an investment for his own account, an attorney is apt to be extra thorough.

"I've carefully investigated every legal angle of your company as well as the men behind it, and in my opinion you seem to have a perfect case, and I feel that I am bound to win by taking these securities."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, April 3.—Society matrons and club women of Santa Ana donned house dresses and rolled up their sleeves today and washed windows to save $75.

With the completion of the new $75,000 Ebell clubhouse at hand, the members decided to raid husband's bureau drawers for safety razor blades to scrape paint and dirt from window panes.

With buckets, bottles and rags in hand, they arrived at the clubhouse early this morning in limousines and other types of automobiles prepared for duty.

Between 300 and 400 panes were made spotless.

It would have cost $75 to have hired others to do the work, the women estimated.

Wickstrom was arraigned yesterday in Justice Court at Burbank on charge of illegal possession of weapons and possession of concealed weapons after a previous conviction and held under $25,000 bail. PILOTS IN PARIS IN OILSKIN GARB

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 3. — Two characters that might have stepped out of a story by Conrad or Melville clumped down the gangplank of La Savoie, which had just pulled into her pier from French ports. They were garbed in oilskins, sou'westers and hip boots and each carried a French collar, his only baggage.

Thus was ended a month's enforced absence from the United States in general and Baltimore in particular of a Chesapeake Bay pilot and his young apprentice, who were unable to make port in the February hurricane after they had piloted a freighter out of Baltimore. The pilot was Dewey Gray, 40 years of age, and his apprentice was Douglass Ford, 21.

Gray and Ford had taken the freighter Alaska out to sea a month ago, but when they got outside of Chesapeake Bay their pilot boat was unable to get near enough to the Alaska to take them off. They did the only thing they could do under the circumstances—went to France to take the first available vessel back. But once in France they decided that as long as they were there they might just as well have a look at it.

Their combined bankroll was $16, but this didn't deter the mariners from "seeing" Paris and several other cities. And they did all this in their Jack London make-up. In Paris each bought a collar, and their earthly belongings as they landed consisted of these two collars and 16 cents. And they could hardly wait to get back to Baltimore.

"Paris girls may be all right," observed Ford, "but give me the Baltimore lassies for mine."

BANDITS TAKE REUNION FUND

BOSTON, April 3. — The fond dreams of Charles Breen, an Irish immigrant of only a few months, to bring his mother and little brother to America were rudely shattered by three bandits.

Ever since he landed here from Ireland, Breen, who is 27 years of age, and lives at 75 L street, South Boston, has saved every spare dollar in the hope of bringing over his relatives.

When he finally accumulated $600 necessary for steamship passage for his relatives he started for the bank to draw the money out.

On his way, at South Station, he met a young man about 30 years old, with a long, pale face, who seemed inclined to make his acquaintance.

To him Breen confided his plans. Then he bade his new acquaintance adieu.

Scarcely an hour later Breen again met the pale-faced young man. This time the latter was in an automobile with two companions at Marine Park and Gardner Road, South Boston. He hailed Breen familiarly and asked him if he knew anything about a car. When Breen replied in the affirmative the autoist asked him to examine the engine.

Breen bent forward over the motor, when he felt the barrel of a revolver pressed against his ribs. "Keep your face down and hand it over," was the command.

Breen complied, handing over a wallet containing $604.

In another moment the automobile and the three occupants were off in a cloud of dust. Breen was able to catch the first two numbers of the registration plate. He reported the theft to the police.

FOUR HEARD IN HARBOR QUIZ

The grand jury continued its investigation into the harbor matter yesterday by summoning and taking the testimony of four men, two of them members of the Harbor Commission and the other two employed by it.

Edgar McKee, former president of the commission who was recently ousted from that post by Mayor Cryer, remained in the grand jury anteroom awaiting summons all day, but his testimony was not taken. He was instructed to return at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, when the grand jury will reconvene to press the investigation. It is expected that he will be questioned by the inquisitorial body all day Tuesday.

The witnesses heard yesterday were Secretary Starr of the Harbor Commission; Attorney Leach of the commission; Commissioner Kibele and President Colden of the commission. They testified in the order named.

It is understood that Mr. Starr gave testimony regarding routine matters and that the attorney explained the various harbor leases, including those given to E. L. Doheny and those in the west basin.

Commissioner Kibele is understood to have discussed paving contracts awarded by the board at the harbor during McKee's administration and President Colden is said to have been questioned regarding the famous "suit" given to McKee, the latter's trips and the contracts awarded to Emil Cykler by the board.

The testimony was taken through Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley.

POWER BUREAU TO DEFY COURT

Will Continue to Use Public Funds for Propaganda

Greater Campaign Planned for Coming Election

Sale Threatened to Force Further Disgorging

Members of the Board of Public Service Commissioners indicated yesterday that they will defy the decision of Judge Edward I. Butler which held that the commission violated the law and misappropriated public funds in using power revenues for political propaganda, notwithstanding that its decision will force the commissioners to disgorge from their personal pocketbooks $12,415.15 and return it to the City Treasury.

In the meantime other taxpayers' suits are threatened to recover additional thousands of dollars spent by the commission on political lobbying tripe to Washington, the $1000 a month donations to the Boulder Dam Association, now being made, the $75,000 donated by the board to the United States Reclamation Service, and the large sums spent by the Bureau in the Imperial Valley to stir up support for the Swing-Johnson bill now pending before Congress.

Judge Butler ruled, in effect, that the revenues of the Power Bureau are public funds and must not be spent, as the law and the City Charter now stand, for anything but actual extensions to and for administration of the municipal power enterprises.

TALK OF APPEAL

The Public Service Commission has, however, always taken the position, from the statement made yesterday by Commissioner C. A. Dykstra will continue to take it, despite the ruling of Judge Butler, that the board has the right to use its funds to secure votes for power bond issues or for other political measures pending which the board is sponsoring. Other members of the commission as well as Special Counsel W. B. Mathews of the Power Bureau were loath to discuss or comment on Judge Butler's decision, except to express their disgust at the decision and to talk of the appeal from it which the commission will take to the higher courts.

"Will the commission," Commissioner Dykstra was asked, "continue to send out, as it is doing now, letters and bulletins, postals and stickers to thousands of water, light and power consumers asking for support for the power bond issue and public service propaganda?"

"So far as I am concerned, the board will continue," said Commissioner Dykstra. "We take the position that we have the right to do this."

DECISION CITED

Judge Butler, in his decision, after reading the arguments set forth for the commission by Special Counsel Mathews, ruled against the commission, and said: "Expending public funds in making a campaign in favor of the bonds cannot be justified any more than could its expenditure in making a campaign against them."

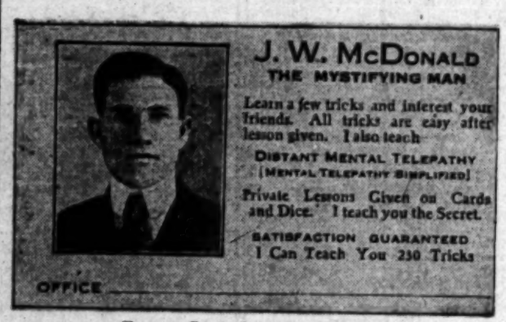
McDonald as Street Hawker



Former Card of Arrested Broker

'Mystifying Man's' Amazing Story Revealed in $250,000 Crash of J. W. McDonald & Company

The amazing story of a man who climbed from a fakir's pitch on Main street to palatial offices in the Jewelers' Exchange Building, from a business of a few dollars daily to sometimes more than $5000 a day, from a room in a cheap hotel to a sumptuous apartment in Hollywood—all in seven months—and who ended his meteoric career with a $250,000 bankruptcy crash in which banks, pawnbrokers and prominent business men are listed among his more than 1000 victims, was revealed yesterday in the arrest for asserted embezzlement of J. W. McDonald, self-dubbed "The Mystifying Man."

Enmeshed in the snare woven by this 29-year-old speculator is another man, J. E. Nixon, averred by police to have been an employee of McDonald. Both are held at the City Jail.

McDonald was arrested by Detectives Freeman and Deatheridge at his home at 1314 Manhattan Place. While in the house the detectives say they found a nearly completed facsimile of a $10 bill. And while the city police and the District Attorney's office are running down one angle of this remarkable case, Secret Service Agents Ashe and Doesurt of the United States Treasury Department are searching for the die from which the print was made.

McDonald is held temporarily on a complaint sworn to by Mrs. Josephine Durkin of 1531 Sunset Boulevard, who says McDonald lent her a sum of money on a diamond ring worth $1250, and that when she sought to redeem the pledge, the ring was gone.

TO RAID CACHES

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Orme and MacKay are expecting to issue another complaint today against McDonald, charging him with conspiracy to embezzle by overt acts the property of at least ten other persons.

Some time today, also, there are expected to occur raids on caches of missing jewelry that may total $100,000 in value, and which are expected to add other sensational revelations to those already known to investigators.

As authority for the story of McDonald and his exploits are Attorney Ernest U. Schroeter, suite 711 H. W. Hellman Building, receiver and trustee for the McDonald enterprises appointed by Federal Judge James, Dep. Dist.-Attys. Orme and McKay and Detectives Freeman and Deatheridge. Pieced together from their reports and from documentary evidence in Attorney Schroeter's hands, the story follows:

McDonald, as he reached maturity, became a street faker. From place to place he went and pitched his little stand. His business cards, one of which is reproduced in facsimile herewith, read:

WANT AD START

He practiced what he preached, according to Atty. Schroeter. For he jumped from ballyhooing crowds of pedestrians to a flourishing loan business.

Want ads in the newspapers gave him his start after he had accumulated a few hundreds. "Money loaned on jewelry; low interest; confidential," was his bait.

His system was quite simple. A customer arrived; showed his collateral. McDonald lent a certain sum; his interest rate was two per cent a month. The customer departed with the loan. McDonald then took the jewelry to another pawnbroker—and pawned it for a greater amount, and because of

BANNING QUITS PATRIOT BODY

Resigns from Sons of Revolution

Confessed to Perpetrating International Hoax

Postoffice Officials Wait for Formal Complaint

Pierson W. Banning, whose confession of an international hoax in connection with an award of the fictitious "Benjamin Franklin Fund" was exclusively published by The Times yesterday morning, is no longer president or even a member of the Sons of the Revolution.

Banning's "resignation as president, director, trustee and member" was announced by Edgar Allan Hanger, secretary of the California society, shortly after noon yesterday, and following a rather heated special meeting of the board of directors.

Banning's successor will be named at another meeting to be held on the 14th inst.

AWAIT FORMAL COMPLAINT

Meanwhile Federal officials, who Wednesday questioned Banning reguarding the leasing of a postoffice box taken out under the now admitted fictitious name of "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham," averred that they were awaiting formal complaint from persons who might have purchased Banning's books through a belief in their value generated by misleading advertisements, before taking further action.

The Federal position was outlined by Postoffice Inspector Fred E. Webster that the government rarely initiates investigations of use of the mails without formal complaint being made to postoffice officials. They pointed out that in this case this had not been done as yet.

ADDS NOTHING MORE

Banning did not yesterday make public any additions to his astounding statement printed in the Times of yesterday morning. Interviewers were greeted with the simple reply: "I have nothing to say."

The announcement from the patriotic society was signed by its secretary, Edgar Allan Hanger. The text was:

"At a special meeting of the board of directors of the society, Sons of the Revolution of California, held at the headquarters of the society, Thursday, April 3, 1924, the resignation of Pierson W. Banning as president, director, trustee and member of the society was accepted, to take effect immediately.

"A special meeting of the board of directors was called for April 14, 1924, at which time a new president of the society will be elected."

Hyde Park Bond Issue for Water System Is Voted

Bonds in the amount of $250,000 for a water system for Hyde Park were voted by an overwhelming majority in yesterday's election, according to City Clerk Dominguez. The vote was 634 yes and 31 no. When the system is completed and approved by city officials, it will be connected with the Los Angeles city water system.

Los Angeles grew in size by thirty-four acres when residents of the Clinton addition voted to enter the city. The vote was twenty-one yes. The district, roughly gauged, is bonded by Melrose avenue on the north, Crescent Heights Boulevard on the east, Sweetser avenue on the west and by county territory on the south.

SUPPORT OF FACTORY AID PLAN GROWS

Funds Continue to Pour in; All Year Club Offers Its Co-operation

The campaign of the Greater Los Angeles Association to obtain 25,000 members and a fund of $50,000,000 to carry out its program continues to draw enthusiastic support from all quarters, reports from headquarters yesterday stated.

Among those who signed up yesterday was M. H. Sherman, longtime resident of Los Angeles. He showed his support of the drive in a substantial manner by subscribing to twenty memberships and sending in his check of $500.

C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All Year Club of Southern California, promised that organization's co-operation in the letter received yesterday by President H. H. Merrick of the association.

"It is the policy of the All Year Club," said Mr. Milham, "to prepare copy having a distinct appeal to manufacturers, investors and business men. Advertisements of this character as well as the recreational copy already scheduled will tend to awaken a greater interest industrially in Los Angeles by reason of the great movement the Greater Los Angeles Association has undertaken."

CHILD DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST DRIVER ON

Trial of the suit of Carrie Melvine Ellis, 11 years of age, for $50,000 damages against Mary Rehal and the Inter-Insurance Exchange was begun yesterday before a jury in Judge McLucas's court. The child asked the sum as damages for injuries she declared she received when she was struck by an automobile operated by Miss Rehal on June 21, 1923. The child was declared to have suffered paralysis of her left leg as a result of the accident.

UNIVERSITY OBSERVES DAY

Forty-Fourth Anniversary of College Here Celebrated by Services at Auditorium

With the national colors in the van, followed by the faculty, the University band and 800 members of the Senior class, a large procession of students and friends of the University of Southern California yesterday marched into Bovard Auditorium to participate in a program in celebration of the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of that institution.

Among the features of the program was the conferring of the honorary degree of Master of Music upon Mario Chamlee, an alumnus of the university, who is now tenor of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company of New York, and the giving of the degree of Doctor of Laws to Henry E. Huntington "in recognition of his service to the advancement of human knowledge through his libraries."

Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university and chairman of the meeting, spoke briefly of the Southland's educational pioneers who founded the University of Southern California forty-four years ago "in territory adjacent to Los Angeles" and told of how the seed of their idealism has grown and flowered until the present institution boasts an enrollment of 9000 students, thousands of whom have come from various parts of the world.

Following invocation by Dr. George F. Bovard, president emeritus, and the singing of college songs by the audience and the Glee Club, short talks were given by Linton H. Smith, vice-president of the Alumni Association, and by Harry Silke, president of the Associated Students.

The address of the day was given by Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Pomona College, who discussed "The Achievement of Government," declaring that the chief problem of government is to build a better social, political, economic and ethical system for the generation to come.

Dr. Blaisdell deplored the fact that although the country has no dearth of schools in which the arts and sciences are fostered and which develop masterful minds along many lines of human endeavor, there are practically no institutions which make a business of teaching the art of government and of educating men and women to broader and clearer social views.

YOUNG DAUGHERTY IS MOTION-PICTURE EXTRA

Draper Daugherty, son of former Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, started a motion-picture career yesterday. He played a passenger in a railroad coach, along with other extras, all day long and earned $5 and his lunch. Richard Tucker, who has a role in "Helen's Babies" in which Baby Peggy is featured, and was young Daugherty's school chum, got him the job. When the day was over Daugherty asked if there was a job for him today.

Lieut. Brown's Mate Gives Pathetic Details

Evangelist Aunt Prayed for Officer

Man Wanted in $120,000 Disappearance

The pathetic story of an evangelist aunt of Lieut. Ervine Brown, naval officer wanted in connection with the disappearance of $120,000, who prayed over the officer when he confessed his shortage to his wife and the aunt in a room in a small downtown hotel before he disappeared again in Los Angeles was told by Mrs. Daisy Brown, the officer's wife, to a Times reporter at Azusa last night.

Mrs. Brown had just returned to the little cottage in the foothill city, where she has been living with Brown's mother and grandmother, having gone to San Diego, where she turned over to the naval authorities there Brown's locked suitcase which, when opened, was found to contain $75,520 of the amount taken by Brown.

Mrs. Brown revealed for the first time that her husband informed her that he had placed an additional $30,000 in a safety deposit box in an unnamed city. This information she turned over to the authorities, who are expected to recover the amount shortly.

TRAGIC STORY TOLD

The tragic story was told by the naval officer's wife in the front room of the Brown cottage. The family Bible rested on a table near by. The three little children—aged 4 years, 3 years and 8 months—were there. Brown's mother and aged grandmother sat near by and sobbed.

Restraining with difficulty the tears that seemed bound to come, Mrs. Brown told her story and without any resort to dramatics. How he sent her a note which she received Tuesday morning, telling her of his shortage and asking her to bring the children and meet him in a downtown hotel in Los Angeles. How she went there without the children and was greeted in a tawdry room by her husband, who was very much upset.

"I had received a letter from him from some place in Arkansas about two weeks ago in which he told me of the shortage and of his deserting the Navy," said Mrs. Brown. "When I met him in the hotel room he had two suit cases. In one of them, he told me, were his clothes, and in the other he said he had $50,000 in cash—part of the money he said he had taken. I asked him what he had done with the rest of it and he told me of putting $30,000 in a bank in an Eastern city.

PATHETIC FIGURE

"He was a pathetic figure as we sat in that little room and he told me what had happened. He said that during the entire cruise of the Pacific Fleet in Southern waters he was ill—that he suffered from seasickness and neuralgia almost constantly. He said he was homesick and blue.

"His illness, he said, was aggravated by the fact that he knew he was short about $12,000 in his accounts. This shortage he discovered not long after the destroyer wreck off Point Honda. We discussed the possibility of any connection between his shortage

GANG ACCUSED OF CRIMES

One of Three Men Seized in Asserted Cafeteria Robbery Attempt Linked With Murders

Two murders, a number of assaults and highway robberies and plots to rob several banks, cafeterias and cafes were said by officers to have been linked to the asserted crime careers of one of three men captured by deputy sheriffs and agents of the J. N. Pyles detectives yesterday noon as they were entering the Leighton Cafeteria, 441 South Hill street, in an attempt to rob the cafeteria collector of $2500.

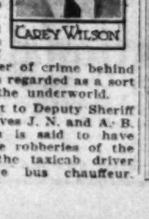
George Ferguson, alias Jack Harris, is said by Sheriff's officials to be the murderer of two men.

Flo Calloway.

Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater at Seventh and Alvarado streets, who was mortally wounded on September 23, 1923, by one of two men who robbed him of $170, and "Spider" Kelly, a notorious San Francisco gunman, are believed to have met death at the hands of Ferguson.

Carey Wilson, Ferguson's partner, is said to have been identified as the man who participated with Ferguson in many of his asserted local criminal acts.

Ferguson, according to Deputy Sheriff Harvey Bell, head of Sheriff Traeger's robbery squad and under whose supervision the capture of the trio was conducted, is one of the most dangerous gunmen who has ever operated in Southern California. He is a "dead shot" with a revolver, Bell said, and because of his asserted boldness displayed during his crimes and of the long career of crime behind him he has been regarded as a sort of demigod of the underworld.



CAREY WILSON

In a statement to Deputy Sheriff Bell and Detectives J. N. and A. B. Pyles, Ferguson is said to have confessed to the robberies of the Sultan Baths, the taxicab driver and the Wilshire bus chauffeur. Both men are said to have been positively identified as the andits who committed the first two robberies. Ferguson, according to Richard Parsons, is the man who did the auto livery robbery. Victims of the other crimes will be summoned to the Sheriff's office today to see the prisoners for purposes of identification.

LIST OF CRIMES

Some of the local crimes already chalked up against Ferguson are as follows, according to officers:

The murder of Joseph Langley.

The Robbins Jewelry Company, 841 South Broadway, in which $40,000 in diamonds and jewelry were stolen on March 24, 1924.

The Sultan Baths, 607 South Hill street, in which Ben Albans the night manager, was brutally beaten and robbed.

The Parsons Bros. Auto Livery robbery at 914 South Main street several weeks ago, in which $800 was obtained.

POWER 'BUDGET' RIDICULED

Citizens' Body Directors Rap Bureau Statement as Vague; "No" Vote on Bonds Moved

The directors of the Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousand, in session yesterday at the Hotel Clark, ridiculed the alleged financial statement rendered by the municipal Power Bureau as to the purposes for which it intended to spend the $21,000,000 the bureau is asking the voters for at the May 6 election as "vague" and "insufficient" and lacking in details.

So the directors continued for one week further consideration of the power bond issue until the legislative committees would undertake to fathom the Power Bureau's financial statement, which was sent to the directors in answer to the demand that the bureau tell what it had done with the millions of dollars it has already received from the people of Los Angeles.

"I have examined the financial statement," said E. P. Clark, "and I confess that it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to make any sense out of it."

COSTLY STATIONS

"I note in the bureau's alleged budget setting forth the purposes for which it intends to spend the $21,000,000, if the people give it to the bureau," said Chester W. Rowan, chairman of the legislative committee, "that there is an item of $2,000,000 for fifteen substations. Now these stations cost the utilities companies about $100,000 each, so that the bureau intends to spend twice as much for each station as they cost the electric companies.

"And you note," said Mr. Clark, "that the bureau does not tell where these stations are to be located."

The excessive, double cost of "certain stations," said James R. Page, "is explained by the fact that while the bureau's business has increased 50 per cent when the bureau took over the Edison system the bureau's pay rolls or the number of men employed to handle this new business jumped 400 per cent. I move we recommend a 'No' vote on the $21,000,000 power bonds."

"I admit the Power Bureau has

"Mystifying Man's" Amazing Story Revealed

Jumped to Palatial Offices in Few Months

"professional courtesy," the interest in many cases charged him was but one per cent a month.

Business grew apace. McDonald thought he saw a fortune. And under the California State law he incorporated J. W. McDonald & Co., with an authorized capital of $300,000 and a paid up capital of $5. Four employees were the other incorporators. Each owned a single share.

The new concern—with McDonald's own business—took a ten-year lease on a suite of offices in the Jewelers' Exchange Building, 747 South Hill street. Elaborate, expensive furniture and fixtures—some $10,000 worth—were purchased on credit and installed. Advertising, both by newspapers and by word of mouth, brought in new business.

BUSINESS HUGE

And, as the pledges grew larger in value, so likewise did the money received from repawning them grew larger. And from the few hundreds that he started with McDonald soon had a business of thousands a month. In seven months, in fact, the books show that $469,000 in loans were transacted.

Many of these loans were redeemed, of course. McDonald when those customers came in, resorted to the excuse that the pledges were in a safety-deposit vault. And an employee would rush to the pawnshop where the jewelry in question had been repawned, redeem it and rush back to the office to the waiting customer.

All this time the board of directors of the "corporation" held dignified meetings on this and that and the other thing.

When the business got big enough, it was planned to sell the $300,000 common stock and preferred stock as well. But there is only one instance—in the case of H. E. Mathews—where stock was ever sold. Mathews paid McDonald $5000 in cash and became secretary and treasurer of the concern.

Just how it happened that the crash came no one knows. But on March 10 the board of directors held a meeting. The record shows that a suit for $3000 had been filed against the company and their office furniture and what little stock in trade was there had been attached.

And the "minutes" of that meeting show that it was decided to enter a voluntary petition of bankruptcy. The petition was entered March 10. Attorney Schroeter was named receiver, and later, trustee. Assets were listed at some $112,000; liabilities at $115,000.

Attorney Schroeter, as receiver, said the only assets which he has been able to find so far were worth only about $12,500. The other "assets" seem to be the repawned jewelry, which is all in the hands of other persons, and of which some considerable amount is still unaccounted for.

The list of those who hold this repawned jewelry is long and not yet complete. But it shows the following names and amounts:

Continental National Bank	$15,000
A. B. Cohn	7,250
Rauh and O'Gara	5,000
Pacific Loan Society	11,000
W. T. Burtnett	2,000
D. M. Keno	25,000
Security Loan Company	32,500
United Loan Company	1,000
H. M. Wright Realty Bldg. (Assessment collection)	650
H. E. Mathews

In each case the list shows that stock in the "corporation" was given as additional security.

And, in addition to these, there are listed as accounts due and unsecured some $36,342.92. The majority of this is for jewelry sold on open credit by many of the manufacturing or wholesale jewelers with offices in Los Angeles.

EVERYBODY LOSES

Since March 10 those who pledged their valuables with McDonald have been trekking daily to his former suite of offices. They learned with consternation that with the exception of some $3000 worth of "stock in trade," those valuables were gone.

In many cases, according to Attorney Schroeter, McDonald had been receiving weekly installments on some of his pledges. He had also taken in his interest charges. An investigation brought to light that in his loans of the collateral to other brokers, he hadn't paid the interest nor credited the installments paid on the pledges.

"Who loses?" Attorney Schroeter was asked.

"Everybody," he says. "When the customer comes in, his ticket is checked up. If his collateral has been located the customer is told where it is.

"He goes to the pawnbroker who is holding it and finds there that the interest is unpaid, and that if any installments have been paid by him to McDonald, they haven't been credited on the amount that McDonald borrowed from the third party.

"If he wants to spend money and employ an attorney he can probably get it back from the pawnbroker who has it; and in that event, we get the money due on the pledge. The customer loses either way. If he succeeds in taking the stuff from the bank or broker, the bank or broker loses."

"But what became of the money obtained in these operations and how much is it?"

"I wish I knew," Attorney Schroeter sighed. "We won't find out until an audit is made of these books, and to tell you the truth, the books are in an awful shape."

CRIME IS DENIED

With the exception of Mrs. Durkin, only one name of McDonald's customers is available for publication now. That is Arthur H. Sawyer, president of the Associated Pictures Corporation. Mr. Sawyer pledged a bracelet, bar pin, two diamond rings and other jewelry for a total loan of $4200. Whether Mr. Sawyer has redeemed all or part of this amount is not known.

It is understood that some of the contemplated police action is in the nature of raids to recover some of the repawned jewelry for complainants—of which the District Attorney's Office has seen fifty or more. The books show from 500 to 1000 pledges yet unredeemed.

Actual cash assets of the McDonald Company when Atty. Schroeter took it over were $324.75. The next hearing on the case before Referee in Bankruptcy Moss is scheduled for next Monday.

Meanwhile McDonald, in jail, denies any criminal intent.

"They ain't got nothing on me!" he protests. "They ain't got nothing on me!"

Detective Freeman's only comment was: "If this bird knows 250 tricks like this—as his card says, I'd like to learn the other 249."

AGE OF SKELETONS SOUGHT

Noted Scientists Will Try to Determine Antiquity; Remains Believed of Glacial Period

A conference of scientists to decide on the antiquity and scientive importance of the vve petrified human skeletons of a prehistoric race recently discovered at a depth of twenty-three feet in the outfall sewer excavations in the southwest part of Los Angeles will take place today at the Los Angeles Museum of Art, History and Science, the institution that has sponsored the research work carried on thus far.

The conference, which was called by Dr. W. A. Bryan, director of the museum, will be attended by Dr. Chester Stock, head of the department of paleontology of the University of California; Dr. Robert T. Hill, formerly connected with the United States Geological Survey, and at one time assistant paleontologist of the Smithsonian Institution, and Dr. G. E. Bailey, professor of the University of Southern California.

All the scientists have been studying the problems presented by the discovery of these ancient remains, whose age has been estimated at anywhere from 10,000 to 25,000 years, with strong leanings on the part of the experts toward the latter figure. Dr. Stock, who was summoned from the university immediately after the remarkable find was announced, has compared portions of the skulls with those of specimens in the university museum, and while no information has as yet been forthcoming as to his findings, it is expected that he will make an interesting report.

Dr. Hill, who is conceded to be one of the foremost authorities on the subject of geology and paleontology in the United States, has made a thorough survey of the section where the discovery was made and is inclined to the belief that the remains date back to the Glacial Age. If this can be established, it will render this find the most important ever made in the field of paleontology on the American continent, as it will be the first instance of the discovery of geological evidence to support the theory of the existence of human beings here in that remote period.

The pit where the skeletons were exhumed has now been filled in by the Thomas Haverty Company, which firm has the contract for the construction of the outfall sewer. The work of extending the excavation to enable the scientists to conduct their researches was done by the Haverty company at its own expense and, in appreciation of this courtesy, the five skeletons have been named the Haverty Group, and will be thus known in the scientific reports that will be published on the discovery.

Dr. Bryan has filed a request with the Supervisors of Los Angeles county, asking that the county defray the expense of further excavation, as it is believed that if the work could be carried on more extensively other discoveries of equal importance will be made. Action on this request has not as yet been taken, but it is announced that the Supervisors will give Dr. Bryan an answer within a day or two.

"Arriving at New Orleans, he said, he deserted, and came to Los Angeles via Ogden, Utah. He then sent me the note to come and see him. I asked him what he intended to do. He said he had no idea what to do. I asked him if he planned to leave the country. He said he had not the least idea what he was going to do with himself or with the money he had. He seemed to be very irrational.

AUNT PRAYS FOR HIM

"I talked to him and tried to reason with him. He walked the floor in distraction. I finally called up an aunt who lives in Los Angeles and who is an evangelist in the corps working under Aimee Semple McPherson. She came to the hotel room that night. He repeated his story to both of us. She talked to him. She got down on her knees and prayed for him and he sat there in the chair—his face in his hands and tears streaming down his cheeks. Her talk and the prayers appeared to quiet him down and he agreed to come to Azusa with me in the morning, take his farewell of his mother, grandmother and the children and then go with me to San Diego, make his confession to his superior officers and take what punishment was meted out to him.

WALKED THE FLOOR

"After the aunt left he walked the floor in the room virtually the remainder of the night. At about 6 o'clock in the morning he said he was going out to get a newspaper. He never returned."

Mrs. Brown expressed the belief that when her husband got the paper and read that he was being hunted he became frightened and ran away. She declared he had no money with him and that his extra clothes were still in the suit case.

"There can be no woman in this terrible tragedy," Mrs. Brown declared. "It is his mind that has been affected."

Mrs. Brown, after waiting in vain for her husband to return to the hotel, took the two suit cases and returned to the Azusa home. Accompanied by Brown's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, she drove directly to San Diego and turned the suit case, which she had been unable to unlock, over to Capt. Henry N. Jensen, acting commandant of the Eleventh Naval District. The suit case was found to contain $75,820.

FINDS DIAMOND RING

While at San Diego she found that Brown had sent to their Coronado address a letter containing a diamond ring and a sum of money for her birthday. This she turned over to the naval authorities also. It was also revealed at San Diego that on March 22, last, Mrs. Brown informed headquarters of the Eleventh Naval District that her husband was in financial trouble. Brown disappeared on March 10. Naval officers announced last night that at least $25,000 more of the missing funds had been located and that Brown would undoubtedly be in custody within twenty-four hours. They are certain he has not been in San Diego.

CONDUCT EXPLAINED

At the Brown home in Azusa the family insists that Brown's conduct is due to mental aberration.

"He was a model son," said his mother. "When I wanted anything I always went to Ervine for it. That is the kind of boy he was."

Despite their affection for him, all the family announced that they would lend every co-operation to the authorities in helping to apprehend the missing man.

port of the $21,000,000 power bond issue is exactly the kind of expenditure declared illegal in Judge Butler's decision.

To each water, light and power bill is now being pasted stickers which declare that extensions must be made to the power system and that "bonds required to make these extensions" must be voted. Postcards are inclosed in the consumers' bills which the Power Bureau asks the consumers to sign and return to the bureau. The pledge reads: "I heartily indorse" the plans of the Power Bureau and "I pledge my active support and influence to the furtherance of the campaign to bring the plan to a successful issue on the municipal election of May 6" when the $21,000,000 power bonds will be the proposition No. 4 on the ballot.

LETTERS POUR OUT

Letters are being sent out to consumers and registered voters by the department on city stationery mimeographed at the public expense urging support for the propositions on the May 6 ballot and declaring that "our city's need for additional electric resources is imperative."

W. W. Mines in his complaint to the court asking for an order compelling the commissioners to restore to the city treasury $12,415.15 spent from power revenues in support of the $35,000,000 power bond issue, which failed to carry, cited a long list of specific expenditures which included the expense for hundreds of thousands of postcards and of mimeographing them, of thousands of letters and the postage paid for sending them to the voters. These, sent out last spring, carried the same sort of appeals for votes as the cards and letters which the board is now sending out, and, judged by the statement of Commissioner Dykstra, will continue to send out unless other means are found to stop this expenditure.

Special Counsel Mathews of the Power Bureau admitted yesterday that the decision of Judge Butler was a "vital blow" to the Bureau, if sustained by the higher courts, and he talked much of the decision's being an attack upon municipal ownership. Answering this, Attorney Carroll Allen of counsel for Mr. Mines, said yesterday:

"The decision of Judge Butler was not a blow at municipal ownership, but was simply a declaration by the court that public officials, whether in charge of the power, water, health, harbor or any other department, must obey the charter and the law. They are trustees for the funds under their control, and must administer those funds for the benefit of the public. The court held that these power revenues should not be used for political campaigning, and ordered the commissioners and other public officials who authorized and approved of the demands for cash payable to printers, publications, circular distributors, and other handlers of publicity to restore this money illegally spent to the city treasury for the benefit of all of the taxpayers."

PLANS HUGE CAMPAIGN

At the offices of the Power Bureau yesterday the Judge Butler decision caused great gloom, as the Bureau is now sending out literature in support of the $21,000,000 bond issue and has ambitious plans for a campaign similar to or greater than that put over last spring for the $35,000,000 power bonds. The commissioners are not very happy over the fact that if the decision of Judge Butler is sustained by the higher courts, then the commissioners—President Del Valle and Commissioners John R. Haynes, James B. Baker, J. A. Burton and C. A. Dykstra—as well as Controller L. M. Anderson, City Auditor Myers and City Treasurer Powell—must club together and make up the $12,415.15 and replace it in the power revenues funds in the City Treasury from which it was taken. The City Treasurer is in the clear in the matter, as before paying any of the demands last spring he obtained a written opinion from the City Attorney to the effect that once the City Auditor had approved the demands the City Treasurer had no discretion in the matter but was required to pay them.

Now, $12,415.15 is a modest sum for the officials to collectively pay, especially as Commissioner John R. Haynes is a rich man. But the fear at the Power Bureau yesterday was that those taxpayers who are interested in making the Power Bureau a strictly businesslike, non-political institution striving only to make its enterprises pay their way and to leave the drumming up of votes and political support to private citizens who are friends of the Power Bureau, will next move to obtain repayment by the commissioners of the thousands of dollars of power revenues squandered by the Bureau in lobbying at Washington, and in the Imperial Valley and for the large contributions and donations made to the Boulder Dam Association, of which Mayor John L. Bacon of San Diego is president, and to other political organizations. If the courts order all of these political expenditures restored to the Treasury for the benefit of the taxpayers and of the impoverished Bureau itself to be used in buying cable, transformers, and other equipment, then the refund will amount to many thousands of dollars and even Dr. John R. Haynes would be unhappy at paying his share of this refund.

WASTE TO GO ON

Unfortunately, there seems to be no way, short of removal of the entire commission as the result of an aroused public opinion, to compel the bureau to cease its practice of keeping its employees busy on political work for the Swing-Johnson bill and the power bonds on time paid for by the taxpayers. It is said, and so far not denied by the commission, that every one of the more than 4000 employees of the public service department has been told that his or her job depends upon the work each does for the success of the $21,000,000 power bonds on May 6.

This lost time is paid for by the taxpayers. Thus while through the taking over of the edison business by the Power Bureau for $11,000,000, the number of city consumers jumped 50 per cent, the number of employees to handle that business was increased 400 per cent. And these employees are paid from power revenues, and the heavy payrolls, while they mean a large number of city employees to work for bond issues, are one of the important factors contributing to the situation today where the bureau finds itself "broke," with a debt of nearly $7,000,000 to the taxpayers hanging over its head, also a recent noninterest bearing loan from the City Treasury of $500,000 and long unpaid bills to manufacturers of electrical supplies amounting, it is said, in excess of $3,000,000.

Now the bureau is asking for a $21,000,000 bond issue on May 6 in the hope of staving off complete bankruptcy and the open admission that the power enterprises as politically administered have been and are a failure, while the city is buying 75 per cent of its power needs from the Edison company and has revenues of $7,000,000 a year, but only an empty treasury to show for it after bonds for $23,500,000 have been voted which, with power revenues spent, makes a total of $33,000,000 invested in the enterprise since 1910.

SLAYINGS LAID TO SEIZED PAIR

pany, and the kidnaping of C. Sales, the chauffeur.

The first robbery of a Los Angeles Railway bus, on the Wilshire Boulevard line.

John Morrison, the third man, is being held as the driver of the car used in the attempted robbery of the Leighton Cafeteria employee. He could not be identified with any of the other crimes which Ferguson and Wilson are suspected of having committed.

LONG SEARCH

The arrest of the three men were accomplished through information obtained by the J. N. Fyles Detectives after many weeks of gathering information on the Langley murder, the Robbins jewelry robbery, the Sultan Baths robery and other crimes.

Wilson was said to have been implicated in some of the above. The crimes which were contemplated for this week, as said to have been learned by the deputy sheriffs, were:

The Pacific-Southwest Bank, Tenth and Broadway branch.

Boos Brothers' Cafeteria, Seventh and Broadway.

Leighton Cafeteria, 441 South Hill street.

The trail of Ferguson's gang was first picked up two weeks ago by John Fyles, head of the private detective agency bearing his name. His information was given to Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright, who assigned Acting Captain Harvey Bell and the robbery squad to the case. Since then the entire robbery squad had worked day and night while trailing the asserted bandit trio, a branch of a notorious criminal ring numbering many gunmen, until their ultimate capture during a spectacular scene at Fourth and Hill streets yesterday noon.

After the authorities picked up their trail, the Ferguson gang is said to have carefully planned to rob the bank at Tenth street and Western avenue. After stalking the place for several days the plan was temporarily abandoned when the leader learned that the police detectives were watching the place, it was stated.

PLOT CHARGED

Several days were spent in keeping under cover, it said, after which they again emerged from their hiding-place on Wednesday night. They are said to have planned to rush into the Leighton cafeteria at 7 a.m., rob the cashier, then enter and rob the cashier of the Boos Brothers' cafeteria, Seventh and Broadway, at 8 p.m. The plan was temporarily postponed, due to the large numbers of people in the vicinities at that time, it is believed. A hurried trip was then made to Culver City, where they hoped to obtain $1500 in a robbery, but they found the place closed. Returning to Los Angeles, they also found the two cafeterias closed.

The next step of the trio, according to officers, was to steal an automobile from the General Petroleum Company and abandon their first machine. At 11:45 p.m., according to their arrangements, they were to enter the Elite cafe, rendezvous of fashionably dressed after-theater parties, rob the two cashiers and as many patrons as possible.

OFFICERS WAIT

Awaiting the fulfillment of these plans were six deputy sheriffs and Private Detectives John and A. B. Fyles. Within the cafe was Deputy Sheriff Dewar. Hidden on the outside were Deputy Sheriffs White, Marty, Monteleon, Peoples, Brooks and Neighbors.

Three times the asserted bandit trio is said to have visited the cafe. Upon their first arrival a uniformed policeman strolled into the place. Upon the second visit a well-known private detective was leaving. In front of the cafe the private detective had parked his car, upon which was printed his name in flaring letters. Upon the third visit they saw a motorcycle officer in front of the cafe.

"It's a plant," officers declared Ferguson to have said, and the plan for the Elite robbery was abandoned for the night.

For several hours thereafter the trio followed prosperous looking patrons of the cafe to their homes, officers stated. One of these patrons was followed to his garage door. Ferguson is said to have drawn a pistol on him and demanded his jewelry, but the intended victim slammed the door, locking himself within the garage. Another Elite patron was followed until, when discovering that he was being followed, fired one shot at his pursuers.

The trio reorganized for a siege of crime to take place yesterday morning, according to Deputy Sheriff Bell, and planned to rob the bank at Tenth and Broadway. Two detective lieutenants and Deputy Sheriff Marty were stationed in the bank with sawed-off shotguns to await their arrival. Before the contemplated robbery, the plans were again altered when it was learned that a collector for the Leighton cafeteria would leave the Fourth and Hill street establishment at 11 a.m. with a black bag containing $3500.

AWAITED NEXT MOVE

Trailing the men to the cafeteria, Deputy Sheriffs White, Monteleon, Brooks, Neighobrs, Dewar Detectives John and A. B. Fyles awaited their next move. The collector entered the cafeteria. Three men, the taller one carrying a bundle were seen to close in toward the front door. As the collector was departing from the place, the trio rushed toward him. But they were too late for, apparently from nowhere, the deputy sheriffs advanced upon them and covered them with pistols. After an exciting scuffle on the sidewalk, which attracted hundreds of downtown shoppers to the scene, the three were handcuffed together and rushed to the Sheriff's office. In the package were found two loaded automatic pistols and a blackjack. One corner of the package had been torn open and through it projected the handle of the blackjack.

According to the plan, as outlined by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright, Ferguson was to jerk the blackjack from the package, knock the collector unconscious, grab the money pouch, dart into a waiting automobile, whip out the two automatic pistols and speed through the traffic.

Shortly after the capture of the trio a woman giving the name of Flo Calloway, and said to be a sister of Carey Wilson, who is also wanted in St. Louis on a charge of robbery. Carey Wilson at the time of his arrest was on probation, having served ten months' imprisonment in San Francisco for some offense.

The death of "Spider" Kelly, for which Ferguson is believed to be wanted by the San Francisco police, occurred many months ago. According to the information obtained by Sheriff Traeger, Kelly and Ferguson were members of the same "high-jacking" gang. Kelly was arrested and is said to have suspected Ferguson as the one responsible for the arrest.

QUICKER ON TRIGGER

Kelly is then said to have made the threat "that there would be one less stool pigeon in the gang." Ferguson, according to the story, heard of the threat and visited Kelly to "call his bluff." Kelly is then said to have drawn his gun on Ferguson, but the latter was too quick on the trigger, mortally shooting Kelly.

CITIZENS SCORE POWER BUDGET

made mistakes," said Martin C. Neuner.

"You could hardly help it," replied Mrs. Berenice A. Johnson, "after the bureau had tried to sell at a secret sale $11,000,000 worth of power bonds to Irving H. Hellman at $2,000,000 less than the bonds were worth and which they bought at an open, public sale."

EMPTY PROMISES

"I have lived in Los Angeles many years," said Laura Taylor Kelly, "and I have long listened to these Power Bureau promises of how the great profits from the power business would be returned to the taxpayers, but these promises have never been kept, and it is always 'give us more millions' with the Power Bureau."

"I suppose you saw in today's newspaper," said Brook Hawkins, "how 'Billy' Mines won his suit to compel the Power Bureau people to restore to City Treasury the public funds they had misspent for politics. Mr. Mines deserves a vote of thanks from the people of Los Angeles for halting this waste and misuse of the people's money."

The Power Bureau's financial statement to the committee was declared an "insult to the intelligence of the members of the committee," by Mr. Hawkins. In this statement it was set forth that the Power Bureau had received from the people of Los Angeles $23,000,000, all of which had been issued and sold and said there was no cash on hand from any of these bond issues. In addition the bureau said it had spent its revenues on its system, making a total of $33,758,000 which the bureau has had and spent on its plants and lines since 1910.

Outbreaks Found on Ranches Near Los Angeles

Every Precaution Urged to Halt Epidemic

Favorable News is Received from Kern County

Two fresh outbreaks of the foot-and-mouth disease last night, one at a hog ranch near Lankershim and the other at a dairy farm at Cheviot, caused authorities to redouble further the enforcement of the quarantine. The outbreaks are the first to be reported outside the industrial section of Los Angeles. The first was in a herd of approximately 1000 swine while a dairy herd of about thirty is affected in the second, officials stated.

Immediately after the outbreaks were discovered the sections about each locality were placed under tight quarantine. Special officers will be stationed for approximately half a mile in each direction from the two places. Hogs, cats and animals found at large within the closed area will be killed.

The situation is still serious throughout the State, according to a statement made by Dr. J. P. Iverson, chief of the Division of Animal Industry, State Department of Agriculture, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to review the situation here.

MUST BE FOUGHT

The most important thing next to the actual disease itself, said Dr. Iverson, is the necessity for awakening all citizens to the seriousness of the situation, for while California has already lost directly thousands of dollars, the indirect loss resulting from the impairment of business can hardly be estimated, and every day lost in winning this fight means greater apprehension on the part of the people in other States, which in turn adds to injury of business here.

Dr. Iverson expressed his approval of the manner in which the disease has been segregated in Los Angeles, resulting, thus far, in checking further spread of the disease. In order to prevent contamination of the ranges where cattle feed, Dr. L. M. Hurt, Los Angeles County Live-stock Inspector, is closing many roads which lead into the mountains and range country of the county. Barricades are being erected and guards placed by Undersheriff Biscailuz, whose forces are co-operating with State and county officials engaged in the eradication of the disease.

That the motorist can perform a greater service to the State at this time than to assist in the eradication of the disease by observing every quarantine regulation, is the gist of an announcement recently issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which is co-operating with authorities to help stamp out the malady.

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—Organization of a State-wide citizens' committee to keep each community informed of the developments in the fight on the foot-and-mouth disease to allay hysteria on the part of citizens and to strengthen co-operation between the various arms enforcing the quarantine was announced today by State Director Hicks. The California Development Association is in charge.

Each community will be represented by five or more citizens. Official bulletins from here will keep them informed daily of the fight.

President Charles W. Heiser of the California Development Association named as the executive committee the following: A. B. C. Dohrmann, San Francisco; Harry Chandler, Los Angeles; C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and R. B. Hale, San Francisco.

Officials in charge here today urged the public to be calm in the fight against the disease. They point out that both meat and milk are now safer for human consumption than before because of the regulations and precautions. They also say there had not been a single instance in the United States where a human being has contracted the malady.

Dr. V. G. Hauck, personal representative of Secretary Wallace of Agriculture, arrived here today. He will leave for Los Angeles tonight. He announced that the Federal government is ready to give all possible assistance.

A conference of all district attorneys and supervisors of California is called here for Saturday to determine upon a uniform quarantine system for the entire State.

The State Department proposes that a line shall be drawn across the State from Nevada to the Pacific Ocean to cross portions north of Marin, Solano and Sacramento counties, this to be a dead line across which movement of cattle of all sorts will be rigidly supervised.

MERCED, April 3.—Optimism pervaded the San Joaquin Valley today with no new cases reported since Tuesday. Co-operation of the finest sort is being shown by cow-folk owners, officials stated.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 3. Regulations adopted by the County Supervisors today prohibit the entry of live stock and hides. Only roads open to traffic where disinfection is provided and order disinfection of all containers used in milk offered for sale.

REDDING, April 3.—Shasta County today barred live stock from the lower Sacramento Valley. Guards have been placed along the county line.

MADISON (Wis.) April 3.—Farmers today declared an embargo against shipments of live stock, hides, straw and bedding materials originating in California, as a precaution against the foot-and-mouth disease.

SANTA ANA, April 3.—Quarantine regulations were tightened today. Camping resorts were ordered closed, all dirt roads leading into the county were barricaded and limitations were placed on the manner in which dairy products may be bought.

The drastic measures do not prohibit movement of persons in or out of the county. Sawdust saturated with a germ-killing solution is placed at the county lines as dirt roads so that the infection may not be spread by vehicular traffic.

OVERDOING IT

The building of skyscrapers is on the wane. The sky doesn't need scraping as much as it did.

BARBEROUS

Under the new law for the protection of the ballot in Santo Domingo a citizen is shaved when he casts his ballot. Under this sort of a check any President elected must get in by a close shave. It seems like a barberous custom.

GOOD MONEY

The late William A. Pinkerton, who died in this city in December, left an estate of nearly $2,000,000, showing that he was able to detect the big money. He had nearly $400,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, so that there was no question about his patriotism and confidence.

THE SPENDERS

At that, the Federal income tax is less than one-fifth of the combined tax bill which the people meet. While taxes are climbing it is a good thing to note a serious disposition on the part of some of those in authority to take in a reef. We are carrying more sail than is good for the ship.

THE LOST CAUSE

Californians are being implored to support the claims and pretensions of their native son to the end. They are urged to go with him into the last ditch—and stay there. But why? Why should any sane citizenship yield itself into the keeping of a lone warrior with a sore thumb? What sport is there in the ditch when there is a nice paved boulevard running in the exact direction in which one would go? This being loyal to a self-styled favorite son against the massed impulse of America will get the California Republicans nowhere. There isn't even any honor in being with a forlorn hope that has no place to start from and no place to go.

LIGHT HUNGER

During certain winter months Great Britain has an average of only one hour of sunshine a day. As a consequence the inhabitants annually suffer a peculiar kind of influenza, which a London specialist says is caused by sun starvation. Light hunger produces mental depression and physical debility. He has proved his statement by curing patients with "light baths." The physical effects of living in damp gloom appear in the skeletons of the cave men "in the bones of both men and beasts," says Prof. Henry Fairchild Osborn, "many instances have been observed of diseased swellings and of inflammation of the vertebrae." We know that dark, damp days bring out the old man's rheumatism and cause corns to ache. That is why the Riviera and Southern California are destined to become more and more popular—sun hunger is unknown.

THE COLOR GUARD

We have with us one of those color counselors who hold that tints and shades have an important bearing upon the life and looks of a human being as well as in establishing the harmonies of the home. She has heard the scientist who declares that people wax or wane under certain colors.

If one sleeps in a white and pink room in the glare of day one may grow fat where darkness and black walls would encourage a physical shrinkage. The lady expert adds that wrong color combinations in the home are responsible for a lot of domestic friction and divorce. Many girls fall into the wallflower class because they simply fail to grasp the essentials of color. They do not understand their own advantages or defects. Put a plain girl into some distinctive or appropriate garb and she may become the belle of the ball.

It is the mission of this skirted specialist to spread the gospel of color. She urges that harmony in color is the same as harmony in music and that both are based upon natural and fundamental laws. One strikes notes or chords in color just as on a piano. Color has as much influence on temperament as sound. There are noises that are harsh, discordant and nerve-racking. There are colors that excite the passions or disturb the peace to like extent. People may suppress or escape from the noises, but they may not be fully aware of the mental damage done by obnoxious color until their nervous systems are disordered.

Here would seem to be a call for a keen-eyed color guard—a tasty and sensible specialist who could nip all green and yellow combinations in the bud. Charts which indicate the harmonious blends of tints and shades are provided, so that some self-protection can be provided for all who are not color blind.

Brunettes should wear soft, clear colors rather than flaming shades. Blondes should wear blues and greens that tone down high coloring, while the pale blonde should wear lighter hues. The specialist says that most restaurants decorated in blue are failures. It is a color not in accord with the harmonies of gastronomy and repels the appetite. Possibly the delft blue breakfast rooms found in so many of our homes are indirectly responsible for the wrecking of domestic romances.

THE COURT'S REBUKE

An evil and vicious political practice received a death blow when Judge Edward L. Butler handed down a decision on Wednesday in a suit brought by W. W. Mines against the Public Service Commission.

The decision goes deeper than the issues directly involved. It lays down in no uncertain terms the legal principle that public money cannot be used in any way that the idle spring fancies of this or any other municipal board see fit.

In this particular case it was shown that the Public Service Commissioners, through the Municipal Power Bureau, had diverted public funds to strange purposes. During the $25,000,000 power-bond campaign public money was spent by the board in political propaganda of various sorts from jazz bands and newspaper advertising to marcel hair-waving. None of these contentions was denied by the board, which attempted legally to justify the expenditures.

The decision of the court emphatically repudiates their contention in these words:

> It is within the power of the said board to expend the proceeds of the bonds (if they should be authorized) in the extension, repair, betterment, etc., of the light and power system, and the law gives them a wide discretion in such matters. But expending public funds in making a campaign in favor of the bonds cannot be justified any more than could its expenditure in making a campaign against them. Should the people of Los Angeles deem it desirable that the Board of Public Service Commissioners or the City Council should have such power they can easily confer it by a charter amendment.

The amount of money involved in the suit is of very little consequence compared with the principle involved.

Mr. Mines sued to have $12,415.15 returned to the city as having been improperly expended on the political campaign. As a matter of fact, the total amount actually expended for that purpose was very much larger. Counting the loss of time of the city employees herded out to do political campaigning, the amount is probably nearer $100,000 than $12,000.

For a long time the Public Service Commission has conducted its affairs in a high-handed way. It regarded itself as somewhat above and beyond the reach of the ordinary organic provisions of law intended for the regulation of the departments of the city government. It seemed to regard the vast business of the Power Bureau as a little family affair of its own.

To put the affair of this campaign money in the most charitable light, it seems evident that the Power Bureau is incompetent to handle public funds; that it is an unsafe custodian of the taxpayers' money. This is a fact that will—and certainly should—be remembered by the taxpayers and voters when they come to vote on the $21,000,000 bond issues for which the Public Service Commission is asking. There is nothing in this whole affair that will tend to make the voter believe that this commission is composed of the right men to intrust with that huge amount of money.

Altogether beyond the local bearing of this decision it makes clear a fundamental principle which will stand for the guidance of all cities and all municipal boards and officials. The courts will not countenance the use either of public money or the use of public-paid employees for political campaigns.

This latter phase—the detailing of public employees to "do politics"—is a growing evil which will receive, from this decision, a severe set-back.

THE STRATEGIC PHILIPPINES

Political independence of the Philippine Islands concerns others besides the United States and the Filipinos.

President Coolidge has ably and courageously set forth the immediate and fundamental reason why the Philippines should not be granted independence at the present time; they are not ready for it politically. It would be unjust and cruel to cast them loose into a troubled world with responsibilities with which they are unable and unprepared to cope.

There are, however, further reasons that have nothing to do with the Filipinos themselves or with their ambition for independence. The United States has a duty to the safety and peace of the world by reason of the strategic position of this island group.

A wrong decision in the matter of Philippine independence could easily lay the foundations for a world war, compared with which the last one would be a game of tag between children.

Nothing is settled in the Far East. Everything is in a state of diplomatic chaos. China is a mess. The conflicting claims of Japan and the numerous fleeting, flitting peripatetic governments and near-governments of Siberia remain to be adjusted.

All the great powers of Europe have important trade interests in the Far East. The machinery for the protection of these interests has broken down.

Germany has been thrown out altogether; and England, in announcing the abandonment of the plan for a naval base at Singapore, seems to have left the field to the United States. Only the strong position of the United States seems to stand in the Far East as a bar for the ruinous doctrine of "The Orient for Orientals."

The battle of Tsushima Straits during the Russo-Jap War demonstrated that Japan occupies an almost impregnable position as against an invading navy. The Russian battleships arrived at the theater of war with foul bottoms and too heavily incumbered from the long voyage for rapid maneuvering. The Russian fleet, therefore, suffered the most crushing defeat in the history of naval warfare.

The same thing is likely to happen to any fleet that breaks into Far Eastern waters. Especially since the submarine arrived.

The submarine is a weapon best adapted for service at short ranges. The German subs would have been 100 times more effective had they not been obliged to operate at such a great distance from their bases. Japan would be under no such disadvantage. A fleet invading oriental waters would have to face the hidden dangers of swarms of undersea boats popping out of concealed nests in the hands of the Japanese.

The only plain counter-measure against the submarine peril is from the air. But the airship is also a weapon best handled at short range. To be effective there would have to be airship bases comparatively near the Japanese submarine bases. Where could this be if not in the Philippines?

If the United States turns loose the Philippines it casts away the family revolver.

Furthermore, it throws into the delicately adjusted game of diplomacy an unknown quantity; it brings in a new player in possession of powerful trumps, but with unknown intentions, aims, ambitions and purposes.

DANGEROUS LAXITY

After the last day of this week it will be too late to register. Every American who has neglected this foremost of his responsibilities and first of his privileges has relinquished the right to demand government by the consent of the governed—and has indorsed the principle of taxation without representation.

So long as he remains unregistered and ineligible to vote he is for all intents and purposes a man without a country. The American who deliberately takes no part in the political affairs of the nation is a shade lower than the resident alien who refuses to be naturalized.

No honorable man or woman, blest with so fair a birthright or granted by adoption so rich a benefit, willfully refuses to do his part toward securing for his country the type of statesman and the kind of laws that he has thoughtfully decided will bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

But procrastination, indifference, the rush of private business, the thousand other interests of daily life have bred in many a dangerous laxity in the performance of that service to the State on which their own happiness and that of their children depend—first to register and after to cast a vote.

Both acts are so simple and take such a minimum of time—to sign a paper and to stamp a ballot. Yet how many, who can spend hours every week in criticising and condemning the acts of the people's elected representatives, never spare the few minutes that will give them the power to correct what they do not approve.

Even in Los Angeles, so typically American, this dangerous laxity is distressingly apparent. In May, 1923, the Tenth Congressional District of this city held an election to elect a Congressman and to pass on a proposed bond issue of $50,000,000. This Congressional district is probably peopled with as intelligent and patriotic an electorate as any in the United States.

And confronted with these two issues of paramount importance to them personally and politically the district polled just 30.2 per cent of the registered vote!

Why is the present Congress so unsatisfactory and so barren? Think it out, all you Californians who have neglected to register or who fail to vote in May or November.

THE MAN AND THE OFFICE

Harlan Fiske Stone, selected by the President to fill the second vacancy in his Cabinet, is, for the time being, the man of the hour. Not only in the Senate, but in the country at large, his record will be subjected to close scrutiny by both friends and foes of the present administration.

What manner of man is this, the first choice of the President for the important office of Attorney-General of the United States?

One short sentence throws more light on the past performances and future promise of Harlan Fiske Stone than whole columns in any political, professional or social "Who's Who."

He is a "$100,000 man willing, for patriotic reasons, to accept a $12,000 job."

The President's choice is a fine answer to the fomentors of discontent who are trying to make the people believe that modern patriotism is nothing but a scramble for dollars and cents—a reaching out for a larger share of the loaves and fishes.

Research into the life and work of Mr. Stone—from his boyhood on a New Hampshire farm to his position as dean of Columbia University school of law and partnership in a big New York law firm—only confirms the adequacy of the sentence that sums up his character.

But those who know him personally add the information that he is a two-fisted fighter, an athlete, an orator and still a typical thrifty New Hampshire farmer.

In other words, he comes of the plain, straight American stock on which the people are leaning more and more every day for confidence and support.

Evidently President Coolidge is looking at public interests through the eyes of the people and not of the politicians. He is resolved that the office shall seek the man, not the man the office.

TOO MUCH GREEN WOOD

A State Committee on Public Instruction has arrived at one of those unusually apt conclusions from which not even officially appointed investigators are entirely immune. They have taken a step which certain self-styled Progressives will term a step backward. They have recommended the abolition of the present statutory list of subjects required to be taught in the elementary schools.

Such a recommendation, if acted on, will prune out much of the green wood and dead litter from the public education tree and give the sunshine and the air a chance to percolate among the branches. The operation will clarify and invigorate its growth. Only the strange brand of confused thinker, who is never so happy as when he can't see the forest for the trees, will find fault with this suggestion for study pruning.

In 1893 fourteen subjects were required by law. Could every elementary school ground its pupils thoroughly in only half these subjects it would make a record to be proud of. If every boy and girl taking up further studies could pass a stiff exam in the three R's alone our educational system would be working much better than it is at present.

Fourteen subjects as a starter should have satisfied any crammer of immature youth, should have supplied the machinery for any reasonable number of little Tom-Noddy factories. But it didn't meet the views of the faddists and hobby-riders. Year after the list was lengthened till today the trembling aspirant, entering the first educational chamber, faces the onslaught of thirty compulsory brain-fillers.

Whether the State Board of Education will act on the suggestion of the committee remains to be seen. The fact that their indorsement will mean better-informed children will naturally have little to do with their course of action. That a State-appointed committee, however, should have recommended so beneficial a pruning shows that the new regime is making itself felt in affairs at Sacramento.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE CARRIER BOY

The boy who brings the papers and our approval earns sidesteps the pleasant capers for which his spirit yearns; he might be playing shinny, he might be playing ball, or swinging in the spinney or fishing from a wall; a hundred gay diversions would tempt his feet astray, a hundred blithe excursions to playgrounds far away. The other boys are fishing where babbling brooklets run and he is doubtless wishing that he might share their fun; the other boys are skating upon the frozen pond, but he has patrons waiting beyond and still beyond; the folks must have their papers, though fun forever stops, the grocers and the drapers, the bankers and the cops. His customers are looking, their watches in their hands, beshrewing and gadsooking, in fretful, peevish bands; "That boy must have a warning, he is three minutes late; his duty he is scorning, we'll have to set him straight." And so he swiftly carries his papers, dauntless chap; and if he stops or tarries to watch two Airedales scrap, to watch some tom cats clawing each other's fur apart, he gets a frightful jawing that nearly breaks his heart. His patrons' frowns distress him, he strives so hard to please; and if we fail to bless him our tribal name is Cheese. WALT MASON.

THIS IS THE DAY

Henry Hudson, an English navigator in the service of the Dutch, sailed from Amsterdam, Holland, in the year 1609, in the Half Moon, a little ship of only eighty tons. With a crew of twenty men he was seeking an all-water route to the western ocean north of the colony of Virginia. He entered the river which bears his name on September 4 of the same year.

LONG THEATER RUNS

BY CHARLES DILLEY

Two famous American plays, supremely regnant in their respective fields, have met at last in Los Angeles for smiling felicitations. The event is important and interesting for the emphasis it places on this city as one of the world's foremost dramatic capitals.

For, while John S. McGroarty's "Mission Play" has an unapproached record, with more than 2000 performances, among resident theaters everywhere, "Lightnin'," now at the new Biltmore, with the same mark behind it and countless showings ahead, is the brain-child of a former Los Angeles actor, the lamented Frank Bacon. For many years Bacon played it on this coast, though in cruder form, before he got the expert Winchell Smith to carpenter it.

Closely crowding "Lightnin'" in the prospect of longevity is "Abie's Irish Rose," which was born at the Morosco Theater here in February, 1923, and has made Anna Nichols, its young author (she is still in her twenties,) one of the wealthiest women in the theatrical world. Now in the third unbroken year in New York, "Abie" is confounding all the critics by breaking records in every city in which its road companies appear.

Twenty-nine weeks in Pittsburg—unprecedented; twenty-four in Cleveland—unheard of; previous to that forty-two in Los Angeles and twenty-eight in San Francisco. Professional critics laughed "Abie" to scorn. "A play for morons," said one in New York. "Comedy for the easily-pleased," another summed it up. Yet Anna Nichols takes it into any city and demolishes all previous records by 100, 200 or 300 per cent.

Memorable long runs of the theater that have had their inception in Los Angeles include those of "Peg o' My Heart," "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Wizard of Oz"—the last not a local production, but composed here by L. Frank Baum and Louis Gottschalk—and "The Fool," by Channing Pollock.

To one interested in the lore of the playhouse these facts open up the whole subject of long runs in the theater.

But wait a minute. Before plumbing our own authors and producers let us not forget that modest but celebrated offering of Harriet Beecher Stowe. Without question "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will never be rivaled until some great crisis like the one that inspired it again comes into history. You may not know it, but way back in the hamlets of this continent, where the hoarse cough of the locomotive is never heard and the crow of the early-rising cock strikes the loudest note of the day, "Tom shows," as the profession knows them, are still being given in tents carried on wheels or mayhap in the town halls. Probably 10,000 would be understating the total performances of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

At one time there were twenty-six Tom shows moving American yokels to tears from Maine to Alaska. One veteran of the theater can count more than fifty that he has known that never approached even a small-sized city. Uncle Tom has been whipped by Simon Legree so many times that there is really not even a near-rivalry in the matter of total performances. But as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has made its record largely in tents, town halls, skating rinks and in one well-authenticated case a livery stable, it can be set aside in any comparison of theater records.

For continuous performances the world's theater record doubtless belongs to "Chu Chin Chow," with its total of 2240, marked up in an unbroken run of five years in London. The British capital also takes second place, with its mark set up by "Charley's Aunt," compared with these figures from Broadway. Boucicault's 1291 in New York and Cornelius Taylor's achievement of 1200 in New York and Los Angeles; "Peg o' My Heart" seems unimpressive. "The Private Secretary" and "Our Boys" ran over 1000 times in the Metropolis when New York was looking upon "A Trip to China," 857; "The Lion and the Mouse," 620; "Adonis," 603; "The Only Master," 694, and "The Old Homestead" rang," 522, as big doings.

Standards of comparison in such matters are not easy to find because the British and American situations differ so much. This country, with its wide spaces, our scattered cities supplied with the hits by various road companies, while England London is England, and, practically speaking, and the only John Bull can see a specimen like "Chu Chin Chow" is the capital. Those impressive long runs are really put in the scale with the total performances of one of our best plays.

For, after all, a long run means nothing unless it epitomizes the popularity of a play and is backed by this measure, total performances ought to count in comparison. So Warfield's "The Music Master" should be set down as including its trouping time without the aid of duplicate companies, and "Erminie" has run more than 1000 times in the Casino Theater in New York, not counting its many performances in other cities.

A long string of plays that readily come to mind once have been on the metropolitan boards such as "The Man from Home," "The Man of the Hour," "Paid For," "The Lion and the Mouse," "Bunty Pulls the Strings," "Within the Law," "The Girl of the Golden West" and "Seven Days," records in the four hundred of New York, with treble the duration of their time, now give pause for attention to those figures.

The personal hall of fame in the theater would seem, from a consideration of the records, as judged from the box-office viewpoint, to be headed by these figures: Shakespeare, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Gilbert and Sullivan, Winchell Smith, Anna Nichols and John S. McGroarty for their respective achievements.

Shakespeare's "gross" is probably unapproached, owing a long start he had on the rest. The total of Gilbert and Sullivan must come second to that of the Stratford genius. In London four of their operettas ran a total of over 2500 nights. No American author for the stage has equaled Mrs. Stowe. Winchell Smith's "Lightnin'," "Turn to the Right," "The Boomerang" and "The Fortune Hunter," all "knockouts" to his credit, probably has piled more in money than any other American author. For single individual achievement in a long way Miss Nichols stands without peer, and Mr. McGroarty's record with a resident theater has no parallel.

What makes a success? Some of the pundits say it is some say a balance of laughs and tears; some say "clean" plays; others succeed in a big way and point to this and that as proof. How do they account for that long list of iniquity, "The Black Crook," which long held the New York record of the last generation? It hadn't the fun appeal and beauty of the modern—horrible diets—were Hoyt's "Trip to Chinatown" supplied the fun, but it was considered one of the "racy" shows of its day.

MONEY AND ART

By The Foothill Philosopher

It has been said that art and money never go together. Sometimes they don't—more often they do. Recently the Commercial Board of Los Angeles conducted a meeting at the Biltmore Hotel to discuss "What Art Means to the Commercial Life of Our Community." It was all very lovely and even living artists were properly eulogized by "cold-blooded" business men who spoke eloquently of the debt which the industrial and financial world owes to art—and, incidentally, to the artists. Also, be it said to the credit of the members of the board, an attempt was made to provide means for the partial payment of the acknowledged debt, through a resolution which favored the appointment of a given sum of public moneys to be used in providing cash prizes to local painters and sculptors.

However, there is another side to the question and that is the debt which art and artists owe to commercialism—to money, if you please, and to those who spend their lives in handling, accumulating and distributing "iron men." That the average artist is usually in debt is not news to the sentimental grocer who continues to trust in the final victory of potential genius. But that the successful artist owes a debt to commerce which he can never repay is also true.

True enough it is that without art even our money would not be beautiful in appearance, yet it is equally true that without money art would "flourish" even less than it does today. Without a standard, easily handled medium of exchange, art would degenerate and artists would "give up the ghost." This is so for many reasons.

In the first place, if there were no money and no incentive on the part of artists and traders to accumulate such evidence and symbol of power artists would be too busy to paint or to "sculp." For instance, if the poet, instead of spending a whole day writing an "ode to spring" which he intended to spring on an alleged unsuspecting editor, were compelled to spend his day shelling a bushel of corn, carrying it to mill and then bringing his "grist" back home to be made into bread, he would be too weary, when night came, to saddle Pegasus for a joy ride among the stars; if the painter were compelled to run down a wild deer, tan the hide into footgear before he could have a pair of shoes to have precious little time to ease at his easel competing other would-be Manets and Monets. If he had no hope of corralling enough at the end (which he too often does despise) to permit him to study without fear of the "struggling artist" would struggle—and many really are—nations would be lost to the beautiful.

Happily, machinery, trade have made it possible even the humblest of artists in comparative comfort and leisure at least to strive for prizes which a few rich patrons are ever ready to shower those artists who can convince them that it is possible for the American artist of today to produce as fine a picture in America as an Italian colorist of yesterday could paint in Italy the year.

The circumstance that Calvin Coolidge is a suspender-wearing shirt man also tends to restore confidence of the American people. If there is anything to be worn there is nothing like a good pair of suspenders in which to have faith.

Once I really start—but, oh!
Started is so hard to get.

See the other fellows run,

Yet no one is half so wise—
I'll outstrip them all, I know,
Once I'm fairly started—but,

I can do a lot of things
Better than the common run,
Lots of times I try my wings,
Sitting dreaming—and get none.

Bickford Mandolin Players Prove Treat

American Guitar Society Presents Numbers

Support is Advised for Dill Bill

As announced earlier in the week, The Bickford Mandolin Orchestra and The American Guitar Society played over KHJ for Radioland last night. Through the courtesy of Ray F. Chesley, Ford dealer at Bell, a splendid program of instrumental music was arranged and presented by Mr. and Mrs. Myron Bickford, two of the leading exponents of the fretted instruments in this country. Mr. Bickford, a former Los Angeles girl, invaded the East and returned to her native city with a talented husband and the praise of eastern critics for her complete mastery of the guitar. Their offering at KHJ gave ample evidence of the excellent character of instruction which centers into the training of their pupils.

Before going to Radioland the Bickford Mandolin Orchestra of forty players, this unusual aggregation consisting mandolins, mandolas, mando-cellos, guitars, banjos, bass and 'cello, and under the direction of Mr. Bickford, opened the program with an overture composed by the director.

The next three numbers were descriptive of the various episodes in string instrument history. These were well interpreted by Mr. and Mrs. Bickford, who played the first selection, "Happy Days," in duet. Representative of the period when the instruments of the guitar and lute were the reigning favorites in the courts of Europe. The second number, "Lament the Strings," another duet, symbolized the era when the instruments were cast aside because of the increasing popularity of the piano. The concluding duet, "Song of Triumph," expressed the final victory of the guitar and lute instruments for recognition.

SELECTIONS VARIED

Several other compositions of Mr. Bickford were rendered by the mandolin orchestra as well as a number of standard selections. Morris G. Van Auken, well-known mandolist and soloist, formerly of Pittsburg, is concert master of this organization.

Marking their first appearance in Radioland, the American Guitar Society players picked beautiful melodies from their instruments. This society was formed for the purpose of exploiting the classic or Spanish guitar. The various numbers presented last night offered a striking comparison to the Hawaiian method.

The Bickford Plectrum Quintet composed of Mr. Bickford, who played first mandolin; Bob Cottrel, second mandolin; Harry C. Allen, mandola; M. G. Van Auken, mando-'cello, and Mrs. Bickford, guitar, created a noteworthy blending of instruments and furnished their hearers a new angle to string music. The program also served to introduce another unique organization, the Bickford Banjo Trio, composed of Mr. Bickford, Albert Urquhart and Norman H. Paige, which revived the five-string banjo, played in the old-fashioned finger style.

TENOR PLEASES

Charles F. Thwing, accompanied by Paul Marson, was a change with his pleasing tenor voice. His two selections by Cadman were well received and earned a hearty welcome to Radioland with wishes for an early return.

Mr. Bickford, departing from his role of director, offered two classical solos on the mandolin in a fashion that stamped him a musician of serious training. Many requests were received for encores during the recital.

At 8:05 p.m., Harry Chandler delivered a brief but pointed address on the impending Dill bill, designed to relieve broadcasting stations from the burden of paying royalties on music used by their performers. Mr. Chandler vigorously denounced the attitude of the society which seeks to deprive the large radio public of their entertainment, and appealed to all his hearers to lend their support to KHJ and other stations by telegraphing their Representative in Washington, requesting a favorable vote on the bill. KFI remained silent during Mr. Chandler's talk.

The absorbing interest of the matinee program being given at KHJ through the courtesy of Barker Brothers continued to hold the undivided attention of Radioland as Claire Forbes Crane, the pianist-composer, arranged and presented another lecture-recital dwelling upon four of the famous male characters in opera. Preceding each vocal interpretation, Miss Crane outlined briefly the foibles and redeeming qualities of the character and the conditions which influenced each life.

RUSSIAN SINGS

Naum Coster, the Russian tenor who assisted Miss Crane, gave to the program the qualifications developed by concert work in England, France and Canada; seven years of Victor recording in six different languages and soloist with the Russian Symphony Orchestra of New York City. The combined efforts of Miss Crane at the piano and Mr. Coster's excellent voice made each reading an actual scene from the opera. The efforts of Barker Brothers toward advancing the standards of broadcasting are being rewarded with the acclaim of Radioland.

After cruising around the world with the old English sea rovers, Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog took his followers to Jamestown where lived Capt. John Smith, leader of that little colony of settlers in Virginia which endured almost insufferable hardships. Their turbulent lives permitted opportunity for full play of Prof. Hertzog's powers of narration. Jane Hammel, 12-year-old-pianist pupil of Ruth Thomas, showed the results of her proficient training by playing her few numbers without a flaw.

Mrs. Malvina Dunn, who possesses a deep understanding of immature minds as indicated by the character of her readings, recited three tales that pleased the youngsters and made them wish that Mrs. Dunn would tell more stories. Dickie Brandon knew a few stories himself. But Dickie's greatest fun is derived from his chatter with Uncle John. And Dickie keeps up his end without any trouble for his little mind is active beyond his years.

HAWAIIANS PLAY

George M. Stearns lent his excellent baritone voice to the children's hour and offered a new number entitled "Sandman's Song," recently composed by Esther Mugan Bush of San Diego.

The lunch hour enthusiasts had their musical diet changed again. Dainties from Hawaii were on the menu served by Mackie's Queen's Hawaiians, composed of George W. Mackie, ukelele, Joseph Hawaki, steel guitar, and Everett Kakalia, guitar. The only difficulty this trio experiences during their engagements at KHJ is supplying the demand of encores which are requested. The same condition prevailed yesterday and very little time was afforded for the presentation of new numbers.

Mayor Cryer yesterday received a brief letter from President Coolidge's secretary, C. B. Slemp, acknowledging receipt of the Mayor's telegram protesting the Federal Power Commission's report against the Swing-Johnson bill, which is being sponsored and lobbied for by Congressman Phil Swing, Hiram Johnson and representatives of the Los Angeles Municipal Bureau of Power and Light who were sent to Washington and remained there for weeks at public expense. Secretary Slemp's letter to the Mayor follows:

"The President has received your telegram of March 28 concerning the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon bill and has noted your interest in this matter. He is bringing it to the attention of the Federal Power Commission."

VALHALLA DECISION DEFERRED

Real Estate Commissioner Hears Last of Evidence in Cemetery Lot Row

State Real Estate Commissioner Keiser yesterday took under advisement the charges against the Osborne and Fitzpatrick Finance Corporation made by section-buyers in connection with the sale of cemetery lots in Valhalla Memorial Park near Burbank. Decision will not be made within less than a month, Commissioner Keiser stated, it being his intention to give thorough consideration to the evidence.

More than a score of hearings have been conducted by the commissioner since March 3, last. The complaint filed by section-buyers charged misrepresentation in the sale of lots. It was filed after a series of heated public meetings of section-buyers. The complaint mentioned the corporation, Osborne and Fitzpatrick individually, and a number of the sales managers.

It is understood that the only action possible by the commissioner could be the revocation of real estate brokers' permits granted to sales managers of the corporation. It is said the corporation so far this year has made no application for renewal of its permits.

More than $3,500,000 worth of lots in the park have been sold to approximately 6000 section-buyers, it is stated.

WIFE TRAPS HUSBAND THROUGH RELATIVES

CUNNING REWARDED AFTER YEARS OF FAILURE IN DILIGENT SEARCH

After she had sought her husband without success for several years, Mrs. Rosa Goldberg resorted to cunning, she testified before Judge Clock, who has her suit for maintenance from William Goldberg under advisement.

She wrote to one of his relatives, declaring she had become well-to-do and was solicitous about her husband's welfare, she said. She learned immediately that he was in Los Angeles. So she came here to file her suit.

Ever since, Goldberg has evaded her, she declared. Goldberg denied this, asserting that he believed a court order made in New York several years ago constituted a legal separation.

CRUEL TREATMENT IS CHARGED TO HUSBAND

Joseph William Bourguignon locked his wife in a room when her mother was dying and then went out and beat their dog, Mrs. Jennie O. Bourguignon testified yesterday in Judge Burke's court, where she was granted a decree of divorce. She also asserted she had to support her husband and that in return for this all she received was cruel treatment at his hands.

YOUTH SENTENCED IN GOLF LINKS ROBBERY

James Costello, 18 years of age, who pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery in connection with the hold-up February 4, last, of three golf players at the Annandale Country Club, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Crail to serve the remainder of his minority in the Preston State School at Ione. The golfers, who were said to have lost several hundred dollars in the robbery, were J. Martin, F. W. Goekas and J. J. Crowley.

BLAMED FOR PARALYSIS

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the most delightfully arranged affairs of recent date was the bridge tea with which Miss Mariquita Wardman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Wardman of East Huntington Drive, Alhambra, entertained Saturday afternoon at the San Gabriel Country Club in honor of her sister, Miss Emily Wardman, and Miss Marion Vale of Los Angeles, whose marriage to Reginald Olds will be one of the events of May 1. The decorations were effectively carried out in spring flowers and fruit blossoms, eleven tables being arranged for bridge games. When the guests were seated and the decks of cards opened, a slip of paper was found in each deck announcing the engagement of one of the guests, Miss Margaret Woodside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woodside of Hollywood, to Karl Didricksen. Miss Woodside is a sorority sister of the hostess, being graduated from the University of Southern California. She is a Pi Beta Phi. After the card games a prize was awarded at each table, which, when opened, revealed an announcement of the engagement of Miss Emily Wardman to Samuel J. Bell of Whittier. Mr. Bell was graduated from the University of California, and is a Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity member, while Miss Wardman was graduated from Stanford and is a Delta Gamma. During the serving of refreshments exquisitely iced cakes were passed and revealed the announcement of the engagement of the charming young hostess, Miss Mariquita Wardman, to Owen P. Reeves of Pasadena. Mr. Reeves was graduated from Amherst College, and is a Beta Theta Pi Fraternity member. No date has been set for any of the weddings. A number of charmingly arranged affairs are being planned for the brides-elect.

For Visitor

Honoring Mrs. William Pickering of Kansas City, who is visiting Southern California, and staying at the Biltmore, a charmingly arranged luncheon and bridge party is being given this afternoon by Mrs. Judson C. Rives at her home in Westchester Place. Those included will be Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. J. G. Beckham, Mrs. Frank Ewing, Mrs. S. E. Moses, Mrs. J. S. Wetherby, Mrs. R. E. Campbell and her mother, Mrs. Campbell; Mrs. J. M. Burgner, Mrs. H. W. McNutt, Mrs. E. G. Griffith, Mrs. H. H. Bacon, Mrs. Joseph H. Newell, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Perkins and Mrs. E. R. Hibbard.

At Country Club

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kerckhoff (Marcia Seward,) who recently moved into their new home in Beverly Hills, are entertaining tomorrow evening with a dinner party at the Midwick Country Club before the week-end dance. The guests of honor will be Miss Betty Bettingen, one of the most popular debutantes of the season, and as a farewell courtesy to Miss Annette Lewis, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Louis Carhart of Arden Road, Pasadena, and is leaving Tuesday for a trip abroad. Those included will be Mr. and Mrs. Henri de Roulet, Miss Bettingen, Miss Lewis, Miss Leontine Bayer, Miss Florence McGarry, Marshall Garland, Charles Fleischman, William Strohn and Paul McGarry.

At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur John Clark of 1343 Laurel avenue, recently sold their home in West Hollywood, and while their new home in Palm Drive, Beverly Hills, is being completed, will be at home to their many friends in the H. R. Lewis residence, 1550 Curson street, Hollywood.

Dinner Party

Among the enjoyable affairs of the week was the dinner party with which Mr. and Mrs. William De Mille entertained at their home in Hollywood last evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. John Moody of New York City, who are touring the Pacific Coast and are Mr. and Mrs. De Mille's house guests during their stay in Los Angeles. The table was centered with an exquisite plaque of pink snap dragons and roses, and covers were arranged for the hosts, guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil De Mille, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kelknap, Mrs. Elinor Glyn, Sir Rhys and Lady Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Baker, Craig Biddle, Miss Alice George and Capt. Goss. Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. De Mille will entertain at dinner, having Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver as their special guest of honor.

Rice-Corum

The wedding of Miss Florence Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rice of Downey, to Clifton Corum took place last evening at the Melrose Methodist Church, Chaplin G. R. Lawrence officiating. The bride was assisted by Mrs. Jeff M. Few as matron of honor and Miss Eva Ratcliff was bridesmaid. Robert Jamieson served Mr. Corum as best man and the ushers were Robert M. Pease, Arthur Frazier and Jeff M. Few. Miss Velma Cochrane played the wedding music, and "I Love You Truly" was sung by E. J. Evans and Harry Evans preceding the ceremony. The bride wore a gold-colored satin gown with white hat and carried roses and lilies of the valley. A wedding reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Pease on North Kenmore avenue. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Corum will return to Los Angeles to make their home.

Luncheon Party

One of the interesting affairs of recent date was the luncheon given Wednesday afternoon by directors and advisory board of the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra at the Alexandria, the object being to increase interest and bring about a woman's committee which will have as its purpose the selling of the complete seating capacity for all the concerts next season. Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Swollen and Painful Joints

Mrs. C.—Swollen and painful joints may be due to several things. Among them local injuries; inflammations caused by the germs of acute rheumatism (usually gaining access through the tonsils in a severe case of tonsilitis;) or germs of gonorrhea, or poisons absorbed from pus around the teeth and other localities.

If not due to infections, swollen and painful joints are most often due to some profound disturbance of the metabolism. By metabolism is meant all of those changes in the body by which food is built up into tissue and gives off heat energy. This disturbance in the metabolism can be brought about by many factors, chief among them being an incorrect diet—one that is not balanced and is not giving the system the elements it needs.

I suspect your mother is suffering from acidosis or auto-intoxication of some sort. You ask if it can be caused by sugar, so probably she has been getting too much sugar, and she has probably been having more of the acid-forming foods than she needs.

You say that her decayed teeth have been taken out, so that eliminates the poisons which might come from them. It might be wise for her to go on an exclusive raw vegetable or fruit diet. Then gradually extend her diet. Include milk, cottage cheese, whole grain cereals, vegetables and fruits (with the exception of prunes and cranberries.) These are the alkali-forming foods.

Meat, eggs, cereals (especially the cereals devoid of the bran and germ) sugar and fats are the acid-forming foods. We must have some acid-forming foods, but we should have more alkali-forming foods than acid-forming, in order to keep the tissue fluids and the blood in their normal slightly alkaline state.

Hot applications on the joints will relieve the pain; electric light rays and exposure to the direct rays of the sun, beginning a few minutes a day and increasing gradually, will also help.

In an article written some years ago, raw potato juice is highly extolled as an application for painful joints, lumbago, gout, etc. The article stated that it probably was the potassium salts of the potato that was effective in allaying the pain and the swelling. You might try this. I think grinding the potatoes fine and making a poultice of them would do. Cover with flannel to keep warm. Have your mother keep her feet elevated; of course, this will necessitate sitting or lying down, as she is probably no acrobat.

CITY SEEN AS CENTER FOR STYLE

Local Garment Maker Says Leader in East Makes Prediction

BY OLIVE GRAY

This is the message brought from the East by A. D. Edwards, recently returned from a tour of the larger cities of the Atlantic Coast.

"Although our products have received a generous welcome in eastern markets," said Mr. Edwards, "I was rather surprised to hear the statement from a leading thinker along merchandising lines who declared that, in his judgment, it would not be long before Los Angeles becomes the fashion center for the entire world. He supported his prediction by pointing out the fact that the stage had for many years lead the fashions in habiliments; and now the films do this. Los Angeles, being the place par excellence for screen production, it is his belief that Los Angeles is certain to become the fashion center, 'supplanting Paris.'"

Mr. Edwards is president of A. D. Edwards & Son, garment manufacturers, specializing in bathrobes of superior quality. Long enjoying deserved popularity upon the Pacific Coast, the products of this house have found righ favor throughout the East. Mr. Edwards modestly declares that the excellent quality of all Los Angeles manufactures has created an easy opening for such merchandise, many eastern buyers stating that owing, perhaps, to our climatic and light conditions, workmanship is more efficient here than elsewhere. Certain it is that a higher class of labor is found here and congenial surroundings, favorable general environment, lead to originality in design and artistic inspiration in color harmony and other requirements for the better products.

INDUSTRY AWARD IS AFFIRMED ON APPEAL

RIGHT OF COMMISSION TO INCREASE AMOUNT IS UPHELD IN CASE

A decision of the State Supreme Court yesterday held that the Industrial Accident Commission has jurisdiction over an injured workman for 240 weeks after the date of the injury and can change or alter any previous award made during that time. The decision was made in the case of the National Emergency Corporation and the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation seeking a review of an award made by the commission to J. C. Westhalfer, an injured workman.

The commission originally awarded Westhalfer the sum of $1702 for injuries received in December, 1918. At a further hearing the award was raised to $2240. The petition filed by the corporations with the Supreme Court contended that the commission had no right to raise the award. The court yesterday denied the writ and affirmed the award.

DELINQUENT IS FREED

Prisoner Protests Inability to Pay Back Alimony

Admonishing him that he should not try to seek court leniency by "hiding behind his mother's skirts," Judge Burks yesterday granted Horace A. Kemp, a salesman, a release from the County Jail where he had been kept for failure to maintain his alimony payments to his divorced wife, Ruth Downey Kemp.

Kemp was sentenced to jail March 26, last, to remain until he made the delinquent payments. At that time he testified he was dependent upon his mother for support. He gained his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, in which he stated he was without funds and, if compelled to adhere to the court's order, he would have to remain in jail "forever."

PROMPTING IN COURT PENALIZED BY JUDGE

Louis J. Berger yesterday was fined $25 for contempt in Judge Burnell's court because he prompted his brother, J. S. Berger, a fair promoter, who was testifying in his own behalf in a suit in foreign judgment brought against him by George Hillman. The court later remitted $20 of the fine. Hillman was granted judgment in full in his suit for $1022.03, which he declared was due him on a Kansas award against J. S. Berger.

WOMEN PLAN GREAT EVENT

Elaborate Social Program for Convention

General Club Federation Here in June

Two Hundred Functions Are Arranged

A social program of astounding proportions, perhaps the most elaborate that Los Angeles has ever experienced, was definitely outlined at the meeting yesterday of the local Biennial Board with Mrs. Charles H. Toll, one of the honorary vice-presidents, presiding.

For the entertainment of delegates and guests who will attend the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in June there have already been planned nearly 200 social functions with more to be added.

Mrs. Grantland Seaton Long, chairman of hospitality, announced the reception at the Biltmore for the opening night when there will be eight receiving lines. The most prominent clubwomen of the state will receive. On the first day of the convention, June 3, 1000 California women will lunch together at the Biltmore. From that time on at every event, women from other States will have precedence.

PLAN FOR THOUSANDS

Mrs. J. D. Fitzgerald, speaking for Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, chairman of luncheons, announced that all arrangements, even to the color scheme for adornment, have been made for two luncheons of a 1000 each, one for $00, one for 600 and one for 500. There will be eleven luncheons seating 400, and ten smaller dinners, elaborate and beautiful, which in all will accommodate 3000 guests. Mrs. Long and her committee have arranged for a Sunday afternoon tea at every one of thirty hotels from 2 until 4 p.m., with Los Angeles women as hostesses.

Literally tons of flowers have already been promised for decorations, according to Mrs. H. H. Kerckoff, chairman of fruits and flowers, but more promises are desired. A request for an ice box large enough to hold a renewed supply each day of 6000 pounds of fruits was requested, the fruit to be given to the delegates.

There will be three large luncheons each day of some degree of formality with toastmistresses, those clubwomen from all over the country who are experts in some phases of the work to speak. At each of these luncheons men and women of nation-wide repute will speak. For instance on June 5 there will be three legislative luncheons with no fewer than 200 guests at each one. Mrs. Edward Franklin White, national chairman of legislation, presiding at the one at the Biltmore and prominent statesmen and lawyers speaking on legislative bills now engaging the attention of Congress.

Mrs. Boyle Workman, who is chairman of excursions, outlined the plans for eleven different trips through Southern California with a barbecue at Laguna Beach typical of Spanish California and a side trip to San Juan Capistiano. The Orange county clubwomen will be hostesses. She is compiling now a booklet describing in fifty words each point of interest in the Southland and 6000 of these will be mailed in the next week or so to that many clubwomen all over the country.

A new appointment was made yesterday as an addition to the local board, that of Dr. Dorothea Moore as local chairman for programs, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette being the General Federation chairman. These two with Mrs. J. F. Sartori, president of the local biennial, will be seated at one table on the platform throughout the convention with the ranking officer, Mrs. Thomas Gerald Winter, president of the G.F.W.C. A dinner in honor of Mrs. Winter will be given on June 8 at the Biltmore. Every member of the local committees who has not reported to the board by the 23rd inst., will be dropped from the list and her place filled, said Mrs. D. L. Murray, chairman of instructions. Already there has been a 90 per cent response with every committee functioning effectively.

ESCAPED MAN BACK FOR SAKE OF JAILER

Sherman Daniels, who escaped from the County Jail March 4, last, gave himself up to Assistant Jailer Miller last night to save Miller from suspension on account of the escape, the prisoner said. Daniels was held on a bad check charge for San Luis Obispo. He said last night he had used the month of liberty in straightening up his affairs and in making good the checks.

How Can A Mirror Lie?

Eight feet away from a mirror a woman with a coarse skin may look beautiful. But when she stands close-up, the mirror does not lie. Real beauty depends on a fine-textured skin—a skin whose pores are as fine as in childhood. Keeps Pores Young

Flames Destroy His Fishing Smack, Ursula

Officer Quits Burning Craft in Small Box

A deep-sea fishing smack, the Ursula, one of a string of four boats operated from the municipal pier at Santa Monica, was completely destroyed by fire a mile north of the pier early yesterday morning and the owner, Capt. T. J. Morris, narrowly escaped with his life when he was forced to abandon the burning ship and take to the water.

During the night the boat, which was anchored near the pier broke loose from its moorings and drifted out to sea. Capt. Morris in a small boat rowed out to the Ursula intending to bring it back to the pier. While endeavoring to crank the gasoline motor a backfire suddenly ignited the whole of the engine-room. Capt. Morris was severely burned and was forced to quit the boat in a small box.

A dense fog made it impossible for persons on the shore to distinguish the size of the ship and it was first believed to be a freighter plying between Puget Sound and Los Angeles Harbor. Fishermen from the Santa Monica pier and also from Venice put out to sea and rescued Morris, who was up to his knees in water. He had donned a life-belt believing he would be forced to abandon his improvised raft.

The Ursula, a sixty-foot craft, was built in 1920 and was the first pleasure boat to be operated from the Santa Monica municipal pier. It had a carrying capacity of fifty passengers and a displacement of thirteen tons. The fishing smack was valued at $5000 fully covered by insurance.

"The Friends" plan to found a loan library of prints and reproductions of accepted masterpieces of art for the use of the students.

The first exhibition to be staged by the friends will be held in the Fine Arts Building at the University Sunday, the 6th inst., where they will have a private view of portraits by Mrs. Winifred Rieber. The exhibition will remain open until April 11.

MAN TREATED FOR SLASHING HIMSELF

STRANGE CASE MAY BE DUE TO VICTIM'S LOSS OF BLOOD BY SAIÆ

Obsessed with the idea of making capital out of his body, according to the police, a man giving the name of Emil Bittner, 30 years of age, of, 1259 East Sixth street, was treated at the Receiving Hospital yesterday morning for self-mutilation.

According to Detective Lieutenants Thompson and Whaples, Bittner had been in the practice of selling his blood to various hospitals at $50 a pint. It is the belief of the police that due to this asserted practice Bittner's mind became slightly deranged, causing him to mutilate himself. After being given emergency treatment, he was transferred to the General Hospital.

Bittner was brought into the hospital from his room by Officer Remmerde, who was called by the landlord. Further investigation of the strange case is being made by the detectives.

OFFERS SELF TO FILMDOM

French Girl Writes Travelers' Aid Telling of Her Desire to Invade Hollywood Studios

A "pretty and elegant" French girl, who can "cut dresses, cook in succulent manner" and do other things equally well, has written to the Travelers' Aid Society from Libourne (Gironde,) France, for a position as a motion-picture star.

The letter was received by the society yesterday.

It reads in part:

"Excuse me taking the liberty to write you. Here are the causes. I hope you to procure me a situation of a cinematographic actress amid your acquaintances. I wish to turn a great vedette of the American screen. I already wrote to directors of films. I said to them: I wish to do film my novels and tales. They wrote them four years ago for my personal pleasure and the delight of a student girl, a friend of mine. We wished to possess our own tales after we should have to make film these novels.

"I wish to take these intentions again chiefly in order to see what it becomes of a prediction. It was made to me by a Shintoist priest and it is—after comes the thirtieth year of your life—what gold, what gold. You gain a fortune as never woman gained.

"Here are what recently wrote to a cinematographist of New York:

"My films are chiefly love films. They deep and psychologically study the feminine love especially the French love with regard the American. My first novel and consequently film is "Love! The Sun of Life."

"It will be an unprecedented success because it is:

"(1.) Completely inedited and entirely original.

"(2.) The film alone having the authoress amid the actresses since I wish to play in a chief part.

"(3.) The deep analysis of the French commons with its failings, qualities, virtues, oddities, etc.

"(4.) Chiefly a love story. The story of the feminine fidelity towards a love alone, of the triumph won on forgiveness by remembrance and recognition.

"(5.) A Franco-American film. The heroes of two choice loves are two young men of the U. S. A. The love is very high, esthetic and pure. One episode shows an historical personage, a French literateur at his first love with Mlle. Elvire-Yolaine de Monterby (authentical event which learnt by papers of family.)

STUDY OF BEAUTY

"(6.) The study of the beauty-importance in love.

"(7.) A film of exportation. No people will be shocked by the sentiments shown in the film.

"(8.) A film evocating 'The Song of Waiting.' In four of my films the personages sing a love song which they composed for themselves. 'Tenderly Enlaced,' is written for an hesitation waltz.

"(9.) On unprecedented luxury in the decorations. Hall of the Jewels, museum of the pearl tapestries, love-duet in the bay of Along, etc., etc.

"(10.) A film of colossal publicity, for instance: Come and see the little queen of the Sweetpearls tomorrow, the States will sing: 'Tenderly Enlaced.' Pretty men! do not come to see 'The Sun of Life!' The choice of love of the greatest queen was for an ugly man! (authentical event.)

"I pray you, dear sir, to receive with my thankings the assurance of the affectionate sympathy which every Frenchman feels since the war for the citizens of the United States.

"JEANNE MARIE VRILLAUD
Address: Mlle. Y. M. Vrillaud, 21 Rue de la Marne 21, Libourne (Gironde) France."

The society replied to Mlle. Vrillaud informing her that the market for stars is somewhat overcrowded already and advising her to stay home and confine her efforts to "comedies of the drawing room" in many of which she said she had appeared.

THEOLOGY INVOLVED IN STOCKS

Religious Discussion is Recounted by Witness in Brokerage Hearing

The discussion of subjects pertaining to religion in connection with stock transactions was added yesterday by A. H. Kerr, retired manufacturer of Riverside and Los Angeles, to the stories of card parties and social affairs that are being told to State Corporation Commissioner Daugherty in a hearing conducted by him on the application of Mrs. Jennie B. Kinser for the revocation of J. V. Karelsen's and A. Founier's broker permits.

At yesterday's hearing Mr. Karr described his friendship with Mr. Karelsen as beginning about three years ago, when the broker interested him in the Christian Fundamental League, a charitable and religious organization.

Last June Karr declared that Karelsen visited him. "I don't want to talk religion now," he said Karelsen told him. "I'm in a hole and want to talk business instead."

"He said he had underwritten $300,000 worth of stock of the First National Loan and Discount Company and was afraid he would not be able to meet the notes coming due," Karr testified.

Karr explained that he purpurchased $25,300 worth of the company's stock with the understanding that Karelsen would sell the stock before the close of November.

In answer to a question by Deputy Corporation Commissioner Praul, Karr said he still holds the stock.

The application for revocation of the brokers' permits was filed by Mrs. Kinser in which she asserted that she was induced to part with $77,000 worth of stock for approximately $27,000 of the discount company's stock.

CHEATER OF PRISONS IS SENTENCED

Albert M. Stewart Sent to San Quentin Again for Forgery

Albert M. Stewart, known to police under the alias of Zethie Saunders, went back to San Quentin for the third or fourth time yesterday. This time he was sent up by Judge Kestch of the Superior Court for from one to fourteen years on a charge of forgery.

Stewart was arrested first in 1921 on a burglary charge but managed to worm his way out of the detention ward of the General Hospital and escaped. He was rearrested and sent to San Quentin but broke out of prison on October 14, 1921, and again vanished. Again he was rearrested and again escaped from San Quentin. Some months after this last escape the elusive burglar and check forger was again arrested in Portland.

The same story was repeated with slight variations. While being taken back to San Quentin Stewart gave his guard the slip at Weed and vanished. A short time later he was arrested at El Paso but Detective O'Rourke, who was bringing him back, refused to play tag with him. When Stewart attempted to escape from the train the officer promptly shot him through the arm.

Stewart again found himself in the General Hospital. A few days before he was to appear in court the hospital authorities found he had taken a number of bricks from the wall near his cot in preparation for another escape. He was then transferred to the County Jail.

MRS. ESTEBAN CANTU SUES FOR INSURANCE

SAYS COMPANIES REFUSED TO PAY HER LOSSES IN JEWEL ROBBERY

Mrs. Ana D. Cantu, wife of Esteban Cantu, formerly Governor of Lower California, filed suits against three insurance companies yesterday seeking $15,000 damages. The firms, each of which is sued for $5000, are the Fidelity and Casualty Company, the National Surety Company and the New York Indemnity Company.

Mrs. Cantu asserts each of the companies insured her home at 715 South Hobart Boulevard against burglary. She says her home was entered on the night of June 20, 1925, and jewelry worth $19,000 taken, but that the insurance companies refused to pay her loss.

UPSETS STAGE PRECEDENTS

If Nancy Lane, daughter of the late Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior during the Wilson administration, could have her wish, the reviews of "All Alone Susie" which is to open Sunday at the Majestic Theater, would simply list her under the heading, "Others in the cast were . . . ." She feels that her place in the play is negligible, and she doesn't want her picture in the paper. Thus in one sentence Miss Lane breaks all the precedents of the stage and becomes an object of wonder and admiration.

When confronted yesterday by a Times reporter and photographer Miss Lane withstood every argument possible until faced with the alternative of having her picture taken or being rude. That was too much. Her innate politeness and the background of her girlhood overcame her reluctance and the picture was taken.

About her role in the play, "All Alone Susie," Miss Lane showed the same reluctance. "It's all about a funny little old maid. I'm just an old friend. Why I don't even appear in the first act at all. I can hardly be noticed among the others. That is why it is so silly to say anything about me."

This modesty isn't a pretense. It is the genuine article. It has come from an excellent sense of values on her part and a wish to succeed on her own merit. Miss Lane has always been interested in dramatics and since her divorce some months ago from Philip Kauffman of Washington, D. C., she has gone into her study more seriously. Recently she played with the Berkeley Community Players and with Margaret Lawrence in "Secrets" in San Francisco. And now "All Alone Susie" in the person of Miss Lawrence has brought Miss Lane to Los Angeles.

All that Nancy Lane wishes is a chance to quietly work her way up as an actress. She isn't laboring under the conception that her ability is to startle the world. She won't even talk about it. But she has three invaluable assets—charm, grace and modesty, and the greatest of these is modesty.

Constant Shift in Traffic Laws Arouses Mayor

Mayor Cryer yesterday announced that he intended to call a halt, if possible, on the habit of the City Council in adopting daily changes in the traffic ordinances.

"Almost every day," said Mayor Cryer, "I receive some sort of new amendment to the traffic ordinances. This is very confusing to motorists and even the police have not sufficient time to digest the new measures before additional and different regulations are enacted."

The Mayor said that he may send a special message to the Council.

He also denies that he was negligent or careless at any time in any of the operations or that he carelessly removed flesh from the bridge of Mrs. Chaplin's nose.

He further denied that in consequence to the operations her nose "became sunken in places" or that "the tip of her nose dropped," as had been alleged in Mrs. Chaplin's suit.

KITTLE'S STORY ACCUSES FOUR

May Mean New Indictments in Arcadia Hold-up

Names Frank Sullivan and "One-Eyed" Tom Gray

Other Two Are Eddie Burns, "Little Mac" McMahon

Additional evidence concerning the robbery of the First National Bank of Arcadia and the subsequent disposal of money orders and bonds stolen with the loot of $10,000 has been gathered by the Sheriff's office, it was learned last night, and probably will be placed before the county grand jury. Eight men, among them Hubert Kittle, former investigator, have been indicted in connection with the case. Other indictments may follow the presentation of the additional evidence, it was believed.

The hunt for Frank Sullivan, declared to be the leader of the gang of gunmen implicated in the robbery, received a fresh impetus yesterday following the announcement that Sullivan was accused of being the instigator of the crime in a statement made by Kittle to Superintendent of Criminal Investigation Harry Wright of the Sheriff's office.

FOUR ACCUSED

Kittle directly accused Sullivan, Eddie Burns, "One-Eyed" Tom Gray and "Little Mac" McMahon of being the gang which staged the Arcadia robbery, for which three Mexicans are now serving terms in San Quentin penitentiary. Gray is now in the Oregon State prison. Burns, Sullivan and McMahon are being sought.

Kittle also declared that he had no part in the cashing of $1920 worth of American Express Company checks at Tijuana, San Diego and Los Angeles. The responsibility for this Kittle placed upon the shoulders of Daniel G. MacGregor, now held in the County Jail on a charge of receiving stolen property. Kittle went into elaborate detail concerning his trip to San Diego in May, 1922, with MacGregor when the checks were cashed, and admitted receiving $500 from MacGregor, but asserted that it was in payment of a debt. Kittle has been indicted on a charge of receiving stolen property in connection with the cashing of the checks.

SAYS TRIO ADMITTED JOB

Gray, Sullivan and Burns, said Kittle, told him themselves that they had robbed the Arcadia Bank, and described the transaction in some detail. Two cars were used, the statement said, a small one driven by Burns, with Gray, in which they escaped from the bank, later to be picked up by Sullivan, who followed in a large car. Gray fired several shots into the small abandoned car to disable it. The bullet holes in the car, which was found in a dry wash, puzzled investigators.

Kittle is still in the County Jail in default of $25,000 bail.

James "Buck" O'Neal, arrested in the round-up of the Provident Loan Association robbers, but charged with robbery of the Norwalk State Bank, was sentenced to serve from one year to life at San Quentin by Judge Shenk of the Superior Court yesterday. The charge against O'Neal was changed from first to second-degree robbery with the consent of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke, prosecuting the bandit, after the latter's attorney made the statement that he had given Sheriff Traeger valuable information in regard to the robbery of the Arcadia Bank. O'Neal waived time for sentence.

WILLIAM E. GRAHAM SERVICES CONDUCTED

HOLLYWOOD LAND OWNER AND FORMER LUMBER MAN IS BURIED

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Strother & Dayton chapel on Hollywood Boulevard for William E. Graham, philanthropist and property owner of Hollywood, who died Wednesday morning at the Pacific Hospital after a short illness. Burial was in the Hollywood cemetery. Services were under the direction of Hollywood Commandery, No. 56, Knights Templar.

Mr. Graham, who was 59 years of age, leaves a widow, Mrs. Mamie K. Graham, one son and three daughters. He came to Los Angeles from Arkansas where he was interested in the lumber business. He had large holdings on Hollywood Boulevard and Western avenue.

FALLS THREE STORIES, ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT

Severin Anderson, 50 years of age, a bricklayer employed on a new building at Hollywood Boulevard and Ivar street, fell three stories from a scaffold to the ground, but suffered no serious injury. When Anderson missed his footing and dropped, a fellow-workman called the Hollywood police ambulance and he was taken to Ferry & Dickey's Hospital in Hollywood. An examination revealed no injury except slight bruises. Anderson landed in a pile of sand. Anderson returned to his work after leaving the hospital.

DOLLEY HERE FOR INDEFINITE STAY

CHIEF OF FEDERAL DRY LAW FORCES IN CITY ON REGULAR DUTY

Harold H. Dolley, chief of the Federal prohibition field forces in California, came to Los Angeles yesterday from San Francisco for an indefinite stay. He said his work here will be in the regular course of business incident to the work of the dry force.

The Federal grand jury will take up again next Tuesday its investigation of charges that the affairs of the Los Angeles office of the prohibition department were conducted in an irregular manner during the time Dolley was in charge. Dolley had not been subpoenaed as a witness. It is expected the jury will complete the investigation Tuesday. Witnesses have been examined on various occasions during the last several weeks.

TWO YEARS FOR WHITAKER

Washington (D. C.) Attorney Sentenced in Stolen Auto Case; Partner Sent to Jail

Federal Judge James yesterday sentenced Norman T. Whitaker to two years at Leavenworth on a charge of violating the Dyer Motor Vehicle Act. He sentenced Harry Drexel, indicted with Whitaker, to one year in the County Jail at Riverside. Whitaker was convicted last week. Drexel pleaded guilty and appeared as the chief government witness against Whitaker.

Whitaker, a patent attorney of Washington, D. C., told the court the charge against him was the outgrowth of persecution by an insurance company which resented a suit filed by Roland Whitaker, a brother, to collect insurance on a burned automobile. He insisted that his trial had not disclosed any evidence to show he knew he was traveling in a stolen automobile when he came to Los Angeles from Ocean City, N. J. with Drexel.

Whitaker pleaded leniency on the grounds that he would be disbarred as a result of the conviction and would be robbed of his chief means of livelihood. Judge James replied that there would have been a miscarriage of justice had the jury done otherwise than convict Whitaker. The evidence proved, he said, that Whitaker at least had been an accomplice after the fact and that he had been willing to profit by the sale of a stolen car after he arrived in Los Angeles and learned he had made the trip in a stolen car.

Embezzlement of an automobile is charged against Whitaker in an action pending against him in Superior Court.

Roland Whitaker, two sisters, Hazel and Dorothy Whitaker, and Anna E. Bryant were indicted with Norman Whitaker and Drexel. The case was dismissed as to the women. Roland was acquitted. Mark Herron, assistant United States Attorney, stated in court yesterday that the government has evidence indicating that the two Whitaker brothers, Miss Bryant and "Conrad Hahn" were implicated in efforts to collect insurance on other stolen cars that had been burned.

AID ASKED OF PUBLIC IN STRIKE

Property Owners Urged to Support Contractors of Painting

Characterizing the present strike of painters and paperhangers as the opening wedge in an attempt on the part of the unions to make Los Angeles a closed-shop city, F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, yesterday urged property owners and general contractors to stand behind painting contractors affected by the strike.

"It is the duty, under the circumstances, of the public and especially the property owners and contractors to give their moral support to the painting contractors who are affected by the present strike," Mr. Zeehandelaar declared. "They should recognize that the strike now in progress is an opening wedge to make Los Angeles a closed-shop city.

"If, through the pressure of property owners, the contractors who are now making a strong effort to obtain open-shop conditions in the painting business should lose this fight, it will encourage the other building trades to make similar demands, and in that manner embroil the community in a general strike.

"If the contractors receive the moral support and leniency under these trying conditions to the extent that property owners will allow a little delay in finishing the painting of the properties, it will not only have a strengthening effect upon the contractors now engaged in this controversy with the unions, but will enable them to fill the places of the strikers."

Practically without exception, according to Mr. Zeehandelaar, the contractors are not only staying by their guns, but are coming over to the open-shop policy. The places of the striking painters and paperhangers are being filled as rapidly as should be expected under the circumstances.

GOOD LIQUOR INVOLVED IN FRAUD SUIT

Woman Charges Physician Took $1000, But Didn't Deliver Barrel of Whisky

One barrel of what was testified to be "very good" whisky figured prominently in a case on trial in Judge Fleming's court yesterday, in which Mrs. Sophia Fidelia Norris sought to recover $1000 asserted to have been obtained by fraud by Dr. Robert B. Griffith, physician.

Mrs. Norris testified that she gave Dr. Griffith $1000 in 1920 to purchase a barrel of whisky which was to be used in medical treatment of J. B. Norris, husband of the plaintiff, who died in 1922. She declared that the physician failed to deliver the liquor, except approximately five gallons, but that he kept her money.

"Was it good whisky?" asked Judge Fleming.

"Yes, very good," the witness replied, "but the five gallons and three pints I got were not worth $1000."

Dr. Griffith testified that he had purchased several barrels of whisky, but that Federal prohibition officers later took it away from him. In an answer to the action he denied allegations by Mrs. Norris and set forth the separate defense that any such agreement Mrs. Norris declared she had entered into with him would be in violation of prohibition laws.

Judge Fleming took the case under advisement.

Spacious Home in Hollywood is Purchased

Considerable interest was created last week in the sale of the residence of Walter L. Dodge at 950 King's Road. The property was purchased by T. M. McKenna, through the Hollywood office of the Frank Meline Company. Sale of the property is considered one of the largest and most important transactions of its kind in Hollywood since the transfer of the Bernheimer residence six months ago.

Mr. Dodge, the original owner, built on the property nine years ago. The reason for his choice of this location was the unusual view of the mountains and ocean possible from the house. Though the surrounding property has built up considerably since this house was erected, the view has remained undisturbed and is still one of the finest in Hollywood.

The house, which comprises fourteen rooms, servants' quarters, laundry and garage, is of Aztec design, and is of hollow tile, concrete and steel construction. The exterior is of white plaster and is pierced by large windows designed to take advantage of the view.

P. J. Dillon of the realty company handled the negotiations for both parties in the deal.

MRS. BASHFORD RITES TO BE AT CATHEDRAL

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral for Mrs. Ruby Metcalf Bashford, wife of Harold L. Bashford, of the public service department. Mrs. Bashford was an agricultural and playground instructor in the schools. She leaves her husband and two daughters, Elizabeth Bashford and Mrs. Edith Van Pelt. She died Wednesday.

EXPERTS ON TRAFFIC ASK PARADE BAN

Petition City Council as Safety Measure and Aid to Congestion Relief

The City Council yesterday received from the Los Angeles Traffic Commission a recommendation that parades be prohibited in the central congested business district of the city, in the interest of public safety, and the relief of traffic congestion.

The resolution of the Traffic Commission, which will be considered next Wednesday afternoon by the Council's Public Safety Committee, was as follows:

"Whereas, the permitting of parades and processions in the central business district of the city seriously impedes traffic and adds to the already congested conditions in the streets, and the public interest and convenience therefore require that parades and processions in such area be prohibited, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the Traffic Commission of the city and county of Los Angeles that the City Council of the city of Los Angeles be and hereby is requested to enact an ordinance providing that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to hold, manage, conduct or carry on, or to cause or permit to be held, managed, conducted or carried on, any parade, march, procession or other similar display upon any public street in that portion of the city of Los Angeles bounded on the north by the northerly line of Sunset Boulevard, on the east by the easterly line of San Pedro street, on the south by the southerly line of Washington street, and on the west by the westerly line of Figueroa street, and be it

"Provided, further, that the ordinance should contain provisions for the granting of permits for parades of national or purely patriotic character on vote of the Council with the approval of the Mayor."

Takes Poison on Street Car and Dies in Hospital

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, April 3.—A man who describes himself as Joe Bush, 28 years of age, of 3516 Tolman street, Los Angeles, died today in St. Catherine's Hospital, apparently from strychnine, self-administered.

Bush arrived here this afternoon on a Venice short-line car. The motorman heard groans, stopped his car and going inside found Bush in collapse on the floor. When police were called Bush gave his name and address and said he had taken strychnine, then became unconscious.

There were no papers in his pockets and all marks had been cut from his clothing.

WIDOW GETS PENSION DESPITE LEGAL FLAW

WRIT OF MANDATE GIVEN IN SUIT OVER DEATH OF CAPT. HOME

Despite a reputed "joker" in the pension ordinance, the widow of a deceased fireman is entitled to half his salary, Judge Ira F. Thompson ruled yesterday in a decision in the case of Mrs. Ella B. Home, widow of Capt. Thomas B. Home of the Fire Department, who was killed in 1907.

Mrs. Home asked writ of mandate against city officials requiring them to pay her half her husband's salary and $979 in back payments. The city contended that an old ordinance allowing payments of one-third of the salary was the only rule applicable, on the grounds that the later ordinance providing half-salary payment warranted such payment to "members only." This contention Judge Thompson over-ruled, granting the writ of mandate.

Bees travel about one and a half miles to gather one drop of honey, it is estimated.

JURY ASKS LENIENCY IN BRIBERY VERDICT

Louis Martinez, indicted by the county grand jury on a count charging him with bribery of a police officer, yesterday was found guilty by a jury in Judge Crail's court. The jury recommended leniency and Judge Crail set the 7th inst., as the date for passing sentence on the convicted man. Martinez was accused of having given Officer C. L. Childers $150 in an effort to obtain his release after he had been taken into custody on a charge of violating the Wright Act.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL IN TAXICAB PARADE

HERE is what the Building Maintenance Manager of one of the largest corporations in America says. We can quote his words, but not his name. There is a company rule against it.

"We use linoleum floors in this building, and in all our buildings in the different cities. We wax these floors. Every building uses the same waxing methods, the same wax, and the same type of polishing machines. Some of our linoleum floors have been down for twenty-five years. Once as an experiment we tried a floor without wax. Samples of waxed linoleum that had been down six years showed less wear than the unwaxed linoleum showed after six months.

"Why? Because when the wax is rubbed in thoroughly, the thin film on the surface protects the linoleum. Dust sticks lightly to this surface instead of flying up to collect on furniture and apparatus. A daily going over with a hair broom takes it right up. The entire monthly cleaning and waxing cost was about a quarter of a cent per square foot."

Note: On request, we will gladly furnish full directions and specifications for waxing floors of Armstrong's Linoleum in any business or public building.

From a man in small business

"When I went into the restaurant business, I put in Armstrong's Linoleum floors from kitchen to dining-room. Regular waxing and daily wiping with an almost dry mop keeps it smiling and as neat as a pin. Customers troop in with wet feet, with dripping umbrellas. They drop matches, cigarettes, paper, and food on the floor. It all cleans up easier than any floor I know of."

HITS ON WAY

IMPORTANT PLAYS AND STARS TO VISIT MASON

By Grace Kingsley

There isn't going to be the slightest excuse for you to stay at home and listen to the radio during the coming several weeks, according to Manager E. D. Smith of the Biltmore and Mason theaters, and he really ought to know.

Just by way of proving it, Mr. Smith made some interesting announcements yesterday in regard to the attractions which will be seen at the houses above named. While several stars and plays were to have been booked at the Biltmore, "Lightnin'" is doing so famously there, that seats have been placed on sale for the attraction up to April 20, and it looks now as though the rural comedy would run right up to and perhaps through the summer. "Seventh Heaven" may follow "Lightnin'," but no forecast can be made at this time. Percy Pollock, in the late Frank Bacon's role, is making a deep dent in the public's affections, while Tom MacLarnie, Ann Merrick, Jane Oaker and the others are all registering individual hits.

The striking success of "Lightnin'" means that incoming attractions will be presented at the Mason. Mr. Smith, representing A. L. Erlanger, announces that following the mystery drama, "Whispering Wires," which comes to the Mason next week, that house will have a two weeks' Shakespearean orgy presented by that indefatigable actor of classic drama, Robert Mantell.

Al Jolson will come for two weeks thereafter, opening April 28, in his latest success, "Bombo." Then Tom Wise will step into the house in Don Marquis's New York success, "The Old Soak." Irene Bordoni, chic and delectable, will appear next in Avery Hopwood's farce, "Little Miss Bluebeard," after which Ethel Barrymore will usher in the radiant month of June with the latest Sutro comedy drama, "The Laughing Lady."

ALICE TERRY BRINGS ARAB WARD BACK HOME

Alice Terry and Kado-Ab-Del-Kader, her 9-year-old Arab ward, will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow for a short visit with her mother, according to a message received at the Metro studios yesterday from her husband, Rex Ingram.

Miss Terry will return to New York in about three weeks to join Mr. Ingram, who is busily engaged at the present time in editing "The Arab," his new production which was made in Europe.

Here and There

Kathleen Key is celebrating her birthday and her departure for Europe almost simultaneously. Her birthday fell on April Fool's Day. Miss Key sails next week for Europe, to play in "Ben Hur" for Goldwyn.

Robert Fraser has been signed for a leading role in "Bread."

Albert Warner, executive of the eastern offices of Warner Brothers, arrived in Los Angeles on Monday, and will spend several days at the West Coast Studios, conferring with Harry M. and Jack L. Warner regarding production program for the coming year. Mr. Warner has just returned from a trip abroad.

Having done themselves proud in "A Tale of Two Nifties," Sid Smith and Vernon Dent have received important papers marked "For a Good Boy," viz., long-term contracts from Mack Sennett.

Frank Currier has been added to the cast of Fred Niblo's next production, "The Red Lily," Currier will do some grand and lofty villaining in this one.

David Horsley, pioneer picture producer, is preparing to become a lecturer. His subject will be "Hollywood," and will show that world-renowned place both as was and as is. Stereopticon slides will help impress Hollywood on people's minds, and Horsley expects to tour the East with his talk.

Mme. de Bodamere, personal attendant to Mary Pickford, has been engaged by Marshall Neilan for a role in his production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Mme. de Bodamere has played a few small but important roles in Miss Pickford's pictures.

Col. Bray to Vacation

Bound on a trip around the world, Charles E. Bray, former manager of the Los Angeles Orpheum, accompanied by Mrs. Bray, will check out of the Biltmore Hotel today to leave for San Francisco, where they will sail on the President Monroe. They arrived here Thursday.

The voyage will represent the first vacation Bray has enjoyed in two years, since becoming general manager of the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association in Chicago. On returning to this country in June, he will resume his desk in the Windy City. He plans to look after some business details for the Orpheum while abroad.

Lew Cody to South Seas

Now the dusky maids of the South Seas had better look out! A pleasure cruise to the South Sea Islands is what Lew Cody, Goldwyn star, is planning. Cody will accompany Cliff Durant, millionaire racing driver and motor-car manufacturer, on his yacht, Aurora.

The party will leave San Pedro early in June, and plans have been made to visit many islands of the Pacific. The travelers will include Durant, Cody, Walter M. Brown, C. M. Stevens and Dr. V. Bernard Herbst.

Harold Lloyd Denies.

Regardless of numerous reports to the contrary, Harold Lloyd has signed no contract for the distribution of his independent comedy features, according to announcement yesterday by William R. Fraser, general manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation.

"It has been reported from various sources," states Mr. Fraser, "that we have aligned ourselves with organizations for the distribution of our pictures following our current contract with Pathe. There can be no foundation for these stories. We have three more pictures to be released by Pathe under our present arrangements. First of these is "Girl Shy," which will be released late in April. It will take at least a year to complete the other two pictures called for in the Pathe contract."

Scenes and Faces From Pictures

Mary Pickford and Allan Forrest.

Featured Players

Mary Pickford and Alan Forrest appear in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater. Corrine Griffith is returning to the Alhambra tomorrow in "Lilies of the Field," and Carmel Myers is a member of the cast of "Poisoned Paradise" at the Rialto.

PIANIST WILL MAKE LOCAL DEBUT TODAY

Mme. Olga Samaroff, American pianist, makes her first Los Angeles appearance this afternoon and tomorrow night as soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra in the thirteenth symphony pair. Mme. Samaroff is playing Schumann's Concerto for Pianoforte in A Minor, Op. 54, a work in the rendition of which she has been brilliantly successful this season in eastern appearances with symphonic organizations.

Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 in C Minor, Op. 67, with which the concert opens, is having its first hearing this season. The program closes with the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" and "Orchestral Scherzo" as it was termed by its composer, Dukas. A fine example of a humorous treatment in tone and a brilliant closing offering withal.

WRITING SCENARIO IS A LARGE ORDER

There may be those who believe that writing a scenario means dashing off a few pages of action. With such persons Waldemar Young, who prepared the script for Mary Pickford's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" desires to pick a quarrel.

"About the same number of words are required for a scenario as are included in the average novel," said he, "By that I mean for both the detailed synopsis and the continuity. You first do a synopsis to get the story arranged properly from a dramatic standpoint. Then you break the story into scenes for the camera. This means a continuity. About 75,000 words are pounded out before the work is complete."

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is Miss Pickford's latest picture which is now showing at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater.

VERSATILE ITALIAN IN "WHITE SISTER"

Alfredo Bertone, a member of the Teatro Constanzi at Rome, plays the part of Prof. Ugo Severi in "The White Sister," with Lillian Gish, entering it's last week at the Mission Theater Monday. He is noted as one of the most versatile actors in Italy, being equally at home in comedy or dramatic parts. His ability to play Pierrot has been recognized by the King of Italy, who presented the comedian with a medal of honor for his performance.

"The White Sister," an adaptation of the novel by F. Marion Crawford, has proven one of the sensations of the season. It was made in Italy with Henry King directing.

NORMA TALMADGE HAD FOUR LEADING MEN

Four leading men made love to Norma Talmadge in 1923.

And every one, says Norma, had a different manner.

First came Jack Mulhall in "Within the Law." Then Conway Tearle in "Ashes of Vengeance." Tearle was followed by Joseph Schildkraut in "The Song of Love."

Last came Eugene O'Brien, who appears in "Secrets," which is now excelling even "Smilin' Through" as a popular success at the Criterion Theater.

SPRING FIESTA

Monday ushers in the annual Spring Fiesta week at the Orpheum, and a bill replete with lightsome features has been selected.

"The Land of Fantasie," the Choos revue, is probably the most outstanding feature; it has a company of some thirty, runs about an hour, and features Stasia Ledova, premiere danseuse, W. Wania, Jimmy Lyons and the Eight English Rockets. Frank Farnum brings a youthful revue of fifteen, with the Stuart sisters featured.

PLAYDOM

"SHEEP" REINTRODUCES IT TO US AT MASON

By Edwin Schallert

Sometimes, I wish that I had a stronger sense of destructive criticism than I ordinarily feel. I cannot unfortunately hate a bad play; it generally amuses me. Otherwise I should be steeping my pen in sulphuric acid of words and attempting to write a bitter and defamatory review of "Sheep," which opened last night at the Mason.

Of all the ten, twenty, thirty melodramas—

But then what's the use?

I have to remember that the production is new, and that Mr. Walker Whiteside made a speech in extenuation of the character of the attraction just before the final episode. Which helps to lighten my task.

He said among other things, that the audience was brave to face an attraction before it had been tested out in New York, and that there were still many rough places that could with judicious effort be gradually removed. In other words, he manifested such a full faith in the possibilities of the play that many at least for the moment were caught by his reserved and well-balanced enthusiasm and gave him a splendid applause.

The worst probably that may be said about "Sheep" is that it is terrible hokum, and living up to its title it evidences quite a violent desire to stray.

Only the work of Miss Sydney Shields served to lift the first act out of the dolgruha. She managed to give a certain sparkle to the western girl who figures importantly in the story, somewhat after the fashion of a Willard Mack herione. She is rough, is our Nell, but good at heart. You probably know the stuff.

I don't see any tremendously vital reason for the prologue. It's all about the way a successful business man was deceived by a lady of somewhat easy virtue. He wouldn't marry her when he first had the chance, but instead started out to make his fortune, and then has a terrible set-to about it, because his romance goes on the rocks during the three years that elapsed.

You don't ever see the lady again and are rather inclined to miss her because she was interesting during the time that she was on the stage.

The rest of the play concerns chiefly the complications arising from a self-defense shooting. It is a case of the mob versus the Sheriff and the girl, somewhat after the manner of the "Girl of the Golden West."

The dialogue is full of "you belong to me," "we're going to get you," "there's nothing that will stop me" talk. But there is a chance that with a lot of doctoring something may come out of it. The bright lines, of which there are several, seem to hit.

Altogether, the best part of the play is the climax, and you have to wait quite a while for that. The desert scenery is very lovely and suggests more atmosphere even than the play, which errs by laying on the local color in blotches and blemishes.

Mr. Whiteside is not given an especially interesting role. Most of his time he has to spend hiding from a gang of lynchers, and that isn't like Whiteside at all. He generally has the upper hand.

The most interesting of the other men seemed to be the chap who was shot in the first act. James Macue played this part.

Harold Vosburgh had the only other really important masculine role, though some good bits were done by Nathaniel Sack, David Belbridge and others.

The ukulele playing and the singing of Miss Eunice Hunt afforded a good little divertissement. She was acceptable in the flapper role.

Versatility a Feature of This Program

Versatility is the keynote of a concert by Daisy Jean, for this Belgian artist is not only an accomplished 'cellist, but is a vocalist and harpist as well. She is making three recital appearances here this week at Chickering Hall.

Her program last evening opened with the 'cello number, the Handel "Sonata No. 2, in D minor," and included besides other selections of the 'cello songs with piano and harp accompaniments.

Miss Jean is primarily an instrumentalist. Aside from the fact that her voice manifests a flexibility, her singing is not extraordinary. At times it disclosed a nasal quality that was too pronounced, and some of the higher tones were forced. It seems to be the training, rather than the voice itself that is at fault, for in some of the numbers which she rendered, she succeeded in procuring some good tonal effects, and the higher register of her voice displays a sweet quality, despite the nasal tendency heretofore mentioned.

But it is a 'cellist that Miss Jean shines most. Her 'cello playing revealed fine technique, and a rich, singing quality of tone that displays much emotional beauty. In addition to the Handel "Sonata" she played the "Swedish Folk Song," from the arrangement by Sandby, and "Two Irish Melodies," by Hahn.

"BEAU BRUMMEL" RUN DRAWS NEAR CLOSE

John Barrymore's "Beau Brummel" is enjoying a prosperous run at the Miller Theater following its two weeks of success at the California Theater. All signs would indicate that it could run along for an indefinite period and still continue to play to capacity houses, but due to the fact that several other attractions are waiting for a booking date, the engagement must necessarily be a limited one.

The next attraction will be the western premiere of J. Stuart Blackton's production of Basil King's novel, "Let Not Man Put Asunder," which brings together two of the most romantic figures in the amusement world, Pauline Frederick and Lou Tellegen.

The picture also marks Miss Frederick's return to the screen after an absence of a year, during which she starred on the stage.

For More Than Eighteen Years The Producers of

have been making an exhaustive investigation for the purpose of ascertaining (which kind) of milk is best adapted for the use of children, invalids and convalescents—

In this work, reports from scientific research made by many of the most celebrated physicians and dietitians throughout the country have been received. Also an exhaustive survey from reports received from thousands of homes where children have been reared on Arden Certified Milk from babyhood has been made. This convincing evidence has also convinced us that the excessive fat and calories of other than Holstein Cows' Milk checks growth and development—

For this reason we have decided it our wisest course to discard all cows excepting the Holsteins.

These noted authorities should convince you as they have us—

EXCESSIVE FAT AND CALORIES OF OTHER THAN HOLSTEIN COWS' MILK ARE DANGEROUS

Dr. Chapman, of the Babies' Ward, Postgraduate Hospital, New York, speaking of high butter fat in other than Holstein cows' milk, says: "The use of milk of their grade of richness is likely to be followed by digestive disturbances when fed to infants, both by reason of excessive Caloric Value and formation of large fat-containing curds."

EXCESSIVE FAT IN OTHER THAN HOLSTEIN COWS' MILK CHECKS GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Charles Douglass, Professor of Children's Diseases at Detroit College of Medicine, speaking of the high butter fat in cows' milk other than Holstein, writes in the Journal of the American Medical Association: "There is no food which will so completely check the growth and development of an infant when imperfectly digested. It requires less than ¼ of 1% of imperfectly digested fat in an infant's diet to prevent it from growing, to disturb sleep, to destroy its color and pave the way for nervousness and other forms of malnutrition."

This highest quality milk is produced under the very strict supervision of The Medical Milk Commission of the Los Angeles County Medical Association. The regulations and inspections made by this association are so rigid, from their supervision of the purchase of cows to be put in the herd, to the sterilizing, cooling and sealing of each bottle, that we dare say that there is not a food in existence that is received by the consumer in as pure and wholesome condition as certified milk.

VALUABLE GEMS AND MAID GONE

Theft of $20,000 in Jewels Laid to "Cat Eyes"

Woman Said to be Notorious Throughout Country

Plunder Taken from Home of Rich Pasadenan

A woman known to police of almost every large city in the nation under the alias of "Cat Eyes," was being sought by California police yesterday in connection with the $20,000 jewel theft from the home of William R. Staats, chairman of the board of directors of W. R. Staats Company, 640 South Spring street, at 349 South Grand avenue, Pasadena.

The theft was committed Tuesday, although it was not disclosed until yesterday. It then was revealed that the feminine suspect, giving the name of Louise Roberts, obtained a position as a maid in the Staats home about two weeks ago. She obtained the position through a Los Angeles employment agency after showing references from Mrs. J. M. Ricker of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., an eastern society woman.

The maid gave her address as 318 South Fremont street, but subsequent investigation showed that no such address existed. Description given to the police established the identification of the maid as "Cat Eyes," it was stated.

Last Monday Mrs. Staats left the maid alone in the house and went to La Jolla. She returned Tuesday night to find both the maid and the jewels, which had been kept in a wall safe in the house, gone. The safe had been opened by working the combination and the various pieces of jewelry removed from their cases and the cases carefully rewrapped and then replaced in the safe.

Included in the stolen jewelry was one platinum ring set with forty-six diamonds, platinum bracelet set with thirty-eight diamonds, platinum brooch with ninety-three diamonds, platinum bar pin with twenty diamonds, another platinum bar pin with eighty-three diamonds, and a gold bag set with twenty-four diamonds and thirty-four sapphires.

Police of Los Angeles and other Southern California cities and towns have been notified and a description of the maid provided.

W. S. HART HAS BROKEN WITH LASKY

Two-Gun Bill Says New Contract Means Sacrifice of His Independence

William S. Hart, screen two-gun man, "cannot see his way clear" to enter into a new contract with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, he announced in a telegram from New York received last night by The Times. Mr. Hart asserted he would be forced to sacrifice his independence under a new contract, which he did not desire to do. The contract under which he returned to the screen following his extended retirement terminated three months ago, Mr. Hart said. Since then negotiations have been under way, but have failed to result in an agreement, he said.

The text of the telegram follows: "Nearly three months ago Famous Players-Lasky and myself terminated our then existing contract. As it had appeared possible a new contract would and could be made no statement was given out by either side and negotiations for a renewal have been going on ever since. Many obstacles have been overcome. The main proposal made by Famous Players I find impossible to accept as it means sacrificing my independence.

"I have always made pictures independently and as I cannot do so any longer on the Paramount program, I cannot see my way clear to enter into a new contract with them.

"The question of my drawing power or the popularity of the William S. Hart Productions cannot be in question as Wild Bill Hickok shows gross receipts of $184,000 in twelve weeks.

Downtown to be Canvassed for Palestine Fund

The downtown district of Los Angeles has been assigned a quota of $150,000 of the $250,000 fund that it is expected will be raised here for the Palestine Foundation Fund. The district has been divided into zones. Teams of two will canvass the Jews in the district.

It is expected the $75,000 which will be presented to Dr. Chaim Weizmann at the banquet in his honor at the Biltmore on the 10th inst. will be raised in the downtown section. Arrangements are being made to broadcast Dr. Weizmann's address over radio. He will be unable to address more than two public meetings, because of illness.

The chairman of the banquet will be Marco Newmark. Dr. D. W. Edelman, president of B'nai B'rith, will be toastmaster. Among the guests will be Mayor Cryer, the British Consul and Dr. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California.

RITES ARE CONDUCTED FOR NATIVE OF MAINE

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Renaker chapel, Monrovia, for Daniel P. Moulton, retired pharmacist of Lewiston, Me., who succumbed suddenly while visiting his son, Capt. D. P. Moulton, flight surgeon of Clover Field, Santa Monica. Mr. Moulton was 70 years of age and is survived by a son and four sisters who live in Maine. The body will be sent to the home town for interment.

PORT VICE CLEAN-UP BEGUN

Three Arrests Made, With Others to Follow, When Two Ships' Officers Are Robbed of Large Sum

Uncovering of what Los Angeles Harbor police declare is a well-organized vice ring was under way at the port last night following disclosure of an underworld robbery early yesterday in which $300 was taken from J. H. Pint, chief engineer of the Standard Oil tanker A. C. Bedford, and his assistant, John J. Davis.

Three persons were under arrest late yesterday, while the port police are searching for as many more as the beginning of a general clean-up of the harbor district.

Pint told Detective Lieutenant A. J. Farrell that he came ashore Wednesday night, accompanied by Davis, and that they met Herman Esken, a taxi driver, who agreed to take them out for a "good time." At an address in the harbor residential district, he said, they met Mrs. Katherine Willard and a second woman, known to the police, in the company of C. H. Loomis. Drinks were plentiful, Pint said, and the party became gay.

Later the two men found they had been robbed of $300. They reported their loss to the police and Loomis, the Willard woman and Esken, the taxi driver, were rounded up at scattered addresses. They are being questioned on suspicion of grand larceny. Mrs. Willard, under questioning, remembered having spent the night at the scene of the party but her mind was hazy on the $300, it was stated.

A general clean-up of the situation will be made before the return from southern waters of the United States battle fleet, it was indicated.

LOVE ALWAYS FINDS WAY

Couple to Be Wedded Here Are Finding Path of Romance Full of Hitches and Delays

The title of this story might well be "Won by an Affidavit" or "The Marriageless Wedding Supper."

It is the story of a Texas romance which will culminate this morning in a wedding; a story of a stalled motor truck on a hot, dusty Texas road; a weary driver, a petite, bobbed-haired pretty girl, a swift courtship, love letters and a wild ride against time through busy city streets.

A few months ago a heavy motor truck lumbered painfully over a mean Texas road, near Plain View. A stalled motor caused the driver to seek aid at a near-by dwelling. Enter Walter Patterson of Los Angeles as the driver, and Miss Jewel Bond, 17 years of age, as mistress of the dwelling.

It was their first meeting. Score one for Dan Cupid.

Mr. Patterson came to Los Angeles and obtained employment. Plans for a home for two were laid. Letters were exchanged and then came the wire from Miss Bond. It read:

"Arriving Thursday at 3 p.m."

But Miss Bond arrived Wednesday and instead of greeting a lover with extended arms she found instead a station thronged with busy, disinterested strangers. But Miss Bond sought the aid of Miss A. Shanbaugh, secretary of the Travelers' Aid Society. Miss Shanbaugh took her to the home of Miss Celestia Churchill, 144 North Chicago street, and then communicated with Patterson.

That was last Wednesday. Night came and with it the husband-to-be.

"We'll be married in the morning," announced Mr. Patterson.

But at the license bureau officials demanded that the girl produce an affidavit from her parents. Not having one to produce, the girl communicated with her father. The affidavit arrived and the couple planned to be married yesterday.

Hard luck again.

Walter arrived at the license bureau two minutes late and couldn't get the license. But last night, at the home of Miss Churchill, the wedding supper was staged, anyway.

The following guests were present: Miss Churchill, Mrs. Marie Jackson, Mr. Huff and the Misses Frances Black, Josephine Nelson, Caroline Edwards, Claire Edwards and Marian Palce.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will make their home in Los Angeles.

Condition of Mrs. Brainerd Is Improved

Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, prominent clubwoman and civic worker, who has been critically ill at her home in the Rampart Apartments, was reported last night to be slightly improved.

According to Dr. Arthur F. Godin, one of the three physicians who have been attending her, Mrs. Brainerd is still in a serious condition. She was reported to have regained consciousness last night. A crisis in her illness is expected to be reached within the next thirty-six hours.

Mrs. Brainerd was stricken with a nervous collapse last Friday. She developed pneumonia shortly after and has been in a critical condition since.

FRANK B. ADAMS RITES TOMORROW

JEWELRY MANUFACTURER HAD RESIDED HERE THIRTY YEARS

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral parlors of Gulick & Moses, 1245 South Flower street, for Frank B. Adams, who died suddenly of heart disease at his home, 4436 Finley avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Adams is well known in the city, having come here thirty years ago from Wichita, Kan., and since that time had actively been engaged in the jewelry manufacturing business. He was regarded an authority on diamonds.

Mr. Adams was 52 years of age, and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ennah Adams, and sons, Clifford C., Kenton K., Allen A., Douglas D., and his mother, Mrs. Emma R. Adams of Balboa. He was an uncle of Mrs. Dudley C. Gulick of this city.

CHEFS AND COOKS WILL GIVE DANCE

The Southern California Culinary Association, comprising the chefs and cooks of the principal hotels, clubs, cafes and restaurants, will meet in grand jollification and ball at Knights of Columbus Hall the evening of the 23rd inst. The event is for the purpose of raising funds to furnish new clubrooms in larger quarters for the rapidity increasing membership, which now numbers nearly 500. The influx of eastern chefs in the last few months on account of the additional hotels opening in the Southland has added greatly to the number of men engaged in this profession in Los Angeles. The officers of the association are: Adolph Gasser, chef Los Angeles Athletic Club; Lucian Heiser, chef Pot and Spigot-Blue Bird; H. Bassatti, chef Alexandria Hotel; J. A. Zinnstein, chef Pig 'n Whistle; Emil J. Chapinis, chef Clark Hotel; W. C. Washburn, A. G. Wirth, August Zintz, H. Germain and D. Barbier.

ACCUSED EMBEZZLER BACK

Floyd B. Simmons was returned from Sacramento yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Barclay and Collins to face trial here on an embezzlement charge. He is asserted to have defrauded the Clayman Company, automobile dealers, of $1500 in a transaction involving an automobile.

FINANCE EXPERT TO SPEAK

John Moody, noted financial expert, will address the California Tax Reduction Association Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Paulais. His subject will be "The Financial Situation."

HORSES BURN IN WAREHOUSE

Inaccessibility of fire plugs was largely responsible for the destruction by fire of the bonded warehouse of John Bidart at One Hundred and Sixteenth street and South Park avenue, together with four draft horses, a considerable quantity of bonded liquor and hundreds of tons of baled hay, early last night.

Fire fighters from station No. 33, Florence and Main, were able to get but one lead of hose onto the flames and what water was carried to the blaze required approximately 1500 feet of hose.

The explosion of a gasoline tank in the warehouse some time after the blaze was discovered blew out most of the windows in the Bidart home a short distance from the warehouse but resulted in no injury to the hundreds of spectators who witnessed it.

The fire was prevented from spreading principally through the agency of the wind which carried brands a considerable distance into vacant fields. A number of small sheds either attached to the main building or standing within a few feet of it were destroyed. The total loss, including approximately $5000 worth of bonded liquor, will reach between $50,000 and $60,000, it is estimated.

The four horses were destroyed when they returned to their box stalls in one wing of the building after having been led into the outer air several times.

The huge piles of baled hay contained in the warehouse burned all night, the department realizing the futility of attempting to extinguish it with he single lead of hose and confining its efforts to preventing a spread.

The origin of the fire is undetermined, but it is believed that either spontaneous combustion or defective wiring were responsible.

Faint Hope Held for Recovery of Arthur Wright

Little hope for the recovery of Arthur Wright, prominent Los Angeles attorney and chief counsel for the United States Long Distance Company, was held out last night by attending physicians following an operation Wednesday for abcess of the brain. Although the condition of the stricken man was improved a little last night, grave doubts are expressed as to his ultimate recovery.

Mr. Wright had been ill a week before the operation was ordered.

In 1910, Mr. Wright was City Attorney for Redondo Beach and for several years past has been associated with the Southern California Telephone Company. He is a member of the Golden West Commandery of the Knights Templar and of numerous other fraternal and social orders.

STILLS AND LIQUOR TAKEN IN DRY RAID

Four fifty-gallon stills, 100 gallons of moonshine and 100 barrels of mash were siezed by Officers Reavis and Ledbetter yesterday at a house at 1140 West Ninety-first street, according to the officers' report. Mike Castanzo and his wife, declared to have been in the house, were arrested and are being held at the University Jail on Wright Act charges.

DON'T MAKE DRUGS
STR WILLIAM OSLER, the most brilliant man in the medical profession said: "Of the active drugs in the pharmacopoeia, we just throw into bodies of which we know least, its cure diseases about which we know nothing." Chiropractic has saved thousands without drugs. Your spine is the key to your health. Vertebral subluxations cause pressure on the spinal nerves, from which nerves every nerve in your body is supplied. Any pressure means loss of energy, less on the skin, less in the organs. Thousands suffering from nervous breakdowns, due to constipation, female disorders, prostate gland trouble, life is miserable. We will put you well without drugs. TREATMENT 15 OR 12 FOR $20. BIG MONEY-MAKING DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN.

See that your face are set in the path-way of prosperity. Get in on it this time. Remember the colored boys who hearing the noonday whistle, sighed, "Dat's dinner time to some folks, but it's only 12 o'clock on me." After all, there isn't much difference between success and failure—sometimes it's only a question of taking advantage of an offered opportunity. Your opportunity confronts you right now. How shall I make you a proposition? If we could have a man to man chat together for a few minutes it would all be clear to you and you'd realize that all the time you have had it in you to make big money and that all that was needed to start you on a career of real prosperity were a few suggestions and an opportunity to work good. No, it isn't the "same old thing." It's an entirely new thing and done in an entirely new and digni fied way. We are selling a security—a high-class industrial bond that is open and receives selling experience. All that you need is the ability to tell the truth. You will work in close contact only with high-class men to whom the same thing that appeals is truth. The amount of money being made by members of our staff in commissions right now is more than you would believe possible. But that's how we figure on their records too are here for you to see. You are not super-men; they are just regular fellows like you and I. And what they are doing, you can do and you'd like to, you can do your own boss, become a real specialist in your line, conduct your business under the most dignified auspices and in the most pleasant surroundings, write me a letter right now. I think I can put you in the 25,000-a-year class in short time. Be kind to yourself and these dependent upon you and write me today. Address T, box 804, TIMES BRANCH.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS! LISTEN!

DOES 12½% COMMISION SOUND GOOD?

Lots in city sub. moving slow now. Lot buyers are few. Everybody is talking money. They are in strong demand, especially if close in and well located.

I've for months know about Runnymede Poultry and Berry Dev. Co.'s property, 45 minutes out on Ventura Blvd. Reseda car. It fills the bill. Over 500 acres already sold with 1000 people living there on improved half acre tracts and acres under cultivation. The land is the best. The proposition high class. The plan is the most perfect for any real estate offered. IT MEANS A HOME, SAVINGS AND A BANK ACCOUNT WITH $1000 TO $4000 PER ANNUALLY ASSURED AND FUTURE FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE.

Let us not waste efforts, efficients and friends to something that sells on sight, which means your (mutual) pays you for yourself. Ye brokers who have their own office, with hustle and ability, we will pay 12½% commission. OUR PROPERTY IS SELLING FAST. PLENTY OF LOTS AND ACREAGE. Buses run daily to property. Hot lunches served free. Judge Tilford's property, etc.

Call at our office, or phone Mr. Sharpe for appointment. Vandike 2065, and let us talk it over. Act quick.

SALESMEN.

NO MATTER HOW GOOD A POSITION YOU HAVE NOW, YOU CAN BETTER YOURSELF WITH US. THE WORK IS PLEASANT AND PERMANENT, YOUR INCOME WILL BE LARGE. THIS IS NOT STOCK, OIL OR CEMETERY LOTS. COME IN AND TALK IT OVER.
